Gori,Jose-Luis Fernandez,Raphael Wittenberg,2016-06-01 Since the early 1990s long term care policies have undergone significant transformations across OECD countries In some countries these changes have responded to the introduction of major policy reforms while in others significant transformations have come about through the accumulation of incremental policy changes The book brings together evidence from over 15 years of care reform to examine changes in long term care systems occurring in OECD countries It discusses and compares key changes in national policies and examines the main successes and failures of recent reforms Finally it suggests possible policy strategies for the future in the sector With contributions from a wide range of experts across OECD countries this book is essential reading for academics researchers and policy makers in the field of long term care policy

Long-term care for older people: A global perspective Bo Hu,Ricardo Rodrigues,YongJoo Rhee,Raphael Wittenberg,2023-05-04 Reforms in Long-Term Care Policies in Europe Costanzo Ranci,Emmanuele Pavolini,2012-11-08 Over the last two decades many changes have happened to the social welfare policies of various industrial countries Citizens have seen their pensions unemployment benefits and general healthcare policies shrink as belt tightening measures are enforced But in contrast long term care has seen a general growth in public financing an expansion of beneficiaries and more generally an attempt to define larger social responsibilities and related social rights The aim of this book is to describe and interpret the changes introduced in long term care policies in Western Europe The volume argues that recent reforms have brought about an increasing convergence in LTC policies Most of the new programs have developed a new general approach to long term care based on a better integration of social care and health care The book explores increasing public support given to family care work in the past the family would take care of the elderly or infirm and increasing growth and recognition of a extended social care market by which care has shifted from a moral obligation based on family reciprocity to a paid professional activity A new social care arrangement has therefore been developing in Western countries based on a new mix of family obligations market provision and public support

In order to understand such changes this analysis will take into account the social and economical impact of these reforms

Long-term Care for Older People Manfred Huber, Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development, Patrick Hennessy, 2005 Long term care is a cross cutting policy issue that brings together a range of services for persons who are dependent on help with basic activities of daily living When the cohorts of the baby boom generation will reach the oldest age groups over the next three decades demand for long term care will rise steeply How do governments in OECD countries respond to this growing demand What has been done to improve access to long term care improve quality of services and make care affordable Are there examples of successful strategies to improve the mix of services and policies to enable a larger number of older persons to stay in their homes And has this helped contain the costs of caring for the elderly This study reports on the latest trends in long term care policies in nineteen OECD countries Australia Austria Canada Germany Hungary Ireland Japan Korea Luxembourg the Netherlands New Zealand Norway Mexico Poland Spain Sweden Switzerland the United Kingdom and the United States It studies lessons learned from countries that undertook major reforms over the past decade Trends in expenditure financing and the number of care recipients are analyzed based on new data on cross country differences Special attention is given to experience with programs that provide consumers of services with a choice of care options including cash to family caregivers Concise country profiles of long term care systems and an overview on demography and living situations of older persons make this complex policy field more accessible
