Phenomenological Interpretation of Lao Tzu's Tao Te Ching Tien Cong Tran, 2002-09-01      Interpretation in Architecture Adrian Snodgrass, Richard Coyne, 2013-05-13 Drawing on cultural theory phenomenology and concepts from Asian art and philosophy this book reflects on the role of interpretation in the act of architectural creation bringing an intellectual and scholarly dimension to real world architectural design practice For practising architects as well as academic researchers these essays consider interpretation from three theoretical standpoints or themes play edification and otherness Focusing on these the book draws together strands of thought informed by the diverse reflections of hermeneutical scholarship the uses of digital media and studio teaching and practice      Phenomenology of Life in a Dialogue Between Chinese and Occidental Philosophy Anna-Teresa Tymieniecka, 2012-12-06 To introduce this collection of research studies which stem from the programs conducted by The World Phenomenology Institute we need say a few words about our aims and work This will bring to light the significance of the present volume The phenomenological philosophy is an unprejudiced study of experience in its entire range experience being understood as yielding objects Experience moreover is approached in a specific way such a way that it legitimizes itself naturally in immediate evidence As such it offers a unique ground for philosophical inquiry Its basic condition however is to legitimize its validity In this way it allows a dialogue to unfold among various philosophies of different methodologies and persuasions so that their basic assumptions and conceptions may be investigated in an objective fashion That is instead of comparing concepts we may go below their differences to seek together what they are meant to grasp We may in this way come to the things themselves which are the common objective of all philosophy or what the great Chinese philosopher Wang Yang Ming called the investigation of things It is in this spirit that the Institute's programs include a cross cultural dialogue meant to bring about a profound communication among philosophers in their deepest concerns Rising above artificial cultural confinements such dialogues bring scholars thinkers and human beings together toward a truly human community of minds Our Institute unfolds one consistent academic program      Tao and Method Michael LaFargue, Laozi, 1994-01-01 While the Tao Te Ching has been translated and commented on countless times interpretations are seldom based on systematic theoretical treatment of the problems of interpretive method posed by this enigmatic classic Beginning with a critical discussion of modern hermeneutics including treatments of Hirsch Gadamer and Derrida this book applies methods developed in biblical studies to the Tao Te Ching The following chapters discuss systematically four areas necessary to recovering the Tao Te Ching's original meaning its social background the semantic structure of the brief aphorisms contained in the book the concrete background of the more cosmic sayings and the origin and genre of the 81 chapters of the Tao Te Ching These essays propose relatively new theories in each of these areas leading to a new approach to the interpretation of the text This approach is illustrated in the translation and the detailed commentary on each chapter      Daoist Resonances in Heidegger David Chai, 2022-05-05 East Asian imagery resonates throughout Martin Heidegger's writings. In this exploration of the connections between Daoism and his thought, an international team of scholars consider why the Daodejing and Zhuangzi were texts he returned to repeatedly and the extent Heidegger adhered to Daoism's core doctrines. They discuss how Daoist thought provided him with a new perspective, equipping him with images, concepts, and meanings that enabled him to continue his questioning of the nature of being. Exploring the environment, language, death, temporality, aesthetics, and race from the groundlessness of non-being, oneness, and the Way, they illustrate how these themes reverberate with ontological, spiritual, and epistemological potential. A lesson in the art of Daoist and cross-cultural ways of thinking, this collection marks the first sustained analysis of the influence of classical Daoism on a major 20th-century German philosopher. Being Called to Care Mary Ellen Lashley, Maggie T. Neal, Emily Todd Slunt, Louise M. Berman, Francine H. Hultgren, 1994-03-31. Although the major part of this book focuses on rethinking nursing education, the essence of this book, the notion of being called to care, is of relevance to all human service professionals who are responsible for ministering to the needs of others. The authors set the context for what it means to be called to care and explore ways of responding to a call. The three themes of vulnerability, authenticity, and structure are presented as foundational. Using a hermeneutic interpretive approach to inquiry, insights are presented to uncover ways of conceptualizing and practicing curriculum through processes that join persons together in dialogue and reflection.

Comparing Husserl's Phenomenology and Chinese Yogacara in a Multicultural World Jingjing Li, 2022-05-05. How is constructive cultural exchange possible when traditions hold such contradictory views? Jingjing Li brings Edmund Husserl's phenomenology and Chinese Yogacara Buddhism into dialogue to explore the concept of essence. While phenomenology and Yogacara Buddhism are both known for their investigations of consciousness, there exists a core tension between them: phenomenology affirms the existence of essence, whereas Yogacara Buddhism argues that everything is empty of essence (svabhava). Answering this question and positioning both philosophical traditions in their respective intellectual and linguistic contexts, Li argues that what Husserl means by essence differs from what Chinese Yogacarins mean by svabhava. We see how Husserl problematizes the substantialist understanding of essence in European philosophy. Detailing the process of finding a middle ground between the two traditions, Li's rich study demonstrates how both can thrive together in order to overcome Orientalism. She reveals that Chinese Yogacara has developed a distinct account of self-transformation, ethics, and social ontology that renders it much more than simply a Buddhist version of Husserlian phenomenology. Buddhist Phenomenology Dan Lusthaus, 2014-02-04. A richly complex study of the Yogacara tradition of Buddhism, divided into five parts: the first on Buddhism and phenomenology; the second on the four basic models of Indian Buddhist thought; the third on karma, meditation, and epistemology; the fourth on the Trimsika and its translations; and finally the fifth on the Cheng Wei shih Lun and Yogacara in China. Heidegger's Hidden Sources Reinhard May, 2005-08-02. Heidegger's Hidden Sources documents for the first time Heidegger's remarkable debt to East Asian philosophy. In this groundbreaking study, Reinhard

May shows conclusively that Martin Heidegger borrowed some of the major ideas of his philosophy on occasion almost word for word from German translations of Chinese Daoist and Zen Buddhist classics The discovery of this astonishing appropriation of non Western sources will have important consequences for future interpretations of Heidegger s work Moreover it shows Heidegger as a pioneer of comparative philosophy and transcultural thinking Zhuangzi and Early Chinese Philosophy Steve Coutinho,2017-03-02 The Daoist philosopher Zhuangzi also known as Chuang Tzu along with Confucius Lao Tzu and the Buddha ranks among the most influential thinkers in the development of East Asian thought His literary style is humorous and entertaining yet the philosophical content is extraordinarily subtle and profound This book introduces key topics in early Daoist philosophy Drawing on several issues and methods in Western philosophy from analytical philosophy to semiotics and hermeneutics the author throws new light on the ancient Zhuangzi text Engaging Daoism and contemporary Western philosophical logic and drawing on new developments in our understanding of early Chinese culture Coutinho challenges the interpretation of Zhuangzi as either a skeptic or a relativist and instead seeks to explore his philosophy as emphasizing the ineradicable vagueness of language thought and reality This new interpretation of the Zhuangzi offers an important development in the understanding of Daoist philosophy describing a world in flux in which things themselves are vague and inconsistent and tries to show us a Way a Dao to negotiate through the shadows of a chaotic world Encyclopedia of World Religions Encyclopaedia Britannica, Inc.,2008-05-01 A guide to the religions of the world and to the concepts movements people and events that have shaped them It includes features such as entries on religious movements and concepts historical and legendary figures divinities religious sites and ceremonies images that show sacred places vestments rituals objects and texts and more The Reader's Adviser Barbara Ann Chernow,George A. Vallasi,Fred Kaplan,Maurice Charney,Paula T. philosophical rather than systemic or behavioural It invites us to re examine what we think about leaders whether we really need leaders at all and if so which existential concerns leaders must address The book offers an introduction to the development of existential thinking and main concerns including meaningfulness anxiety loneliness freedom choice and responsibility authenticity and values and beliefs These are explored in the leadership context with practical approaches for using these in everyday leadership dilemmas Unique and accessible The Existential Leader paves a way for modern leadership perfectly suited to the challenging times we live in Innovative theoretical and applicable to our changing world landscape this book will appeal to coaches HR and L D professionals executives business consultants and current and future leaders It will also be of interest to academics and students of coaching psychology applied philosophy and psychology

A Conceptual Lexicon for Classical Confucian Philosophy Roger T. Ames, 2022-10-01 Over the years Roger T Ames and his collaborators have consistently argued for a processual understanding of Chinese natural cosmology made explicit in the Book of Changes It is this way of thinking captured in its own interpretive context with the expression continuities in change biantong that has shaped the grammar of the Chinese language and informs the key philosophical vocabulary of Confucian philosophy Over the past several centuries of cultural encounter the formula established by the early missionaries for the translation of classical Chinese texts into Western languages has resulted in a Christian conversion of Confucian texts that is still very much with us today And more recently the invention of a new Chinese language to synchronize East Asian cultures with Western modernity has become another obstacle in our reading of the Confucian canons This volume a companion volume to A Sourcebook in Classical Confucian Philosophy employs a comparative hermeneutical method in an attempt to explain the Confucian terms of art and to take the Confucian tradition on its own terms

Dawn of Mind James Cooke, 2024-12-03 Although consciousness is at the very center of who we are its exact nature continues to confound modern science From where does consciousness originate At our core are we material bodies or immaterial conscious minds Many assume that consciousness is a product of our complex brains a product of evolution and yet there is no evolutionary reason that a mechanical function of the brain should allow us to enjoy the beauty of a sunrise or become intoxicated with the smell of rain on dry earth If consciousness is not the product of sophisticated human brains might the nonhuman living world be conscious If so where does that place us in relation to the rest of life on Earth and what does this imply about our domination and plundering of the natural world for resources Dr James Cooke is no stranger to intricate and existential questions such as these and he confronts them head on in his compelling inventive revolutionary new book The Dawn of Mind Weaving together cutting edge science and the contemplative insights that arise from mystical experience as occurs with meditation and the emerging therapeutic paradigm of psychedelic medicine Cooke radically redraws our understanding of what it truly means to be who we are Though Cooke approaches the question of consciousness from a rigorous scientific stance his first foray into the study of consciousness was an intensely personal one

On a bus ride through Colchester the ancient Roman capital of Britain Cooke spontaneously felt himself feeling intensely and fully connected with the natural world around him his sense of self fell away entirely This transcendent moment inspired years of scientific study and the contemplative exploration of personal mystical experiences leading Cooke to a stunning revelation our sense of self is not an objective fact but an illusion a survival technique we use to try and find order in a disorderly world We each construct a boundary between ourselves and the natural world constantly simulating what will happen around us in order to survive and navigate our surroundings Consider this how long would you make it if you were crossing a busy street and only reacted to an oncoming car reflexively once you felt its touch on your skin Unlike the self however consciousness is no such illusion and is the product of the very same survival process it is the simulation in which our sense of self appears Of course we aren't the only creatures who function in this way According to Cooke consciousness is not complex brain function that only we possess but a deeply embodied phenomenon an essential feature of being a living thing Sure we aren't conscious in the same way as a tree or a worm but as living things we are all conscious just maybe this notion of our dominion over all other life on earth was a ruse all along Understanding consciousness in this way is not just some theoretical exercise As climate change amplifies by the day a growing chorus of voices insists that our fundamental disconnect from nature is at the root of our ecological crisis Healing the divide between nature and consciousness may be the key to extricating ourselves from this dire predicament

Handbook of Research on Multidisciplinary Perspectives on Managerial and Leadership Psychology Johnson, Rick D., 2021-01-22 The subject of leadership and managerial psychology exists as a sub branch of psychology within the fields of industrial and organizational psychology There still appears to be ongoing debate regarding the core pathology for gaining managerial expertise in professional roles relative to having suitable leadership skills and managerial knowledge beyond the direct daily work involved in organizations Professional organizations inherently include varied levels of sensitive human interactions which further necessitates their management professionals to have leadership styles that are adjustable contingent on a given situation Relative to this edited book managerial psychology is being utilized in a way that may subsequently seek to develop a series of scientific theory principles where the focus is to develop managerial axioms that advance contemporary existing knowledge surrounding professional management logic The Handbook of Research on Multidisciplinary Perspectives on Managerial and Leadership Psychology provides value uncovered by a collaboration of generalists and specialists who bring professional managerial and leadership opinions to light through narratives and research inclusive of fundamental theory principles that can be applied in practice and academia This edited reference is focused on the enhancement of management research through managerial psychology while highlighting topics including business process knowledge management in diverse discipline situations and professions corporate leadership responsibility leadership of self and others and leadership psychology in a variety of different fields of work This book is ideally designed for leadership and management professionals academicians students and researchers in the fields of knowledge management administrative sciences and management leadership development education and organization development sub branches or specialty practices      Pantheism Michael P. Levine,2002-09-11 Many people who do not believe in God believe that everything is God that everything is part of an all inclusive divine unity In Pantheism this concept is presented as a legitimate position and its philosophical basis is examined Michael Levine compares it to theism and discusses the scope for resolving the problems inherent in theism through pantheism He also considers the implications of pantheism in terms of practice This book will appeal to those who study philosophy or theology It will also be of interest to anyone who does not believe in a personal God but does have faith in a higher unifying force and is interested in the justification of this as a legitimate system of thought      Heidegger and Asian Thought Graham Parkes,2010-07-01 In the current resurgence of interest in Heidegger an important aspect of his thought has been neglected namely his long standing interest in Asian philosophy Heidegger and Asian Thought is the first book devoted to exploring this fascinating topic It brings together essays twelve scholars from India China Japan Germany and the United States most of which were written especially for this volume The essays discuss Heidegger's thinking in relation to Vedanta Taoism Zen and Tibetan Buddhist philosophy Heidegger's acquaintance with Asian thought beginning from his familiarity with the Chuang tzu as early as 1930 is fully documented including an account of his work on a partial translation of the Tao Te Ching into German This book will be of interest not only to Heidegger scholars but also to students of Asian and comparative philosophy and religion

Resonances of Neo-Confucianism Margus Ott,2024-05-28 This book resonates the work of Chinese and Western philosophers developing ontological ideas that are neither purely Chinese nor Western In so doing it argues that Deleuzian idea of resonance offers a model for a new way of doing comparative philosophy in which the comparison actualizes the virtual and counter actualizes the actual in both compared traditions More particularly Neo Confucian thinkers Zhang Zai 1020 1077 Zhu Xi 1130 1200 and Wang Yangming 1472 1529 are resonated with Baruch Spinoza 1632 1677 Arthur Schopenhauer 1788 1860 Husserlian phenomenology and Gilles Deleuze 1925 1995 The three Chinese thinkers represent three distinct currents of Neo Confucianism the school of veins li of Zhu Xi the school of energy qi of Zhang Zai the school of mind xin of Wang Yangming The method of resonance is used to discuss the following topics dichotomy of veins and energy temporality and subjectivity self cultivation all embracing energy dichotomy of primary ability and primary knowledge
