The Master of Mary of Burgundy, 1970      A Book of Hours for Engelbert of Nassau Master of Mary of Burgundy, 1970 Near the end of the fifteenth century a Flemish artist known only as The Master of Mary of Burgundy painted one of the last illuminated manuscripts for Engelbert of Nassau a member of the courts of rulers of the Netherlands from Charles the Bold to Philip the Fair This edition reproduces this magnificent book now in the Bodleian Library Oxford as closely as possible to the original

Virgin Martyrs Karen A. Winstead, 2018-05-31 Stories of the torture and execution of beautiful Christian women first appeared in late antiquity and proliferated during the early Middle Ages A thousand years later virgin martyrs were still the most popular female saints Their legends in countless retellings through the centuries preserved a standard plot the heroine resists a pagan suitor endures cruelties inflicted by her rejected lover or outraged family works miracles and dies for Christ That sequence was embellished by incidents emblematic of the specific saint Juliana's battle with the devil Barbara's immurement in the tower Katherine's encounter with spiked wheels Karen A Winstead examines this seemingly static story form and discovers subtle shifts in the representation of the virgin martyrs as their legends were adapted for changing audiences in late medieval England

Medieval Hunting Richard Almond, 2011-10-24 Hunting was a major economic and leisure activity throughout the later European Middle Ages but while aristocratic practices have featured in studies of romantic and narrative literature hunting in its wider sense across the social spectrum and with attendant male and female roles has largely been ignored by modern medieval historians Richard Almond's study brings vividly to life the universality and centrality of hunting to medieval societies both as an economic necessity and as an expression of medieval humanity's almost atavistic sense of oneness with nature Medieval Hunting dispels some of the myths and misunderstandings surrounding hunting including the persistent views that it was exclusively an aristocratic male pursuit Using a wide variety of contemporary textual and art historical evidence Richard Almond shows that hunting including fishing and poaching was enjoyed by women as well as men The Practice of Theory Keith P. F. Moxey, 1994

Many art historians regard poststructuralist theory with suspicion some even see its focus on the political dimension of language as hostile to an authentic study of the past Keith Moxey bridges the gap between historical and theoretical approaches with the provocative argument that we cannot have one without the other If art history is to take part in the processes of cultural transformation that characterize our society he writes then its historical narratives must come to terms with the most powerful and influential theories that currently determine the way in which we conceive of ourselves After exploring how the insights offered by deconstruction and semiotics change our understanding of representation ideology and authorship Moxey himself puts theory into practice In a series of engaging essays accompanied by twenty eight illustrations he first examines the impact of cultural values on Erwin Panofsky's writings Taking a fresh look at work by artists from Albrecht Dürer and Erhard Schöner to Barbara Kruger and Julian Schnabel he then examines the process by which he generic boundaries between high and low art have helped to sustain class and gender differences Making particular reference to the literature on Martin Schongauer Moxey also considers the value of art history when it is reduced to artist's biography Moxey's interpretation of the work of Hieronymus Bosch not only reassesses its intelligence and imagination but also brings to light its pragmatic conformity to elite definitions of artistic genius With his compelling analysis of the politics of interpretation Moxey draws attention to a vital aspect of the cultural importance of history The J. Paul Getty Museum Journal The J. Paul Getty Museum, 1993-01-28 The J Paul Getty Museum Journal has been published annually since 1974 It contains scholarly articles and shorter notes pertaining to objects in the Museum's seven curatorial departments Antiquities Manuscripts Paintings Drawings Decorative Arts Sculpture and Works of Art and Photographs The Journal also contains an illustrated checklist of the Museum's acquisitions for the previous year a staff listing and a statement by the Museum's Director outlining the year's most important activities Volume 19 of the J Paul Getty Museum Journal includes articles by Nicholas Penny Ariane van Suchtelen Thomas DaCosta Kaufmann and Virginia Roehrig Kaufmann Frits Scholten David Harris Cohen and Dawson W Carr The Book of Memory Mary J. Carruthers, 1992-05-14 The Book of Memory is a magisterial and beautifully illustrated account of the workings and function of memory in medieval society Memory was the psychological faculty valued above all others in the period stretching from late antiquity through the Renaissance The prominence given to memory has profound implications for the contemporary understanding of all creative activity and the social role of literature and art Drawing on a range of fascinating examples from Dante Chaucer and Aquinas to the symbolism of illuminated manuscripts this unusually wide ranging book offers new insights into the medieval world

L. Wearing,2021-12-20 The presence of gold silver and other metals is a hallmark of decorated manuscripts the very characteristic that makes them illuminated Medieval artists often used metal pigment and leaf to depict metal objects both real and imagined such as chalices crosses tableware and even idols the luminosity of these representations contrasted pointedly with the surrounding paints enriching the page and dazzling the viewer To elucidate this key artistic tradition this volume represents the first in depth scholarly assessment of the depiction of precious metal objects in manuscripts and the media used to conjure them From Paris to the Abbasid caliphate and from Ethiopia to Bruges the case studies gathered here forge novel approaches to the materiality and pictoriality of illumination In exploring the semiotic material iconographic and technical dimensions of these manuscripts the authors reveal the canny ways in which painters generated metallic presence on the page Illuminating Metalwork is a landmark contribution to the study of the medieval book and its visual and embodied reception and is poised to be a staple of research in art history and manuscript studies accessible to undergraduates and specialists alike
