from the state's three geographic regions Lee Smith and Fred Chappell from the mountains Doris Betts and Clyde Edgerton from the Piedmont and Reynolds Price and Randall Kenan from the coastal plain The work of these six writers is explored within the broader southern literary tradition with attention to how they have revised such modes as pastoral family saga and southwestern humor in order to portray their own regional experiences Although these writers celebrate the egalitarianism at the heart of the yeoman ideal they also expose the forms of racism sexism and classism that have also marked the state's history

Southern Writers Joseph M. Flora, Amber Vogel, 1980-09-01 Biographical sketches of 378 writers associated with the American South are included in this important new reference work Compiled by 172 scholars these summaries many of which are not readily available elsewhere provide in their total effect a brief history of southern literature from colonial times to the present The volume is in part a companion to A Bibliographical Guide to the Study of Southern Literature Louis D. Rubin Jr. ed. a work that has become a standard reference for anyone seriously interested in the literature of the South With its wealth of essential biographical information on the region's writers both major and minor this new guide will take its place alongside that earlier volume as an invaluable aid to the study of southern writing Especially useful will be complete listings of the first printings of the books by each writer provided after the respective summaries Included as contributors of the individual biographical summaries are most of the better known scholars of southern literature plus a number of promising young scholars The editors each of whom is an outstanding scholar in southern literary studies are Focus on the Media John Northrop, Jr. ,Steve Suitts,Allen Tullos,Candace Waid,Larry Goodwyn,Gloria Blackwell,Sue Thrasher,Leonard Conway,John English,Bruce MacMurdo,David Underhill,Diane Thomas,Steve Cummings,David Doggett,Steve Hoffius, The South has a remarkable record of producing more than its share of talented writers Names like Faulkner O Connor Wolfe Warren Welty readily come to mind Less noticed however is the region's equally distinguished contribution in the field of journalism Among national broadcasters editors and writers who started in the South are Tom Wicker Walter Cronkite David Brinkley Clifton Daniel Willie Morris Robert Sherrill Nelson Benton Charles Kuralt Larry King Marshall Frady Frank McGee Why has the South produced so many creative journalists and why would so many go North We can't be sure But a couple of thoughts come to mind First Southerners do seem to have a certain romance with the written and spoken word There is a relish for sounds unique expressions and the embellished story Reporting like conversation has always demanded more than the exchange of a few facts and many of our brethren have been only too willing to turn their preoccupation with language and penchant for irrelevant detail into successful careers

History of Southern Women's Literature allows readers both to explore individual authors and to follow the developing arc of various genres across time. Conduct books and slave narratives, Civil War diaries and letters, the antebellum postbellum, and modern novel, autobiography and memoirs, poetry, magazine and newspaper writing, these and more receive close attention. Over seventy contributors are represented here and their essays discuss a wealth of women's issues from four centuries: race, urbanization and feminism, the myth of southern womanhood, preset images and assigned social roles from the belle to the mammy and real life behind the facade of meeting others' expectations, poverty and the labor movement, responses to Uncle Tom's Cabin and the influence of Gone with the Wind. The history of southern women's literature tells ultimately the story of the search for freedom within an insidious tradition, to quote Ellen Glasgow. This teeming volume validates the deep contributions and pleasures of an impressive body of writing and marks a major achievement in women's and literary studies.

A biographical encyclopedia of American and British Christian-themed writers from World War II to the present, covering acclaimed literary works and popular evangelical fiction. Encyclopedia of Contemporary Christian Fiction From C. S. Lewis to Left Behind spans the entire breadth of Christian-themed British and American writing from World War II to the present, well-known and less familiar authors, acclaimed literary novels and popular writing in a variety of genres: mysteries, thrillers, romances, works that explore matters of faith, works that challenge orthodoxy and church practices, and works wholly written by and for devout evangelicals. Encyclopedia of Contemporary Christian Fiction offers 90 alphabetically organized entries covering the field's most important writers. Each entry includes a brief biography, religious and educational background, a survey of major works and themes, and a summary of critical response as well as a bibliography of major works and criticism. By examining evocative, sometimes overlooked Christian elements in modern fiction and by exploring the depth and scope of popular evangelical fiction, Encyclopedia of Contemporary Christian Fiction offers the richest, most complete portrait of the role of faith in modern English writing ever published. The Greensboro Review, 1969.
