

Mastering Architecture - Becoming a Creative Innovator in Practice
Leon van Schaik

It is easy for even the most accomplished of designers to lose sight of their higher creative goals, once they are in established in practice and burdened by the everyday concerns of running an office and overseeing complex projects. However, it is essential for any architect working to achieve a mastery of their profession to retain an ongoing awareness and understanding of their creative development. This book is a touchstone for architects who want to get back to a creative form of practice, in order to continue progressing and refining their work.

Mastering Architecture draws on the research of approximately 100 architects who have taken a close look at the nature of their own mastery. This research into mastery reveals things that every practitioner should know about their creative practice - things which most architects are only aware of at an intuitive level. The book flags up personal attributes, such as discipline, creative energy and intellectual capital, which are intrinsic to dynamic practice. It also suggests ways in which practitioners can self-curate their practices within the triangle of their creativity, evolving not only the cultural structure of their profession but the wider world in which they operate.

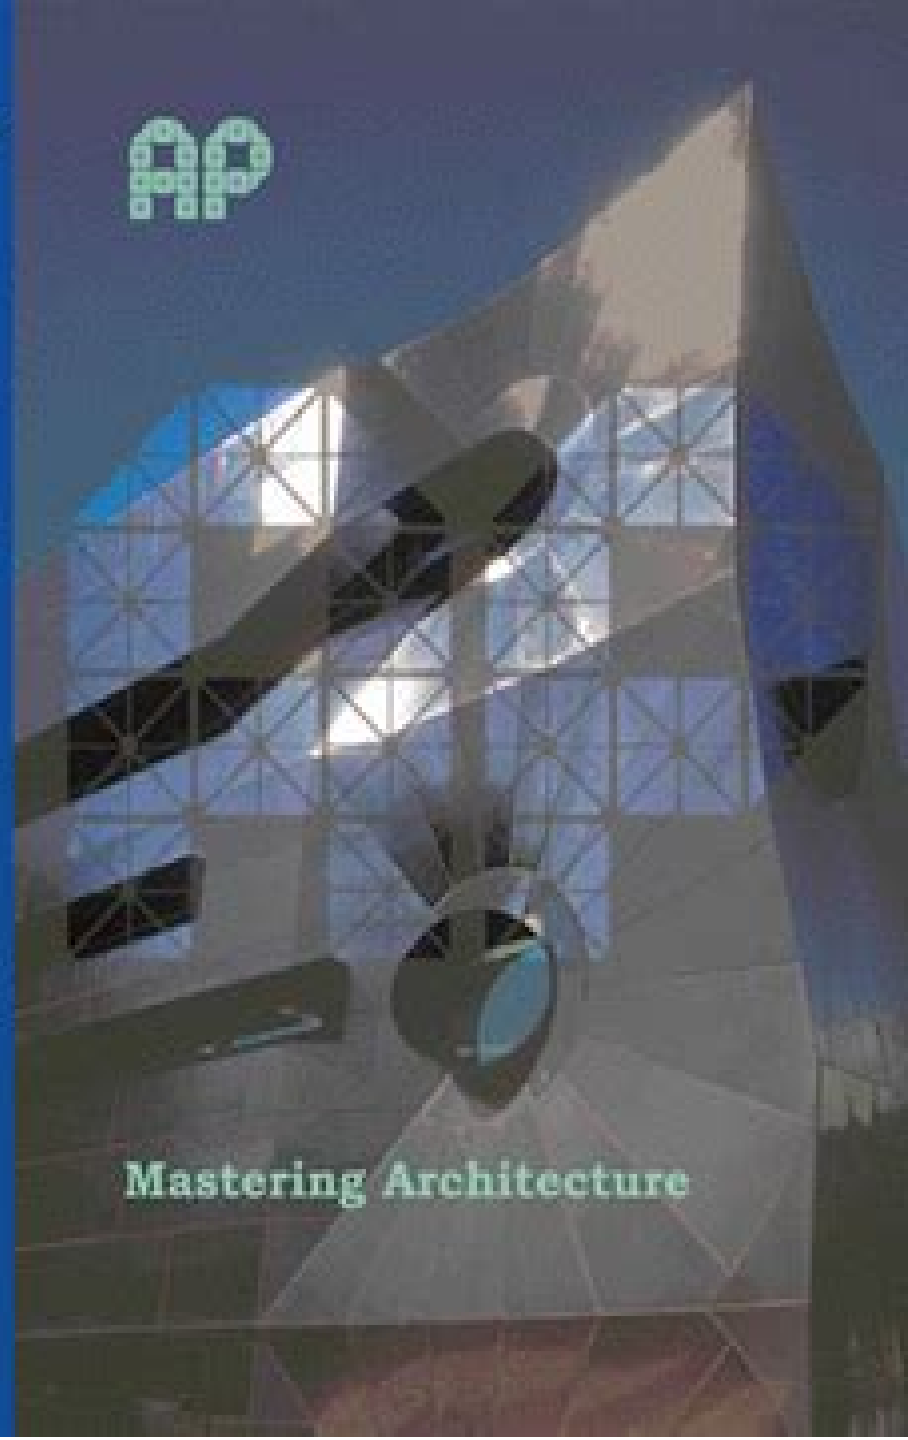

Leon van Schaik is Innovative Professor of Architecture at RMIT, Melbourne, Australia. At RMIT, he has developed a practice-based research programme for architects and designers whose work already demonstrates mastery in their field. This Masters course has become influential internationally and forms the backbone of the approach described in this book. He has also instituted a process of consultant appointment that has transformed the university's reputation for Architecture and Urban Design through award-winning buildings noted for their experimental approaches. He has thus been widely credited with shifting the climate of patronage within the city. Recent works by Van Schaik include monographs on Sam Gabriel, Edmund and Conger, Uteela Finkley, Gertud Bell, Tom Kauer and Lee Young, Gullies Pavilion, as well as The Practice of Architecture issue of Architectural Design.
