Sustainable Development: The Spiritual Dimension Krishan Saigal,2008 The concept of sustainable development was accepted by the world leaders in Rio de Janerio in 1992 The concept was vague and this is natural when an international consensus has to be achieved It was also based implicitly on the dominant Western paradigm with its stress on science and technology its stress on management of technology and the meshing of economics and ecology as the answer to the environmental crisis Value systems were not included in the concept of sustainable development The book studies the Eastern paradigm base on the concepts and values of Hinduism Buddhism and Islam and suggests that for a truly global ethic the Western and Eastern paradigms need to be integrated This can be done through the mediation of modern science easily for the best of the prosperity

volume provides alternative frames for understanding the phenomenon of conversion and studies how the scriptures of other religious traditions are used in the practice of Christianity within Asia Krsna and Christ Steven Tsoukalas, 2011-09-01

This work compares the Krsnavatara Krsna in his avatara doctrines of Sankara and Ramanuja and the incarnation of Christ as represented by classical Christian orthodoxy and draws out comparative theological and soteriological implications. It does so first by examining the epistemologies, theologies, and world views of Sankara and Ramanuja and the theology and world view of classical Christian orthodoxy so that second an adequate foundation and subsequent thorough representation of avatara and incarnation might be accomplished in order that third accurate comparisons may be drawn between avatara and incarnation. The result of this study is a demonstration that many of the popularly held similarities between avatara and incarnation are superficial and that therefore careful consideration of epistemologies and ontologies should be undertaken when comparing theologies and soteriologies pertinent to avatara and incarnation Cistercian Studies Quarterly, 1998
