Reading For Rhetoric Applications:

Reading for Rhetoric Caroline Shrodes, Clifford Anthon Josephson, James R. Wilson, 1979-01-01      Reading for Rhetoric: Applications to Writing Caroline Shrodes, Clifford Anthon Josephson, James R. Wilson, 1975      Readings in Rhetorical Fieldwork Samantha Senda-Cook, Aaron Hess, Michael Middleton, Danielle Endres, 2018-09-05

Readings in Rhetorical Fieldwork compiles foundational articles highlighting the development of fieldwork in rhetorical criticism. Presenting a wide variety of approaches, the volume begins with a section establishing the starting points for the development of fieldwork in rhetorical criticism and then examines five topics: Space, Public Memory, Publics and Counterpublics, Advocacy and Activism, and Science, Technology, and Medicine. Within these sections, readers evaluate a full spectrum of methods from interviews to oral histories to participant observation. This volume is invaluable for advanced undergraduate and graduate students of rhetorical criticism, rhetorical fieldwork, and qualitative methods looking for a comprehensive overview of the development of rhetorical fieldwork.

Reading for Rhetoric: Applications to Writing, 1972      Reading and Writing for Civic Literacy Donald Lazere, 2015-12-03

This brief edition of a groundbreaking textbook addresses the need for college students to develop critical reading, writing, and thinking skills for self-defense in the contentious arena of American civic rhetoric. Designed for first-year or more advanced composition and critical thinking courses, it is one-third shorter than the original edition, more affordable for students, and easier for teachers to cover in a semester or quarter. It incorporates up-to-date new readings and analysis of controversies like the growing inequality of wealth in America and the debates in the 2008 presidential campaign expressed in opposing viewpoints from the political left and right. Exercises help students understand the ideological positions and rhetorical patterns that underlie such opposing views. Widely debated issues of whether objectivity is possible and whether there is a liberal or conservative bias in news and entertainment media, as well as in education itself, are foregrounded as topics for rhetorical analysis.

Media and Communication Research Methods Arthur Asa Berger, 2015-10-15

Media and Communication Research Methods, Fourth Edition, is a concise and practical text designed to give students a step-by-step introduction to conducting media and communication research. Offering real-world insights along with the author's signature animated style, this text makes the discussion of complex qualitative and quantitative methods easy to comprehend. Packed with detailed examples and practical exercises, the Fourth Edition of this bestselling introductory text includes a new chapter on discourse analysis, expanded discussion of social media, expanded coverage of the research process, and more. Ideal for undergraduate and graduate students conducting research, for the first time, this accessible text will help students understand practice and master media and communication research.

Adams, 2020-07-27 This book develops a new and innovative way of understanding how language is used when people describe their spiritual and mystical encounters Early chapters provide overviews of the nature of spiritual encounters how commonly they occur and the role of language The book then develops a unique way of understanding the dynamics of talking about spirituality using original research to support this perspective In particular Peter J Adams explores how this characteristically vague way of speaking can be viewed as an intentional and not an incidental aspect of such communications because certain types of vagueness have the capacity to engage the imaginative participation of receptive listeners This expressive vagueness is achieved by embedding missing bits or gaps in the flow of what is described and these in turn provide sites for listeners to insert their own content Later chapters focus on practical ways people including helping professionals can improve their skills in talking about their spiritual encounters All content is situated in café conversations between four people each of whom is in their own way concerned with the challenges they face in converting the content of their encounters into words 110 Amazing Apps for Education Rane Anderson, 2012-02-01 Here's an easy to use quick reference guide for apps that supplement student learning It gives suggestions for how teachers can implement each app in the classroom and for how parents can use the apps at home to extend their child's learning This resource is correlated to the Common Core State Standards is aligned to the interdisciplinary themes from the Partnership for 21st Century Skills and supports core concepts of STEM instruction 136pp Ethical Programs James J. Brown, 2015-09-09 Living in a networked world means never really getting to decide in any thoroughgoing way who or what enters your space your laptop your iPhone your thermostat your home With this as a basic frame of reference James J Brown's Ethical Programs examines and explores the rhetorical potential and problems of a hospitality ethos suited to a new era of hosts and guests Brown reads a range of computational strategies and actors including the general principles underwriting the Transmission Control Protocol TCP which determines how packets of information can travel through the internet to the Obama election campaign's use of the power of protocols to reach voters harvest their data incentivize and ultimately shape their participation in the campaign In demonstrating the kind of rhetorical spaces networked software establishes and the access it permits prevents and molds Brown makes a major contribution to the emergent discourse of software studies as a major component of efforts in broad fields including media studies rhetorical studies and cultural studies

The Ethics of Reading in Manuscript Culture John Dagenais, 1994-02-18 Reexamining the roles played by author reader scribe and text in medieval literary practice John Dagenais argues that the entire physical manuscript must be the basis of any discussion of how meaning was made Medievalists he maintains have relied too heavily on critical editions that seek to create a single definitive text reflecting an author's intentions In reality manuscripts bear not only authorial texts but also a variety of elements added by scribes and readers glosses marginal notes pointing hands illuminations and fragments of other seemingly unrelated works Using the surviving manuscripts of the fourteenth century Libro de buen amor a work that has been read both as didactic treatise on spiritual love and as a celebration of sensual pleasures Dagenais shows how consideration of the physical manuscripts and their cultural context can shed new light on interpretive issues that have puzzled modern readers Dagenais also addresses the theory and practice of reading in the Middle Ages showing that for medieval readers the text on the manuscript leaf including the text of the Libro was primarily rhetorical and ethical in nature It spoke to them directly individually always in the present moment Exploring the margins of the manuscripts of the Libro and of other Iberian works Dagenais reveals how medieval readers continually reshaped their texts both physically and ethically as they read and argues that the context of medieval manuscript culture forces us to reconsider such comfortable received notions as text and literature and the theories we have based upon them
