Petit guide du xve arrondissement à l'usage des fantôme Roger Caillois, The Material, the Real, and the Fractured Self Susan Harrow, 2004-01-01 In The Material, the Real, and the Fractured Self Susan Harrow explores the fascinating interrelation of subjectivity materiality and representation in the poetry and related texts of four modern French writers Arthur Rimbaud Guillaume Apollinaire Francis Ponge and Jacques R. D. She demonstrates the richness and the relevance of modern French poetry for today's readers putting contemporary thought to work on the fractured self emerging in the post Baudelairean lyric Harrow addresses the widely perceived marginalization of poetry in the writing theory debate demonstrating that the emergence of a self at once shaped by and straining against material historical subjective and cultural impediments reveals fertile relations between theory and poetry Where purer forms of postmodernist thinking have stressed the dissolution and dispersal of the human subject new approaches informed by cultural studies autobiography theory and gender studies work to recover fictions of experience and retrieve submerged narratives of the self Probing the activity of textual self recovery among the debris of history and fantasy visuality and desire and culture and corporeality The

Material the Real and the Fractured Self imparts something of the startling beauty and the raw urgency of poetry writing across the broad modern period The Edge of Surrealism Roger Caillois, 2003 A collection of newly translated writings by the French sociologist and surrealist Apprentissages de Paris Roger Caillois, 1977 Le fantastique chez Roger Caillois Kathryn Saint Ours, 2001 In the works of Roger Caillois the fantastic goes far beyond artistic and literary domains to become a sort of cosmological principle one in which nature appears to contradict itself this natural fantastic phenomenon extends as though situated on a continuum into the realm of the imagination In this manner Caillois theory of the fantastic links science which he poeticizes and literature that he views in an objective perspective Art and literature thereby become modes for experiencing the irrational and fulfilling the anthropological need for dissymetry which permeates the universe
