Mass Communications And The Modern World Themes In Comparative History:

Mass Communications and the Modern World Ken Ward, 1989-02-17 This book aims to investigate the comparative development of the main forms of mass media the press film and broadcasting in three societies the United States Great Britain and Germany between 1890 and 1970 The main emphasis is on the political frameworks in which the media developed and the influence upon individual societies as well as on the international framework This is the first work to provide access for students to much of the recent work on the history of the mass media European Decolonization

1918-1981: An Introductory Survey Robert F. Holland, 1985-03-04 One of the most dramatically significant themes of the twentieth century has been the decline and final dismemberment of the European colonial empires This book outlines the general features which influence this decline and by concentrating on a series of case studies emphasises the varieties of experience within this broad historical process While primarily concerned with events in the British Empire the largest of the imperial systems Dr Holland also considers developments in the French Belgian Dutch and Portuguese dependencies The chronologically arranged sections focus on the sources of weakness in the European empires between 1918 and 1939 the impact of the Second World War the upheavals of the post war crisis the move to decolonization in the later 1950 s and early 1960 s and the subsequent realignment of relations between advanced and non advanced nations The aim of this study is to provide an introductory text for sixth form and university students on a vital dimension of change within international relationships in twentieth century Multidisciplinary Journal of Research Development ,2008 Europe and the Third World Bernard Waites, 1999-07-13 Europe and the Third World provides a schematic historical analysis of the relations between Europe and the extra European periphery within the twin contexts of global economic inequality and global disparities in political power The colonial and imperial relationships between western Europe and the wider world since the late fifteenth century and the course and consequences of decolonization form the substance of the discussion which concludes with a glance at the links between the European Union and the world s poorest states most of which are former colonies The Origins of Modern Feminism Jane Rendall, 1985-01-24 This comparative study analyses the emergence of feminist movements and their differing characters in Britain France and the United States Jane Rendall examines the social economic and cultural factors which affected women s status in society and led some women to act individually and collectively to seek to change it The Enlightenment emphasis on women s nature and the evangelical stress on the moral potential of women contributed to a framework of ideas which could be used by conservatives and by feminists Among the middle classes discussion focused on the need to improve women s education and on the strengths and limitations of domesticity Patterns of paid employment for women were shifting and Jane Rendall suggests that the weak position of women in the labor market during the early stages of industrialisation restricted their ability to associate together Yet involvement in religious political and philanthropic movements could provide a means by which women might come together to identify their common concerns and learn the necessary political skills Jane Rendall places the origins of feminism in the broader context of social and political change in the nineteenth century looking both at the changing relationship between paid work and domestic life and at the links between feminism and class and political conflict in three different societies

The Family and Family Relationships, 1500-1900 Rosemary O'Day, 1994-10-26 While historians have written with ease about the state and the church the family has so far defied historical analysis As the primary cell of human social organisation upon which both state and church depend it is of crucial importance In this concise informative and stimulating book Rosemary O Day seeks to explain the difficulties facing the historian of the family and to suggest strategies for their solution She compares families and households in time space and economy over the period 1500 1914 and draws together the important existing work A London Bibliography of the Social Sciences, 1931 Vols 1 4 include material to June 1 1929

New Books in the Communications Library University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. Communications Library, 1989-07 From Media Systems to Media Cultures Sabina Mihelj, Simon Huxtable, 2018-08-23 Proposes an original framework for comparative media research and uses it to provide fascinating insights into television under communist rule

Cold War Cultures Annette Vowinckel, Marcus M. Payk, Thomas Lindenberger, 2012 The Cold War was not only about the imperial ambitions of the super powers their military strategies and antagonistic ideologies It was also about conflicting worldviews and their correlates in the daily life of the societies involved The term Cold War Culture is often used in a broad sense to describe media influences social practices and symbolic representations as they shape and are shaped by international relations Yet it remains in question whether or to what extent the Cold War Culture model can be applied to European societies both in the East and the West While every European country had to adapt to the constraints imposed by the Cold War individual development was affected by specific conditions as detailed in these chapters This volume offers an important contribution to the international debate on this issue of the Cold War impact on everyday life by providing a better understanding of its history and legacy in Eastern and Western Europe Harold D. Lasswell: An Annotated world James D Babb is a Senior Lecturer in the School of Geography Politics and Sociology at Newcastle University On the Record Re Japan, 1996 International Statebuilding in West Africa Abu Bakarr Bah, Nikolas Emmanuel, 2024-08-06

At the turn of the twenty first century manipulation of the democratic process coupled with preexisting political and economic grievances led to years long civil wars in Sierra Leone Liberia and Cote d'Ivoire During and after these conflicts international peacekeeping efforts and humanitarian intervention became the dominant paths for restoring stability by rebuilding the state Using these three countries as case studies this manuscript sheds light on internationally driven state building in war torn West African nations the problematic nature of the postcolonial state and the difficulties of securing its people's wellbeing Connecting peace and conflict democracy and international development studies Bah and Emmanuel argue that there is a clear nexus between the concepts and practices of peace building and statebuilding that peace building and statebuilding are not domestic matters alone but also matters of global intervention and that civil wars can be viewed as opportunities for state building through creative postwar partnerships and organization This study goes beyond the familiar concepts of failed states R2P peacekeeping and peace mediation and introduces and enhances the concepts of state decay new humanitarianism people centered liberalism and institutional design In doing so it provides critical lessons that local and international actors can draw on as they try to figure out practical solutions to the political economic and social problems that impede the development of peaceful and democratic multiethnic postcolonial states in Africa and beyond Applying comparative historical methods and theory to archival materials and expert interviews International Statebuilding in West Africa seeks to shift the discourse on civil wars from their causes and implications to the opportunities they provide to rework failed states and to shift the discourse on African states from their colonial and neocolonial legacies to their shared moral and security interests with the rest of the world Intellectual Agent, Mediator and Interlocutor Toyin Falola, Emmanuel M. Mbah, 2014-06-19 Encompassing the time period from the colonial era to the present day this book critically examines the changing nature of African politics and the factors that underpin such changes We argue in the volume that many of the problems that plague contemporary politics ethnicity governance conflict bad economic policies the absence of dialogue and other social issues have their roots in the fifteen years after the Second World War just prior to independence 1945 1960 Because these issues had been grossly mismanaged by the colonial enterprise those fifteen years could arguably be characterized as the incubation period for the dysfunction that has stymied African politics since independence For it was during these transitional years that African leaders learned how not to speak to each other How to introduce meaningful dialogue to address issues between and among Africans is where the transition in African politics stands today The approach used here is interdisciplinary giving the book a wider appeal to those interested in history political science peace and conflict studies international relations and many disciplines Additionally the topics covered are so important and intellectual and have been penned by an A team of African scholars that other scholars students and professionals can use the volume as a reference text Therefore college students both undergraduate and graduate college instructors researchers policy makers and the development community working to stabilize Africa will find the book to be of immense importance Furthermore this volume will serve as a guide for advocates for the development community on how to address the numerous problems affecting the continent as well as the correct approach to boosting public awareness about contemporary African issues

New Contributions to the Philosophy of History Daniel Little,2010-08-05 Insights developed in the past two decades by philosophers of the social sciences can serve to enrich the challenging intellectual tasks of conceptualizing investigating and representing the human past Likewise intimate engagement with the writings of historians can deepen philosophers understanding of the task of knowing the past This volume brings these perspectives together and considers fundamental questions such as What is historical causation What is a large historical structure How can we best conceptualize mentalities and identities What is involved in understanding the subjectivity of historical actors What is involved in arriving at an economic history of a large region How are actions and outcomes related The arguments touch upon a wide range of historical topics the Chinese and French Revolutions the extension of railroads in the nineteenth century and the development of agriculture in medieval China Media-State Relations in Emerging Democracies A.

Hadland,2015-05-05 The news media and the state are locked in a battle of wills in the world s emerging democratic states It is a struggle that will determine whether or not democracy flourishes or withers in the 21st century Using a number of case studies including South Africa this book evaluates what is at stake Histories of Dirt Stephanie Newell,2019-12-20 In

Histories of Dirt Stephanie Newell traces the ways in which urban spaces and urban dwellers come to be regarded as dirty as exemplified in colonial and postcolonial Lagos Newell conceives dirt as an interpretive category that facilitates moral sanitary economic and aesthetic evaluations of other cultures under the rubric of uncleanness She examines a number of texts ranging from newspaper articles by elite Lagosians to colonial travel writing public health films and urban planning to show how understandings of dirt came to structure colonial governance Seeing Lagosians as sources of contagion and dirt British colonizers used racist ideologies and discourses of dirt to justify racial segregation and public health policies Newell also explores possibilities for non Eurocentric methods for identifying African urbanites own values and opinions by foregrounding the voices of contemporary Lagosians through interviews and focus groups in which their responses to public health issues reflect local aesthetic tastes and values In excavating the shifting role of dirt in structuring social and political life in Lagos Newell provides new understandings of colonial and postcolonial urban history in West Africa Comparing

Mass Media in Established Democracies L. Müller,2014-09-10 This book examines the contribution of mass media to modern democracies in comparative perspective Part I deals with the conceptualization and implementation of a systematic framework to assess democratic media performance both in terms of media systems and content Part II studies media effects on the quality of democracy
