Climbing the Mountain Paul Stoller, Mitchel Stoller, 2015-11-28 You have cancer Three words that will change your life forever The diagnosis is often followed by surgery chemotherapy radiation therapy and many other stress inducing treatments Your future will seem like an insurmountable mountain John a 50 year old corporate lawyer found himself facing this exact situation when he was diagnosed with a low grade follicular lymphoma But John was determined to win his fight Doing research on how to cope with cancer he found a way to cope with it and is now in long term remission Using his story the authors provide a guide to climbing that mountain They show how using preparation research practice exercise and activity and a variety of social supports to live well within the parameters that cancer imposes can help you deal with the disease They consider how to cope with the stresses and strains of diagnosis first treatment short term remission second treatment long term remission and palliative care In particular the authors stress the important relationship between exercise activity and well being

Myth and Ritual in Women's Detective Fiction Christine A. Jackson, 2015-10-02 The relationship between traditional myths fairytales and current fiction novels featuring women as crime solvers is examined in this critical study Using theories from Joseph Campbell C G Jung and others the author asserts that plots and imagery in these novels conform to quest narratives outlined in classical myths and traditional fairytales Narcissus Medusa Orpheus and Orestes are a few of the figures emerging in today's mystery fiction Among the mystery authors discussed are Patricia Cornwell Amanda Cross Sue Grafton P D James Sara Paretsky and Julie Smith After establishing the anatomy of a mystery the text discusses many myths rituals and rites associated with mysteries including myths of identity religion and rites of initiation

Women's Rites Diann L. Neu, 2003 Neu presents an assortment of new feminist liturgies that celebrate and pay tribute to women's physical spiritual and emotional rites of passage Liturgies include Honoring Women's Blood Mysteries Making Reproductive Choices Creating Community Times of Mourning Going on from Here

The Five Ways We Grieve Susan A. Berger, 2011-03-08 In this new approach to understanding the impact of grief Susan A Berger goes beyond the commonly held theories of stages of grief with a new typology for self awareness and personal growth She offers practical advice for healing from a major loss in this presentation of five basic ways or types of grieving These five types describe how different people respond to a major loss The types are Nomads who have not yet resolved their grief and don't often understand how their loss has affected their lives Memorialists who are committed to preserving the memory of their loved ones by creating concrete memorials and rituals to honor them Normalizers who are committed to re-creating a sense of family and community Activists who focus on helping other people who are dealing with the same disease or issues that caused their loved one's death Seekers who adopt religious philosophical or spiritual beliefs to create meaning in their lives Drawing on research results and anecdotes from working with the bereaved over the past ten years Berger examines how a person's worldview is affected after a major loss. According to her findings, people experience significant changes in their sense of mortality, their values and priorities, their perception of and orientation toward time, and the manner in which they fit in society. The five types of grieving she finds reflect the choices people make in their efforts to adapt to dramatic life changes. By identifying with one of the types, readers who have suffered a recent loss or whose lives have been shaped by an early loss find ways of understanding the impact of the loss and of living more fully.

Return blessings Diann L. Neu, 2002 Diann L. Neu's earliest childhood memories are intertwined with the blessings of the Earth. She grew up interacting passionately with nature and first came to know God through the rhythms of the seasons. She writes, "Nature taught me about the Divine and prayer." The book probes the interrelatedness of ecology and feminism. Neu vividly describes how ecofeminism values women and nature and seeks to resist their associated exploitation and domination. Using the framework of the four seasons, she presents sixteen liturgies designed to celebrate the sacred power that originates and emanates from the Earth. Neu prompts readers to reflect on issues of ecojustice and invites participants to pray and work for the healing of the Earth and freeing all creation from the devastation of racism, colonialism, classism, and gender privilege.

Handbook of Girls' and Women's Psychological Health Carol D. Goodheart, 2006 The Handbook of Girls and Women's Psychological Health presents a contemporary view of psychological health for girls and women that integrates psychology, physiology, society, and culture. A range of 50 chapters integrates current research, scholarship, and practice on the risks and protective factors that influence women's health and well-being across the life span. Within a biopsychosocial framework, the Handbook explores mind and body risks and resilience, research and interventions, cultural diversity, and public policy. This Handbook underscores the importance of gender in the lives of girls and women developmentally across significant phases of the life span. Considering the importance of cultural context, this book illustrates how gender socialization in female development and behavior affects self-evaluation, identity processes, and the social roles that girls and women adopt. Its chapters illustrate how externally induced risks, such as poverty, discrimination, and violence, present challenges to healthy development. Significantly, the chapters also draw attention to long-overlooked and compelling strengths and capacities that provide a firm basis for growth and health.

Across the Lifespan Thomas W. Miller,2009-11-28 This volume provides a unique and valuable contribution to our understanding of the impact of stressful life events and mass trauma on the person the culture and society in the course of the life span It provides a comprehensive look at our psychological state of affairs at the beginning of the twenty first century There are several volumes that address some or most of these areas individually but this volume is unique in that it has brought together theoreticians researchers and clinicians who address critical challenges in our lives But we are now several months into the global financial crisis requiring a transition not only for the western world but for the third world How on earth do families in trauma zones from Sri Lanka to Afghanistan New Orleans to Gaza cope with similar declining older relatives with added traumas and zero medical resources attempt to survive In news reports politicians and financiers denying the inevitable and struggling for solutions that cannot be relevant to the new reality that they have yet to discover

In Our Own Voices Jayne K. Guberman,2005 Spiritual Needs & Pastoral Services Larry VandeCreek,2010-11-01 What do spiritual needs health care pastoral services religious resources statistics and quantitative research methods have in common Traditional literature in the pastoral care counseling and education movement probably would say Not a great deal Indeed the pastoral arts and sciences have tended to be high on art especially praxis but relatively low on science especially quantitative research That's too bad claims Dr Larry VandeCreek who has gathered together a sample of previously published but widely scattered research reports which he hopes will inform hospital chaplains congregational pastors hospital personnel and theological students on ways in which knowledge gained from carefully designed research can enhance their project of care Selecting only quantitative research reports the volume explores such topics as the role of spirituality in terminally ill hospitalized patients the demonstrated helpfulness of prayer in health crisis the possible impact of hope among women with breast cancer the role and impact of chaplaincy services in general hospitals as well as other studies demonstrating a variety of relationships between spirituality and health care Cumulated Index Medicus ,1999

Palliative Care Nursing Marianne Matzo,Deborah Witt Sherman,2006 Annotation Offering a blend of holistic and humanistic caring coupled with aggressive management of pain and symptoms associated with advanced disease this resource is organized around 15 competencies in palliative care developed by the American Association of Colleges of Nursing with each chapter outlining specific skills needed to achieve each competency Religion and Recovery from PTSD Harold Koenig,Donna Ames,Michelle Pearce,2019-12-19 This volume focuses on the role that religion and spirituality can play in recovery from post traumatic stress disorder PTSD and other forms of trauma including moral injury Religious texts from the Bible to Buddhist scriptures have always contained passages that focus on helping those who have experienced the trauma of war Many religions have developed psychological social behavioral and spiritual ways of coping and healing that can work in tandem with clinical treatments today in assisting recovery from PTSD and moral injury In this book the authors review and discuss systematic research into how religion helps people cope with severe trauma including trauma caused by natural disasters intentional interpersonal violence or combat experiences during war They delve into the impact that spirituality has in both the development of and recovery from PTSD Beyond reviewing research they also use case vignettes throughout to illustrate the very human story of recovery from PTSD and how religious or spiritual beliefs can both help or hinder depending on circumstance A vital work for any mental health or religious professionals who seek to help people dealing with severe trauma and loss
