Philosopher Cat:

Feline Philosophy John Gray, 2020-11-24 The author of Straw Dogs famous for his provocative critiques of scientific hubris and the delusions of progress and humanism turns his attention to cats and what they reveal about humans torturous relationship to the world and to themselves The history of philosophy has been a predictably tragic or comical succession of palliatives for human disquiet Thinkers from Spinoza to Berdyaev have pursued the perennial questions of how to be happy how to be good how to be loved and how to live in a world of change and loss But perhaps we can learn more from cats the animal that has most captured our imagination than from the great thinkers of the world In Feline Philosophy the philosopher John Gray discovers in cats a way of living that is unburdened by anxiety and self consciousness showing how they embody answers to the big questions of love and attachment mortality morality and the Self Montaigne's house cat whose unexamined life may have been the one worth living Meo the Vietnam War survivor with an unshakable capacity for fearless joy and Colette's Saha the feline heroine of her subversive short story The Cat a parable about the pitfalls of human jealousy Exploring the nature of cats and what we can learn from it Gray offers a profound thought provoking meditation on the follies of human exceptionalism and our fundamentally vulnerable and lonely condition He charts a path toward a life without illusions and delusions revealing how we can endure both crisis and transformation and adapt to a changed scene as cats have always done

My Philosopher Cat Yankuik Itzaé, 2025-07-21 In this claw sharp existential comedy we meet the protagonist a man trapped in the inertia of mediocrity surviving on stale cereal hole ridden pajamas and conspiracy theories about the Illuminati and rising potato chip prices Everything changes the day his golden cat Diogenes cruel eloquent and possessed of the moral elegance of a feline inquisitor decides to speak Not to help him but to humiliate him out of his emotional pit With venomous sarcasm insults sharp enough to make Nietzsche cry and the severity of a forgotten Egyptian deity Diogenes becomes both judge and executioner to his apathetic human Through dialogues as cruel as they are brilliant he pushes or rather drags him out of his cave forcing him to face the world failure writing and even pigeon poop in public But beneath the cynicism this story is also an ode to small changes necessary humiliations and the possibility of rebirth under the unflinching gaze of a cat that never forgives Acidic hilarious melancholic and profoundly human this novel is a tragicomic journey into self examination lost dignity and the mysterious power of an animal that doesn't meow it delivers verdicts A novel about depression writing self loathing and how sometimes all you need is for someone or something to tell you that you suck with style
