Reading Race In American Poetry:

Reading Race Aldon Lynn Nielsen, 1988 Reading Race examines the work of twentieth century white American poets from Carl Sandburg to Adrienne Rich from Ezra Pound to Allen Ginsberg revealing within their poetry and casual writings a body of literature that transmits racism even as it sometimes speaks against it Tracing the persistence of racial discourse Aldon Nielsen argues that white Americans throughout their history have used a language of their own primacy a language that treats blacks as an abstract other an aggregate nonwhite to be acted upon and determined by whites White discourse drapes over blacks an intricate veil of images and understandings assertions of inferiority metaphors of exoticism similes of animals tropes of fertility nothingness and death through which whites read race and beneath which blacks remain imprisoned Words Nielsen writes create and maintain relationships of power as surely as do prisons and arms Speaking of the discourse of race in America Nielsen identifies dead metaphors words images ideas that operate in much the same way as the charged detail of Pound or the objective correlative of T S Eliot Embedded in the language they are instantly recognizable to the native speaker Poets when they draw upon these metaphors demand racist thinking in order to be understood

Literature and Race in the Democracy of Goods Christopher Albert Chen, 2021 This book conducts a comparative study of three literary traditions post 1960 Asian American Asian Canadian and Black experimental poetry which are usually examined separately In so doing it intervenes in conventional understandings of postwar North American racial formation and argues that through poetry we can examine the intersection between race and capitalism Arguing that contemporary Black Asian American and Asian Canadian poets such as Myung Mi Kim Nathaniel Mackey Larissa Lai and Erica Hunt challenge established definitions of race this book develops an account of experimental poetry's understanding of race as a range of relational configurations of subjects within racial groups and across racial divisions In
