Nelly Sachs Einführung In Das Werk Der Dichterin Juedischen Schicksals:

Nelly Sachs Elaine Martin, 2011-09-29 Nelly Sachs The Poetics of Silence and the Limits of Representation examines the poetry of the Nobel Prize winning German Jewish poet Nelly Sachs It firstly shifts established patterns of reception by analysing the author's reception in East and West Germany after the war and the role she came to play in the Federal Republic as a representative Poet of Reconciliation The study then situates Sachs work within the framework of the debate surrounding the representation of the Holocaust by means of a thorough exposition of the aporia at the heart of Theodor Adorno's writings on post Holocaust art It demonstrates by close reading how Sachs work is itself marked by this aporetic struggle and exposes in particular the aesthetic means by which Sachs renders this aporetic tension legible in her poetry through her use of for example prosopopoeia her recasting of traditional metaphors and her reversal of biblical archetypes The primary question addressed is whether Sachs poetry in spite of the fact that it thematises the impossibility of adequate representation has representational value or whether her work is bereft of concrete representational meaning as a result of the often fragmented nature of her writing In particular the author confronts those critics who see in Sachs work elements of consolation reconciliation or redemption in a transcendental realm in favour of a reading that regards her work as permeated with the concrete events of the Holocaust and irreconcilably opposed to any notion of a religious sense making and redemptive paradigm Ethics and Remembrance in the Poetry of Nelly Sachs and Rose Ausländer Kathrin M. Bower, 2000

In addition to aesthetic considerations the book concentrates on the implications of Sachs's and Ausländer's poetic engagement for an ethics of remembrance BOOK JACKET A History of Women's Writing in Germany, Austria and Switzerland Jo Catling, 2000-03-23 This volume makes the wide ranging work of German women writers visible to a wider audience It is the first work in English to provide a chronological introduction to and overview of women's writing in German speaking countries from the Middle Ages to the present day Extensive guides to further reading and a bibliographical guide to the work of more than 400 women writers form an integral part of the volume which will be indispensable for students and scholars of German literature and all those interested in women's and gender studies The Routledge Encyclopedia of Jewish Writers of the Twentieth Century Sorrel Kerbel, 2004-11-23 Now available in paperback for the first time Jewish Writers of the Twentieth Century is both a comprehensive reference resource and a springboard for further study This volume examines canonical Jewish writers less well known authors of Yiddish and Hebrew and emerging Israeli writers includes entries on figures as diverse as Marcel Proust Franz Kafka Tristan Tzara Eugene Ionesco Harold Pinter Tom Stoppard Arthur Miller Saul Bellow Nadine Gordimer and Woody Allen contains introductory essays on Jewish American writing Holocaust literature and memoirs Yiddish writing and Anglo Jewish literature provides a chronology of twentieth century Jewish writers Compiled by expert contributors this book contains over 330 entries on individual authors each consisting of a biography a list of selected publications a scholarly essay on their work and suggestions for further reading

From Gurs to Auschwitz Peter Selg, 2013-12-01 Maria Krehbiel Darmstädter 1892-1943 who was killed at Auschwitz was a highly gifted pupil of Rudolf Steiner and a member of The Christian Community Born into a Jewish family in Mannheim she was deported to Gurs camp in the Pyrenees on October 22 1940 where she survived harsh conditions and helped many of her fellow inmates Following temporary sick leave under police supervision in Limonest near Lyon and a failed attempt to flee to Switzerland she was brought to Drancy transit camp near Paris before being taken to Auschwitz This book offers unique testimony of an individual rooted in esoteric Christianity and Spiritual Science who found sources of inner resistance during one of history's darkest periods. As the portrait of a highly ethical and sorely tried woman amid catastrophic conditions, it describes her existential efforts to summon powers of concentration, meditation, and dedication to others, showing how these continued to inform her outlook and actions to the very end. Polish Jews in Drancy referred to Maria Krehbiel Darmstadter as Mme Maria. They experienced her distinctive spirituality and personal qualities and a profound religiosity that retained an inner connection with the Christian sacramental world even in the most desolate circumstances. From Gurs to Auschwitz, it adds an important voice to literature on the Holocaust and shines a light on the nature of spiritual inner resistance during the dark years of World War II in Europe.

Theodicy Beyond the Death of 'God' Andrew Shanks, 2018-02-02. True theodicy is partly a theoretical corrective to evangelistic impatience, discounting the distortions arising from over-eager salesmanship. And partly it is a work of poetic intensification dedicated to faith's necessary struggle against resentment. This book contains a systematic survey of the classic theoretical corrective theodicy tradition initiated in the early Seventeenth Century by Jakob Böhme. Two centuries later, Böhme's lyrical thought is translated into rigorous philosophical terms by Schelling and is then further set in context by Hegel's doctrine of providence at work in world history. The old God of mere evangelistic impatience is as Hegel sees things dead. And so theodicy is liberated to play its proper role, illustrated here with particular reference to the book of Job, the post-Holocaust poetry of Nelly Sachs, and the thought of Simone Weil. A boldly polemical study, this book is a bid to re-ignite debate on the whole topic of theodicy. As such, it will be of great interest to scholars in religious studies, theology, and philosophy.

Words from Abroad Katja Garloff, 2005-09-01. Examines the responses of German Jewish writers to the geographical and cultural displacement that is one of the lasting consequences of the Holocaust. When Paul Celan was charged with plagiarism in 1960, the ensuing public debate in West Germany threw the poet into a major personal crisis, even though most German critics immediately came to his defense. This crisis coincided with a transformative moment in the history of Holocaust remembrance: its first generational reimagining in the wake of a number of highly publicized criminal trials. Words from Abroad takes its lead from this disjunction between public ritual and private crisis to chart the emergence of a new literary diaspora, examining German Jewish writers who were dislocated in the course of World War II and began rewriting their own displacement more than a decade after the war. The idea of diaspora had ceased to be a constructive element of Jewish culture in Germany during the nineteenth-century process of emancipation and assimilation, though this book argues that it becomes crucial in articulating the possibility of German Jewish identity after the Holocaust. Along with the works of Paul Celan, Words from Abroad examines selected German Jewish writers such as Peter Weiss and Nelly Sachs. The study of these authors is framed by theoretical reflections on the play of distance and proximity in German Jewish intellectuals after the Holocaust, including Theodor W. Adorno, Jean Améry, and Günther Anders. Drawing on postcolonial theory, diaspora studies, trauma theory, and psychoanalytical theory, author Katja Garloff offers an original and nuanced reading of the way in which these writers, in the wake of the Holocaust, experienced and variously created a vision of dispersion as both
