Silver Palace Restaurant Hugh MacLennan Poetry:

The Silver Palace Restaurant Mark Abley, 2005-08-02 A graceful and humane collection of poems While its themes stretch from the personal to the political and environmental its settings range equally widely both within Canada and beyond The Silver Palace Restaurant Mark Abley, 2005 A graceful and humane collection of poems While its themes stretch from the personal to the political and environmental its settings range equally widely both within Canada and beyond The Night Chorus Harold Hoefle, 2018-08-23 A whistling through teeth He shuts his eyes but still sees the red glow of exit signs Harold Hoefle's The Night Chorus rises out of forests and country roads bars and buses cities and small towns These locales are the haunts of outsiders ranging from travellers and farmers to a soldier a drug addict a refugee and the murdered The past clings in these stark evocative poems memory a closet of clothes that hang from bent wire In the tradition of songwriters like Gordon Lightfoot and Gord Downie and poets such as Al Purdy Karen Solie and David O Meara The Night Chorus presents so called obscure lives where dark and playful humour collides with historic and mythic characters including Ovid and Dante Odysseus and Desdemona Using lyric poetry and the ghazal the prose poem and the elegy The Night Chorus brims with images as sharp as wild geese scrawling letters against an evening sky and as humble as pots of plum dumplings and still warm soup Bookended by a sequence of lyrics inspired by cross country road trips Hoefle references iconic places like Black Dog Road and Seldom Seen and peoples the landscape with imagined characters Their voices damaged rough intimate will echo in the reader's mind rushes from the river disappointment stephanie roberts, 2020-07-02 those of us who've seen miracles know how to ask if you've asked do you love me i almost certainly don't love you This meditative musically attentive collection explores the confounding nature of intimate relationships stephanie roberts's poetic expression is often irreverent unapologetic and infused with humour that can take surprisingly grave turns rushes from the river disappointment traverses city country and fantasy using nature as artery through the emotional landscape As they wrestle to come to terms with the effects of uncertainty and grief on hope and belief these diverse field notes are interspersed with the fabulous a polar bear and owl engage in flirtation a time traveller appears on a lake an erotic scene takes place on a train and we confront people capable of eating popcorn at the movie of your agony roberts's language is dense with images and sometimes acrobatic In poems that affirm love and desire as treasures fought for more than just felt rushes from the river disappointment turns an unblinking gaze on the failures of courage that distance us from love Translating Air Kath MacLean, 2018-09-28 The hunt over the kill complete limping towards perfection padding about the room thorns in her thumbs Hermes crawling on all fours That was the last I saw of Hilda What is it to remember a life to relive it to mythologize it Things that were said or not said haunt us for a lifetime In Translating Air Kath MacLean imagines conversations between the modernist poet H D and Sigmund Freud during the poet's sessions with him in 1933 to 1934 and the dialogues that continued long afterwards in H D's own mind Shadowed by uncertainty and memory lapses or blinded by flashes of profound truth readers are transported to a world of myth continuity and human connection H D s palimpsest account of herself as girl and woman writer and Imagist and psychic and spiritualist is engaging and elastic as it pulls readers into a space where time is both endless and sure Questioning her sanity and a world gone mad with war H D s personal accounts help us understand what it means to love deeply to feel passionately and to think beyond the limits of our individual consciousness MacLean demystifies and humanizes one of the most misunderstood modernist writers in this stunning collection Translating Air takes us on a remarkable journey into the known and unknown and allows readers to experience one remarkable woman s struggle to get it right to live life with dignity hope wisdom and the courage to have no regrets

The Milk of Amnesia Danielle Janess, 2021-03-24 fire and water surging on the screen since children metros planets beds and lovers are so lightly swept away I must not even breathe Danielle Janess s debut poetry collection resists the erasing effects of war nationalism and forced migration Following the speaker s arduous relocation to a twenty first century Europe still etched with the wounds of the past the poems take on daring forms and language becoming theatre film clips photographs and dance all embodied by a cast of characters marked by the violence of the last century Arrested in Warsaw within the first twenty days of the Second World War Janess s maternal grandfather was sent to a Soviet gulag where he survived for three years before joining the Free Polish Army in Russia and later the battle of Monte Cassino in the Italian Campaign Many of the poems in The Milk of Amnesia grow from the soil of Warsaw and Berlin where the poet speaker catapults herself and her young child in an effort to locate and unearth their family inheritance Drawing from the tradition of poetry of witness The Milk of Amnesia performs a visionary resistance lit with signposts in a charged atmosphere An address to our ongoing struggles with historical memory these poems act as both artifact of and antidote to our time

Particles Michael Penny, 2011-03-06 Michael Penny addresses his poems directly to the reader challenging you to satisfy your need to investigate and understand the sensory and intellectual assumptions we use to make sense of our world Balanced between abstract metaphysical challenges and the concrete and commonplace Penny s poetry considers a range of topics including cars bruises lotteries pine needles and dogs infusing each with strangeness and unexpected intrigue A lively and surprising collection Particles joins together inner and outer space and suggests that you might not know what you think you know

Palilalia Jeffery Donaldson, 2008 Jeffery Donaldson offers poems about Tourette s Syndrome

Ganymede's Dog John Emil Vincent, 2019-10-03 Took all this time to actually in fact bite our own tail to learn that that hurts I guess it was worth it Developed a taste for tails The prose poems of Ganymede s Dog startle myths back to life whether Ganymede s abduction by Zeus in the form of an eagle his abduction by a century s worth of Budweiser labels Sophocles s boozy boy chasing or the dancing plague of 1518 John Emil Vincent teases his materials into surreal joyous dirty sometimes gruesome animation His revelations arrive in the guise of other characters and throughout there are dogs Dog themed philosophy dog headed saints dog worshipping island rituals and just plain dogs invite the reader to puppy pile with Petronius Catherine the Great and Saint Christopher in a sapiosexual orgy with autocorrect handling the towels Deeply infused with gay culture and mythology Ganymede's Dog is a collection of smart knowing allusive often ironic poems that ponder the boundaries of legend and the privileges of youth and beauty The Danger Model Madelaine Caritas Longman, 2019-10-23 This is poet's poetry written with keen attention to inner harmonies and the see-saw of words In an era of Instagram driven micro poetry aka Like Poems all flimsy and whimsy The Danger Model is an actual book crammed with actual poems A vivid fearless re-visiting of beloved free verse tropes from dense manic prose poems to singing call and response otherworldly hymns A generous book The Danger Model hardly feels like a first book Rather the opposite a collected works by a senior poet Quebec Writers Federation Concordia University First Book Prize jury Ripping down half the trees Evan J, 2021-06-01 Some poems can live without souls but mine remain ghastly fools flicking uncomfortable narratives like cigarette butts during class change One out of every twenty students in the adult education classes Evan J teaches in Sioux Lookout Ontario dies every year the surviving students are often afflicted by severe racism poverty addictions and violence Ripping down half the trees engages with these struggles offering a catalogue of experiences specific to the remote regions of Canada Tearing down the facade of Canadian justice and equality to expose the racism colonialism sexism prejudicial capitalism and ableism at the nation's core these are poems about cruelty both the obvious and the ambient They are unflinching in their sociopolitical criticism upset by unchanging systemic oppressions unable to overlook the threat of the author's white skin unwilling to forget Justin Trudeau in blackface And while they acknowledge the limits of the author's privileged perspective they are never willing to let the perpetrating structures of this cruelty go unchecked But these poems also let stand the shelterwood the upstanding actions of individuals the totems of hope They work as coping strategies as therapy as empathy offering a glimpse of optimism and a space for discourse These are poems that listen The Little Yellow House Heather MacLeod, 2012 Silent echoes of memories forgotten Look Here Look Away Look Again Edward Carson, 2019-04-09 an orientation of thought in thinking how a thought begins and then travels on to arrive at another place connected and like minded A work of art is never entirely present in itself but rather is always at large in the mind of the viewer So it is that a painting needs to know the simplest question those viewing it are asking themselves From the intimate starting point of observer and observed Carson's seductive exhilarating new collection turns poetry and paintings making and representation language and thought on their heads A Lovely Gutting Robin Durnford, 2012 Salvaging beauty from grief's wreckage in the towns and wilds of post-cod Newfoundland Outside, Inside Michael Penny, 2014-02-13 My best actions are a parrot's bright feathers in the dark jungle trying to catch your eye with the colour and flight which says I am here and trying to do what's right Do we make the universe or does it make us In Outside Inside Michael Penny positions each of us at the centre of this mystery but lightens this presumption with irony and word play that is as entertaining as it is thought provoking The three hundred short linked poems in this collection begin with a complaint about the unknowability of what's outside and what's inside but then shift to an engagement with the very nature of this outside inside dichotomy Penny then explores the many ways the question arises for us through travel wind rain signs ladders landscape the sun the moon even parrot feathers and of course in how we use words and find meaning in them Ultimately the poems ask whether we construct what's outside or whether what's outside constructs us Wavelengths of Your Song Eleonore Schönmaier, 2013 At night we swim following the fence diverted we enter the net shaped like a heart and in the heart the hook guides us to the back A stunning unfolding of memory Wavelengths of Your Song juxtaposes a childhood in the northern Canadian wilderness with the adventures of an international creative life Genuine environmentalism is at the heart of this collection Migrations of birds and humans lend their songs to the vivid writing and a tangible sensory reality emerges from their sounds Music by Beethoven and Rzewski paintings by Norval Morrisseau and Kandinsky and writing by Kafka and Celan inspire Eleonore Schönmaier's poetry She takes the reader on unexpected journeys skiing across frozen lakes cycling along Dutch canals or hiking in Malta and New Zealand With surprising at times breathtaking connections she illuminates hot air ballooning canoe camping planting trees on Vienna rooftops and the bathing of a black horse in the North Sea In poems that travel extensively around the globe in lists for living well and in love letters Eleonore Schönmaier takes the reader on a journey along the wavelengths of the ocean sound and the physics of light Cast from Bells Suzanne Hancock, 2010-03-08 Subtle and surprising poems connecting the use of bells in wartime with shifts in the nature of affection

A Different Wolf Deborah-Anne Tunney, 2020-06-02 In her debut poetry collection Deborah Anne Tunney delves into the life and work of one of the twentieth century's most influential film directors Alfred Hitchcock Just as Hitchcock's work looks unflinchingly at some of the darkest elements of human nature A Different Wolf turns a lens on the director himself revealing the interplay between the social mores of his time and Hitchcock's distinctive psychological makeup A Different Wolf views the iconic director's cinematic masterpieces through the optics of the poet's personal quest for meaning Tunney reveals how guilt and innocence universal and timeless subjects work to define character and motivate plot Other poems illustrate Hitchcock's presentation of women as a sign of his fixations but also as a product of his era His desire to expose the qualities of time how film can slow it down or speed it up qualities he considered filmmaking's most important tool points to the deep resonance of his work Providing a sharp eyed analysis of Hitchcock's life and art A Different Wolf offers a unique take on the filmmaker's enduring relevance But for Now Gordon Johnston, 2013-09-01 From Anna's Lovers Our houses glow both from within and on the outside their night lights and an almost perfect and wintry moon The phrase but for now means among other things making do as if we had to settle for the bare minimum In But for Now Gordon Johnston presents poems where the mortal world is more than enough because there is more to it than the merely mortal and where it is possible to hear beyond the outmoded clanking of inherited religious vocabularies These poems find moments of grace in chance occurrences and through a wide range of styles and methods they choreograph the random casual events of our existence Northrop Frye famously asked Where is here These poems instead ask When is now Engaged with worlds of waiting and of doing with enduring and healing But for Now celebrates music and noise speech and silence and asserts that for all the darkness at the edges there is something shining at the centre of the painting Grotesque Tenderness Daniel Cowper, 2019-05-15 Afraid to be alone we met by lamplight trading stories Sin of Man was one Age of Science another More prayers than answers Daniel Cowper's debut poetry collection Grotesque Tenderness speaks for an unrooted age for unrooted people In these poems city dwellers long to ally themselves with some sympathetic culture or the evolutionary logic of nature but those alliances remain conditional ambiguous or dangerous A tsunami smashes a harbour city into tide rows of burning debris children chase snakes in summer meadows The primordial past spins off rogue by products and flawed replicas while lonely office workers get high on back porches and drink themselves to sleep The musical and kinetic energy of Grotesque Tenderness is driven by our urge to understand pain and our hunger to reach an imperfect reconciliation with the problems of guilt and suffering But in the tradition of William Blake these poems affirm again and again that the lit world goes on living and life justifies itself through its own workings From elegant lyrics of alienation and heartbreak to long form mythopoeia and lament these poems approach beauty ugliness even criminality in a spirit of wonder and vulnerability
