Mass Politics In The Peoples Republic:

Mass Politics In The People's Republic Alan P.L. Liu, 2019-03-04 Exploring the crucial link between state and society in the People's Republic of China PRC this book analyzes the interaction between the Chinese Communist Party and the country's major social groups It explores how public opinion contributes to a mass political culture in China Endogenous Origins of Economic Reforms in India and China Rajiv G. Maluste, 2011-07 Attitudinal change in the context of economic reforms has been referred to in Rodrik and Subramanian 2005 DeLong 2003 Kohli 1989 and Panagariya 2004 2008 This dissertation provides empirical support for this literature establishing an earlier start for India's economic policy liberalisation than presented in stylized accounts It demonstrates the endogenous nature of the origins of these policy shifts Attitudinal change literature had directed attention to the need for further research into India's policy changes of the early 1980s and for studying broader comparability issues in other developing countries This research makes a contribution towards filling these gaps This dissertation shows that India started its economic liberalisation under the Indira Gandhi administration from 1980 to 1984 These findings depart from the conventional view that India's economic policy changes were initiated by the Narasimha Rao government in 1991 or by the Rajiv Gandhi administration in the mid to late 1980s The dissertation establishes that policy shifts of the early 1980s had endogenous origins in the political leadership's attitudinal changes The Indira Gandhi administration of the early 1980s revisited the statist policies of its previous tenure from 1966 to 1977 The new approach entailed more openness towards private enterprise scaling back the role of the public sector and starting India's integration into the global economy The dissertation also discusses the comparable role of attitudinal changes at the start of China's policy liberalisation led by Deng Xiaoping from 1978 to 1982 It focuses on the significance and challenges faced by China's political leadership in bringing about societal attitudinal change The dissertation concludes by drawing comparisons between India and China developing a linkage between their endogenous attitudinal changes and economic policy liberalisation Political Culture and Participation in Rural China Yang Zhong, 2013-06-17 Despite China's rapid urbanisation and industrialisation most Chinese still live in the vast countryside or have rural household registration Although there was significant economic improvement in rural areas in the 1980s the rural economy has been stagnating or deteriorating since then and the book argues that the rural urban income gap is giving rise to the potential for political instability throughout China This book based on extensive original research including interview fieldwork in rural areas examines the nature of political culture and participation in rural China discussing issues such as the support or lack of it for democratic values levels of political interest the ways in which Chinese peasants interact with village and local officials subjective factors that motivate them to vote or not to vote in village elections and rural people's views on market oriented economic reforms local and national government and the Communist Party The book argues that although hitherto peasants riots sit ins and demonstrations have been localised and uncoordinated they are frequent and have the potential to cause serious political crises for China's rulers. It concludes by considering the future political development of China's vast countryside. Non-Governmental Organisations in China Lu Yiyi, 2009 China's Trade Unions - How

Autonomous Are They? Masaharu Hishida, Kazuko Kojima, Tomoaki Ishii, Jian Qiao, 2010-01-21 This book examines the status of trade unions in contemporary China exploring the degree to which trade unions have been reformed as China is increasingly integrated into the global economy. With a wealth of detailed empirical research data this book discusses the key question of how autonomous China's trade unions are. Nationalism and Ethnoregional Identities in China William

Safran, 1998 Western political scientists have tended to neglect the ethnic dimension in China and have overemphasized the development from large empire to unified nation. This book brings together a number of case studies on the ethnic and regional dimensions of Chinese politics and society. Why Is The China Model Losing Its Power? - Challenges And Opportunities Of The Second Global Competition Jinghao Zhou, 2020-07-23 History has proved that communism failed at many levels during the first global competition between the capitalist and socialist camps during the Cold War. As a result the socialist camp was dissolved. China is one of the few communist countries to survive in the twenty-first century. The Chinese economy was on the verge of collapse in the 1970s but began to take off in the early 1980s guided by the China model. China became the world's second largest economy in 2010 and has quickly expanded its enormous global market and political influence. The second global competition between the capitalist countries and China has started. The second global competition is in fact between the China model and the Washington Consensus. Will Western hegemonies end as the result of the second global competition? Will China be able to rewrite the international rules? Will the Chinese communist political system collapse during the competition? What should the West do to the China model? This book will explore the implications of the China model in the context of the second global competition and argues that the downturn of the China model and China's global expansion are the two sides of the same coin. The China model is losing its power but not broken. China would be able to become even stronger if it could reshape the philosophical foundation of the China model. The future of Western hegemony will depend on how the West understands the China model and deals with it. This book addresses these aspects and more. Critical Readings on the Communist Party of China (4 Vols. Set) Kjeld Erik Brodsgaard, 2016-12-12 The Chinese Communist Party (CCP) with nearly 90 million members is the largest ruling political party in the world. Its power and influence reach into every corner of state, society and economy in China. Given the CCP's omnipresence, in-depth knowledge of how the CCP is organised and managed and how it will likely evolve is of paramount importance and is a basic prerequisite for understanding China's rise. By bringing together the best scholarship on the CCP covering areas such as organisation, cadre management, recruitment and training, ideology and propaganda, factions and elites, reform and adaptation, corruption and law, this collection provides a key to open the black box of Chinese politics. Chongqing's Red Culture Campaign Xiao Mei, 2017-07-06 Between 2009 and 2012 the city of Chongqing came into the national and even international spotlight as it became the geographical centre of the Singing Red Smashing Black campaign and later the political storm that swept China Chongqing's Red Culture Campaign drew an incredible amount of interest at the time but speculation and prejudice has since blurred the public understanding of the sensational story that ties the campaign with the rise and fall of a political star Bo Xilai This book therefore seeks to study the nature of Chongqing's Red Culture Campaign and the interaction between the political programme and the practices of its participants Based on fieldwork conducted in Chongqing it seeks to question whether the Red Culture Campaign was actually a return to Maoist revolutionary mass campaigning whilst examining the relationship between the CCP's political power and the lives of the ordinary people as reflected in the case of the campaign Ultimately it highlights that the campaign was not in fact a real Maoist mass movement Although it followed the pre-existing model of past mass campaigns in China containing a series of frequent and highly performative operations Xiao Mei argues that it essentially demonstrated critical features of simulation By contributing to our understanding of the discrepancies between a designed political programme and what it actually becomes when implemented on the ground this book will be of use to students and scholars of Chinese Studies Politics and Sociology

Construction of Chinese Nationalism in the Early 21st Century Suisheng Zhao, 2014-07-25 Chinese nationalism is powered by a narrative of China's century of shame and humiliation in the hands of imperialist powers and calls for the Chinese government to redeem the past humiliations and take back all lost territories The continuing surge of Chinese nationalism in the early 21st century therefore has fed a roiling sense of anxiety in many political capitals about whether a virulent nationalism has emerged to make China's rise anything but peaceful This book addresses this anxiety by examining the domestic sources and foreign policy implications of Chinese nationalism in the early 21st century It is divided into three parts Part I is an overview of the scholarly debate about if the rise of Chinese nationalism has driven China's foreign policy in a more irrational and inflexible direction in the first one and half decades of the 21st century Part II analyzes the construction of Chinese nationalism by a variety of domestic forces including the communist state the angry youth fen qing liberal intellectuals and ethnic groups Part III explores whether Chinese nationalism is affirmative assertive or aggressive through the case studies of China's maritime territorial disputes with Japan in the East China Sea and with several Southeast Asian countries in the South China Sea the border controversy over the ancient Koguryo with Korea and the cross Taiwan Strait relations This book was based on articles published in the Journal of Contemporary China
