Reimagining humanities scholarship with humility and inclusive attention How might foregrounding the writings of colonized peoples transform the ways we work in the humanities In an era dominated by loud political rhetoric Suzanne Bost advocates for quieter modes of scholarship intellectual humility rather than ego collaboration and conversation rather than singular argumentation continual reflection and revision rather than defensiveness and a willingness to believe in different ways of being and knowing rather than adhering to academic norms With Quiet Methodologies she demonstrates practical decolonial scholarship and proposes alternative approaches for fostering meaningful engagement Turning to feminist queer and decolonial writings from Gloria Anzald a Alexis Pauline Gumbs Audre Lorde and many others Bost reflects on what we do when we work with literature culture and ideas She weaves together multiple voices methods of writing and culturally diverse epistemologies and uses creative devices such as collage her own original poetry revision lists images and conversation to disengage academic thought and writing from colonial theories and archives that have passed as neutral. Eschewing conventional monograph formats, her work embraces a reciprocal and heterogeneous learning process with profound ethical implications. Part of a movement of reimagining research and education through care, Quiet Methodologies is a powerful exploration of the possibilities of criticism during crises. It encourages readers to be visionary and pragmatic, challenging current conditions and offering alternative ideas for the future of the humanities.
