

Financial Accounting Applications

WEEK 1 - INTRODUCTION TO FINANCIAL ACCOUNTING APPLICATIONS

Financial & Management Accounting

Financial Accounting is the preparation and presentation of financial information that enables users to make economic decisions regarding the entity/business. General Purpose Financial Statements (GPFS) are prepared to meet the information needs common to users who are unable to command reports to suit their own needs. Special Purpose Financial Statements are prepared to suit a specific purpose and do not cater for the generalised needs common to most users.

This information is governed by the generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP), which provide accounting standards for preparing financial statements. Financial accounting is also guided by rules set out in the Corporations Act and the Listing Rules of the ASX. Financial accounting is traditionally based on historical figures that stem from the original transaction; for example, the purchase of a building for $500,000 would be shown in the financial statement as an asset of $500,000. Even though the 500K may not reflect the current market value of the building, the building is still shown at its historical cost, which is the original amount paid for the asset.

Management accounting is a field of accounting that provides economic information for internal users, that is, owners and management. The core activities of management accounting include formulating plans and budgets, and providing information to be used in the monitoring and control of different parts of an entity. Management accounting reports are bound by few rules and are therefore less formal.

The Process of Accounting

Identifying	Measuring	Communicating	Decision making
Transactions that affect the entity's financial position are taken into consideration. They must be able to be reliably measured and recorded.	This stage includes the analysis, recording and classification of business transactions.	Accounting information is communicated through various reports such as the statement of profit or loss, statement of financial positions and statement of cash flows.	Accounting information is used for a range of decisions by external and internal users.

Reading Between the Lines of Corporate Financial Reports
Jacek Welc, 2020-11-28 This book provides a digestible step by step guide to reading corporate financial reports drawing upon real life case studies and examples of corporate collapses and accounting scandals and applying practical tools to financial statement analysis Appealing to a range of practitioners within corporate finance including investors managers and business analysts this book is the first to specifically address the challenges facing those who are not professional accountants and auditors when examining corporate financial reports Corporate financial reports are used widely by managers investors creditors and government agencies to examine company performance and evaluate potential risks However although seemingly an invaluable source of information for managerial decision making financial reports are often based on rough simplifications of a very complex reality With no way of avoiding deliberate manipulations and fraudulent activity these statements cannot be relied on completely when selecting stocks or evaluating credit risk and therefore poor analysis can lead to potentially disastrous investment decisions The author suggests that in order to effectively interpret corporate financial reports we must read between the lines to accurately assess a company's economic performance and predict its long term viability
