Loss, Survive, Thrive Meryl Hershey Beck, 2019-11-22 No one is prepared for the loss of a child No one It feels completely unnatural for children to predecease their parents Although it is not widely known each year there are over 135 000 under 40 year old deaths in the U S alone And according to one study 19% of parents outlive their children often carrying the weight of horrendous grief to their own graves Isolated and alone is how parents often describe the grief process Well meaning friends and family members usually rush to their side in the beginning Once the floral arrangements have wilted and the dinners from caring friends diminish there isn't really much that can be said to bring comfort to a suffering parent especially if those friends haven't experienced it themselves Unfortunately when these caring friends do bring up the loss quite often they say the wrong things Loss Survive Thrive offers a lifeline of hope Each chapter is an inspirational story written by a parent who also experienced the agony of losing a child reclaimed his/her vitality and is now living a fulfilling life Every story is authentic and heartfelt designed to uplift and inspire The collective authors reach out through the pages to virtually hold hands with those who are suffering We the contributors have all been there We know their pain and we know about survival And now through our stories we offer comfort and support in helping them get through the toughest time of their lives Bereaved parents share an unspeakable bond And Loss Survive Thrive imparts insight from what's likely the only voices that grieving parents can hear others who have walked in their shoes This book is a giant step toward healing the grieving heart

Random Reflections From An Everyday Sinner Bill Clark, 2019-08-06 Random Reflections from an Everyday Sinner is a collection of thoughts and reflections about experiencing life from one common man's perspective It speaks of interpersonal experiences in life and the struggles of incorporating belief into a pragmatic and productive world view The collection of writings are primarily the result of encouragement from my wife friends and acquaintances made over a lifetime of extensive work related travel Church involvement and general encounters with family members and others navigating through life Experience is the name everyone gives to their mistakes Oscar Wilde The writings were also therapy After experiencing the death of parents 50 years of working and getting retired by a corporate takeover and experiencing other common traumas of life I needed to slow down and readjust my perspective on life I needed to learn how to stop just reacting and become a better contributor to my own mental health and to the lives of those I encounter There are a handful of universal truths in these writings You'll know them when you read them But mostly this is just a record of experience and opinion Hopefully you'll read these knowing they are intended as encouragement and not as an invitation to philosophical combat If you disagree with something written here figure out what your position looks like so you can encourage yourself and others Happy people plan actions they don't plan results Denis Waitley Respectfully Bill Clark
