Nice to See You Anne Waldman, 1991 A great and necessary reminder lest we lose the far fallen angel in the reification of a word he liked of his earthly oeuvre The late Ted Berrigan 1934 1983 was a people and place poet to a fault so it is only fitting that friend and fellow poet Anne Waldman has compiled edited and introduced this star studded tribute celebration in the form of reminiscences interviews poems letters critiques comics photographs and collaborations which portray not only the poet but the legendary Lower East Side NYC poetry community he called home Published by Coffee House Press 27 North 4th Street Minneapolis MN 55401 Paper edition unseen 14 95 Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

The Body and the Book , 2015-06-29 The stimulating mix of academics and practising poets that have contributed to this volume provides an unusual and illuminating integration of critical and creative practice and a vibrantly diverse approach to questions of poetry and sexuality Each section of essays is complemented by poems which creatively illustrate or develop the theme with which the essays critically engage Rather than being limited to a specific genre tradition time or place this collection seeks to make a virtue of contrast comparison and juxtaposition The collection is arranged into sections that range broadly across the thematic ground of dichotomies traditions and revisions microscopic and macroscopic perspectives women and embodiment and the notion of play and performance Positioning eighteenth century tinkers ballads alongside medieval Hebrew lyrics and the Blues of Gorgeous Puddin or making Dionysus rub shoulders with Sharon Olds and Mrs Rochester provides new perspectives on familiar material and valuable insights into more obscure work and the nature of sensual poetry as a mode of expression As the editors suggest the essays and poems presented collectively argue that writings about sexuality are always already about the way poets see and represent our bodies the world and poetic language itself

Beautiful Enemies Andrew Epstein,2006-09-21 Although it has long been commonplace to imagine the archetypal American poet singing a solitary Song of Myself much of the most enduring American poetry has actually been preoccupied with the drama of friendship In this lucid and absorbing study Andrew Epstein argues that an obsession with both the pleasures and problems of friendship erupts in the New American Poetry that emerges after the Second World War By focusing on some of the most significant postmodernist American poets the New York School poets John Ashbery Frank O Hara and their close contemporary Amiri Baraka Beautiful Enemies reveals a fundamental paradox at the heart of postwar American poetry and culture the avant garde s commitment to individualism and nonconformity runs directly counter to its own valorization of community and collaboration In fact Epstein demonstrates that the clash between friendship and nonconformity complicates the legendary alliances forged by postwar poets becomes a predominant theme in the poetry they created and leaves contemporary writers with a complicated legacy to negotiate Rather than simply celebrating friendship and poetic community as nurturing and inspiring these poets represent friendship as a kind of exhilarating maddening contradiction a site of attraction and repulsion affinity and rivalry Challenging both the reductive critiques of American individualism and the idealized heavily biographical celebrations of literary camaraderie one finds in much critical discussion this book provides a new interpretation of the peculiar dynamics of American avant garde poetic communities and the role of the individual within them By situating his extensive and revealing readings of these highly influential poets against the backdrop of Cold War cultural politics and within the context of American pragmatist thought Epstein uncovers the collision between radical self reliance and the siren call of the interpersonal at the core of postwar American poetry Fables of Representation Paul Hoover,2010-06-02 From the acclaimed author of Winter Mirror and Rehearsal in Black Fables of Representation is a powerful collection of essays on the state of contemporary poetry free from the stultifying theoretical jargon of recent literary history With its title essay Fables of Representation one of the most cogent studies ever written of the New York School of poets a group that includes the influential poet John Ashbery this book is required reading for anyone who seeks to understand the poetry and culture of the postmodern period Author Paul Hoover s wide ranging subjects include African American interdisciplinary studies the position of poetry in the electronic age the notion of doubleness in the work of Harryette Mullen and others the lyricism of the New York School poets and the role of reality in American poetry

Hoover also introduces two provocative essays sure to generate attention and discussion The Postmodern Era A Final Exam and The New Millennium Fifty Statements on Literature and Culture Paul Hoover is the editor of the anthology Postmodern American Poetry and author of nine poetry collections including Totem and Shadow New and Selected Poems and Viridian His poetry has appeared in American Poetry Review The New Republic and The Paris Review among others He is Poet in Residence at Columbia College Chicago American Poets Since World War II. Joseph Mark Conte, 1996 Bibliographical biographical and evaluative commentary of contemporary American poets who published since 1945 Frank O'Hara and the Poetics of Saying 'I' Micah Mattix, 2011-03-03 While recent works of criticism on Frank O'Hara have focused on the technical similarities between his poetry and painting or between his use of language and poststructuralism Frank O'Hara and the Poetics of Saying I argues that what is most significant in O'Hara's work is not such much his borrowing from painters or his proto-Derridean use of language but his preoccupation with self-exploration and the temporal effects of his work as artifacts Following Pasternak's understanding of artistic inspiration as an act of love for the material world O'Hara explores moments of experience in an effort to both complicate and enrich our experience of the material world On the one hand in poems such as Second Avenue for example O'Hara works to muddy language through which experience is in part mediated with the use of parataxis allusions and absurd metaphors and similes On the other in his I do this I do that poems he names the events of his lunch hour in an effort among other things to experience time as a moment of fullness rather than as a moment of loss The book argues furthermore that O'Hara's view of the self as both an expression of the creative force at work in the world and as the temporal aggregate of finite experiences places him between so-called Romantic and postmodern theories of the lyric While it is often argued that O'Hara is a forerunner of a new critically informed materialist poetics this study concludes that O'Hara's work is somewhat less radical in its understanding of poetic meaning than is often claimed Moreover while O'Hara is preoccupied with his experience in his poems the book argues that he espouses in some respects a rather traditional view of love In addition to being a metaphor for the creative act love for O'Hara is the chance coming together of two entities Yet one of the ironies of this is that while love is for O'Hara a feeling that is the result of movement or the unexpected coming together of two otherwise separ

Spatial Poetics Yasmine Shamma, 2018-09-12 What is the relationship between the spaces we inhabit and the spaces we create Does living in a messy downtown New York City apartment automatically translate to writing a messy New York School poem This volume addresses the environment of the urban apartment illuminating the relationship between the structures of New York City apartments and that of New York School poems It utilizes the lens of urban and spatial theory to widen the possibilities afforded by New Critical and reader response readings of this postmodern American poetry In drawing this connection between consciousness and form it draws on various senses of the environment as informing influence inviting avant-garde American poetry to be reconsidered as uniquely organic in its responsiveness to its surroundings Focusing exclusively and comprehensively on Second Generation

Writing as Enlightenment John Whalen-Bridge, Gary Storhoff, 2011-08-01 This timely book explores how Buddhist inflected thought has enriched contemporary American literature Continuing the work begun in The Emergence of Buddhist American Literature editors John Whalen Bridge and Gary Storhoff and the volume's contributors turn to the most recent developments revealing how mid 1970s through early twenty first century literature has employed Buddhist texts principles and genres Just as Buddhism underwent indigenization when it moved from India to Tibet to China and to Japan it is now undergoing that process in the United States While some will find literary creativity in this process others lament a loss of authenticity The book begins with a look at the American reception of Zen and at the approaches to Dharma developed by African Americans The work of consciously Buddhist and Buddhist influenced writers such as Don DeLillo Gary Snyder and Jackson Mac Low is analyzed and a final section of the volume contains interviews and discussions with contemporary Buddhist writers These include an interview with Gary Snyder a discussion with Maxine Hong Kingston and Charles Johnson and discussions of competing American and Asian values at the Beat and Buddhist inspired writing program at Naropa University with poets Joanne Kyger Reed Bye Keith Abbott Andrew Schelling and Elizabeth Robinson

The Meaning of Form in Contemporary Innovative Poetry Robert

Sheppard,2016-10-05 This study engages the life of form in contemporary innovative poetries through both an introduction to the latest theories and close readings of leading North American and British innovative poets The critical approach derives from Robert Sheppard s axiomatic contention that poetry is the investigation of complex contemporary realities through the means meanings of form Analyzing the poetry of Rosmarie Waldrop Caroline Bergval Sean Bonney Barry MacSweeney Veronica Forrest Thomson Kenneth Goldsmith Allen Fisher and Geraldine Monk Sheppard argues that their forms are a matter of authorial design and readerly engagement Tricksters and Cosmopolitans Rei Magosaki,2016-08-01 Tricksters and Cosmopolitans is the first sustained exploration into the history of cross cultural collaborations between Asian American writers and their non Asian American editors and publishers The volume focuses on the literary production of the cosmopolitan subject featuring the writers Sui Sin Far Jessica Hagedorn Karen Tei Yamashita Monique Truong and Min Jin Lee The newly imagined cosmopolitan subject that emerges from their works dramatically reconfigured Asian American female subjectivity in metropolitan space with a kind of fluidity and ease never before seen But as Rei Magosaki shows these narratives also invariably expose the problematic side of this figure which also serves to perpetuate exploitative structures of Western imperialism and its legacies in late capitalism Arguing that the actual establishment of such a critical standpoint on imperialism and globalization required the expansive and internationalist vision of editors who supported cultivated and promoted these works Tricksters and Cosmopolitans reveals the negotiations between these authors and their publishers and between the shared investment in both politics and aesthetics that influenced the narrative structure of key works in the Asian American literary canon Gossamurmur Anne Waldman,2013-04-30 A fascinating new work from an internationally renowned poet Acclaimed for her visionary incantatory verse and her experimental ethos Anne Waldman s newest book length poem is an allegory of a radical spirit in lockdown dominated by Deciders and Imposters who threaten the future of poetry and its archive A doppelganger nightmare ensues the imposter Anne is a succubus and the original Anne has to break free from a metaphorical castle of torture and psychological domination There are travels through Vedic cosmology and ancient Japan before resolution on a treeless tundra where fragile life forms struggle to survive Waldman s oracular poem is a witty meditation on identity theft and a searing plea for the primacy of imagination and for collective sanity in our provocative yet precarious time All Poets Welcome Daniel Kane,2003-03-26 Together with its accompanying CD this text captures the excitement of the vibrant irreverent poetry scene of New York s Lower East Side in the 1960s The text draws from personal interviews with many of the participants from unpublished letters and from rare sound recordings
