Parents Organizing To Improve Schools:

Parents Organizing to Improve Schools Happy Craven Fernandez, 1976 Promising Practices for Family Involvement in Schools Diana Hiatt-Michael, 2001-11-01 This volume will address major frameworks for understanding family involvement and government support of family involvement projects in the initial chapters The following six chapters present a theoretical base for understanding school family and community partnerships and research supporting promising practices Included within each chapter are examples of research in action focusing on specific interactive activities or programs designed to bring families and schools together Such promising practices are organized into chapters dealing with two way home school communication family literacy projects school site parent centers parent school collaborative governance and family school education programs spanning infancy through young adulthood The monograph concludes with a chapter on teacher preparation for work with family school and community partnership issues Besides their research expertise each author brings a unique background as classroom teacher parent and community social advocate to their writing Individually most of us have spent our early professional years within the classroom acquiring the value of connecting home with school for the benefit of the children As parents and grandparents we have advocated for parental interests within the school As community advocates we strive for collaborative communication across groups who serve children and their families We invite you to share our passion for working with families and community groups within our schools

Community Action for School Reform Howell S. Baum, 2012-02-01 Community Action for School Reform tells the story of a partnership between Baltimore community activists and a university as they created an organization to improve neighborhood schools The book examines the challenges they faced such as persuading community members that they had the necessary knowledge to do something about the schools starting and sustaining an organization conducting and using research engaging the school system and funding their work Organizing for Educational Justice Michael Fabricant, 2010 Since the 1980s strategies for improving public education in America have focused on either competition through voucher programs and charter schools or standardization as enacted into federal law through No Child Left Behind These reforms however have failed to narrow the performance gap between poor urban students and other children In response parents have begun to organize local campaigns to strengthen the public schools in their communities One of the most original successful and influential of these parent led campaigns has been the Community Collaborative to Improve District 9 CC9 a consortium of six neighborhood based groups in the Bronx In Organizing for Educational Justice Michael B Fabricant tells the story of CC9 from its origins in 1995 as a small group of concerned parents to the citywide application of its reform agenda concentrating on targeted investment in the development of teacher capacity ten years later Drawing on in depth interviews with participants analysis of qualitative data and access to meetings and archives Fabricant evaluates CC9's innovative approach to organizing and collaboration with other stakeholders including the United Federation of Teachers the

NYC Department of Education neighborhood nonprofits and city colleges and universities Situating this case within a wider exploration of parent participation in educational reform Fabricant explains why CC9 succeeded and other parent led movements did not He also examines the ways in which the movement effectively empowered parents by rigorously ensuring a democratic process in making decisions and more broadly an inclusive organizational culture As urban parents across America search for ways to hold public schools accountable for their failures this book shows how the success of the CC9 experience can be replicated elsewhere around the country

The Praeger Handbook of Urban Education Philip M. Anderson, Kecia Hayes, Joe Kincheloe, Karel Rose, 2006-03-30 Maintaining that urban teaching and learning is characterized by many contradictions this work proposes that there is a wide range of social cultural psychological and pedagogical knowledge urban educators must possess in order to engage in effective and transformative practice It is necessary for those teaching in urban schools to be scholar practitioners rather than bureaucrats who can only follow rather than analyze understand and create Ten major sections cover the myriad issues of urban education as it exists today

Resources in Education, 2001-10 Organising Parent Involvement in SA Schools Noleen Van Wyk, Eleanor Lemmer, 2008-11-17 The more parents are involved in their children s schooling the better their children s academic achievements the more positive their attitudes to schooling and the lower the drop out rate These are the outcomes shown by the latest world wide research In addition parents involved in schools are more likely to increase their interaction with their children at home are more confident about their ability to help their children and rate teachers more positively With greater parental involvement teachers feel less isolated and more motivated in their teaching tasks Yet while South African educators and policymakers endorse active parent participation parents are not always treated as full partners in their children s schooling This is a useful guide to more productive relationships between parents and schools educators and school governing bodies It describes a comprehensive and sustainable model for parent involvement which can be adjusted to meet the needs of different school contexts The authors deal with each type of involvement and point out strategies for their implementation

Critical Readings on Latinos and Education Enrique G Murillo Jr, 2019-01-14 This critical anthology showcases an interdisciplinary forum of scholars sharing a common interest in the analysis discussion critique and dissemination of educational issues impacting Latinos Drawing on the best of the past 20 years of the Journal of Latinos and Education the collection highlights work that has been seminal in addressing complex educational issues affecting and influencing the growing Latina and Latino population Chapters discuss the production and application of wisdom and knowledge to real world problems while engaging and collaborating with the interests of key stakeholders in other sectors outside the traditional academy Organized thematically around issues related to policy research practice and creative and literary works the collection is sure to extend and encourage novel ways of thinking about the ongoing and emerging questions around the unifying thread of Latinos and education

hard hitting guide to making social change happen Shaw a longtime activist for urban issues shows how positive change can still be accomplished despite an increasingly grim political order if activists employ the strategies set forth in this desperately needed primer In a new preface Shaw describes how the power of grassroots activism has won newfound respect Mass protests against globalization and in favor of stricter gun controls have led once invulnerable targets like the World Bank and the National Rifle Association to take citizen action more seriously Inspiring fear and loathing in politicians building diverse coalitions and harnessing the media the courts and the electoral process to one s cause are only some of the key tactics Shaw advocates and explains Central to all social change activism Shaw shows is being proactive rather than simply reacting to right wing proposals activists must develop an agenda and focus their resources on achieving it The Activist s Handbook details the impact of specific strategies on campaigns across the country battles over homelessness the environment AIDS policies neighborhood preservation and school reform among others Though activist groups can have widely different aims similar tactics are shown to produce success Further the book offers a sophisticated analysis of the American power structure by someone on the front lines In showing how people can and must make a difference at both local and national levels this is an indispensable guide not only for activists but for everyone interested in the future of progressive politics in America

Fresh start for New Orleans' children : improving education after Katrina : hearing , Including Families and Communities in Urban Education Catherine Hands, Lea Hubbard, 2011-04-01 The work of school family and community partnerships is complex and messy and demands a thoughtful and deep investigation Currently parent and community involvement does not draw on school reform and educational change literature and conversely the school change literature often ignores the crucial role that communities play in educational reform This edited volume focuses on structural considerations regarding education and the school communities school level and family culture and the interrelationships between the agency and actions of school personnel family members community citizens and students This book extends the dialogue on school reform by looking at parent and community engagement initiatives as part of the school reform literature The contributors illustrate the negative impact on students and their education when assumptions made by school personnel regarding the organization of education the nature of families and the contributions they should make to their children s education are not challenged Schools and Society: A Sociological Approach to Education Jeanne H. Ballantine, Joan Z. Spade, 2014-02-21 Undergraduate students of the sociology of education education and society and education studies

IMPROVING SCHOOLS FOR AFRICAN AMERICAN STUDENTS Sheryl J. Denbo, Lynson Moore Beaulieu, 2002-01-01 Improving Schools for African American Students is designed to provide educational leaders with a better understanding of how to recognize the diversity of strengths that Black students bring with them to school and how to use these strengths to improve achievement The articles contained in this book discuss generic education issues such as policy reform the importance of high quality teaching and the improvement of schools from the perspective of the academic achievement of African American students Part I explores institutional racism in the context of America's public schools and provides suggestions for educational leaders to eliminate harmful policies and practices within educational institutions and settings Part II discusses the kinds of institutional and instructional changes that are needed to support successful schooling of African American children and youth Part III focuses on the challenges presented to African American students by the current high stakes testing environment that surrounds standards assessment and accountability A review of the literature on schools that have succeeded in improving achievement for African American students at the elementary middle and high school levels with districts moving towards narrowing the achievement gap is included This text examines a wide variety of policies programs practices and research that will provide valuable insight The emphasis throughout the book is on the ability of educators to successfully restructure their schools offer high quality teaching and learning standards for African American students and to make the kinds of changes that will result in high achievement for all students
