Art and Self-Creation Lorena Fernandez, 2013-11. Art and Self-Creation: The Roots of Creativity and Innovation proposes using the metaphor of the Complex Adaptive System to think about the human embedded into environments that trigger change in that human. The nature of that change however is determined by the internal organization of the human interconnected interdependent adaptable nodes that include Nothingness as described by Sartre. Other People as the condition where awareness begins. The World: Emotional Management. The Self and Creative Visualization. As the human faces internal or environmental triggers for change he or she experiences ambiguity, existential anxiety and emotional turmoil. In order to reorient him or herself in the new situation two sensemaking questions must be answered: What is happening here? And Who will I be in this situation? Artistic self-expression provides the ideal practice to lift the fog of emotional turmoil and to simultaneously create and discover identity: constructive answers for those questions.

The Origins of Creativity Bruce Adolph, 2001. The exploration of creativity used to be confined to the domains of psychology and philosophy. This has changed greatly in recent years with the dramatic advances of modern neuroscience and our greatly improved understanding of higher brain function. This book examines the biology of the brain and creativity not only through psychology and philosophy but also with the input of art science and neurobiology for the first time bringing the discoveries of modern neurobiology to bear on the subject of creativity. It addresses four themes central to our understanding of creativity: the creative experience in art and science; the mind's perception of patterns; the biological basis of imagination; and the influence of the environment of creative powers. In this fascinating and interdisciplinary collection of essays, painters and composers explore the creative processes in their arts; a mathematician points out that computer-generated fractal images are often perceived as art and evoke emotional reactions; and modern neuroscience begins to explain the creator's experience and sees creative decision making as a function that is inseparable from emotion. Not only are these essays fascinating within themselves but they interact and collide in such a way that suddenly mathematics is bringing forth art and science becomes an argument for unexplainable emotions. Many questions and theories are explored in these pages: What is the Eureka experience? How do the brain and mind make creative decisions and what is the role of emotion? In the end, The Origins of Creativity will explore with you the possibility of creativity being a genetically encoded product of the evolution of the brain favored by natural selection but influenced by the environment of each individual as it unifies traditional views on creativity with today's new sciences of the mind.
