M. Bell,2000-09-25 Sentimentalism Ethics and the Culture of Feeling defends feeling against customary distrust or condescension by showing that the affective turn of the eighteenth century cult of sentiment despite its sometimes surreal manifestations has led to a positive culture of feeling The very reaction against sentimentalism has taught us to identify sentimentality Fiction moreover remains a principal means not just of discriminating quality of feeling but of appreciating its essentially imaginative nature The Return of Ethics and Spirituality in Global Development Mahmoud Masaeli,Rico Sneller,2020-06-02 The theory of modernization basically reduces the meaning of development to economic growth often measured by Growth Domestic Product of the country or overall purchase power parity of the nation This approach ignores the variety of perspectives on development hence excludes the role of culture identity and spirituality as social determinants of good development More importantly modernization theory which informs the mainstream view on development ignores the structural causes of underdevelopment including colonial heritage or the current unbridled capitalism in many societies Against reductionist views of development fundamental questions are raised about the theory and programming of development From what perspective is the conception of development perceived Who should decide and depict development goals What kind of development could result in desirable changes Is it morally desirable to dictate an exclusively Western understanding of development to others Is there any link between development and a right of nations to self determination Who is morally accountable for global inequality or bad development The novelty of this book lies in its multidisciplinary approach in exploring the role of ethics and spirituality as the curing alternates for the gamut of ills which originate in global inequality All authors are academics based in a variety of countries and specialize in questions concerning development and spirituality Rebellious Hearts Adriana Craciun, Kari E. Lokke, 2001-05-24 Examines the full spectrum of women's participation in the social economic religious and poetic debates surrounding the French Revolution
