Romanesque Sculpture Millard Fillmore Hearn, 1985

Façade as Spectacle Carolyn Marino Malone, 2004-01-01

This interdisciplinary study interprets the facade of Wells Cathedral as an integral part of thirteenth century Church liturgy and politics. The facade promoted the aims of the church of Wells, the Fourth Lateran Council and the English Church and State following Magna Carta. Art And Architecture In Medieval France Whitney S. Stoddard, 2018-02-20. This is an English language study on the architecture and art of medieval France of the Romanesque and Gothic periods between 1000-1500. In addition to essays on individual monuments, there are general discussions of given periods and specific problems such as why did Gothic come into being. Whitney Stoddard explores the interrelationship between all forms of medieval ecclesiastical art and characterization of the Gothic cathedral, which he believes to have an almost metaphysical basis. Culture and Society in Medieval Galicia, 2015-07-28. In Culture and Society in Medieval Galicia, twenty-three international authors examine Galicia's changing place in Iberia, Europe, and the Mediterranean and Atlantic worlds from late antiquity through the thirteenth century. With articles on art and architecture, religion and the church, law and society, politics and historiography, language and literature, and learning and textual culture, the authors introduce medieval Galicia and current research on the region to medievalists, Hispanists, and students of regional culture and society. The cult of St James, Santiago Cathedral, and the pilgrimage to Compostela are highlighted and contextualized to show how Galicia's remoteness became the basis for a paradoxical centrality in medieval art, culture, and religion. History of Construction Cultures Volume 1 João Mascarenhas-Mateus, Ana Paula Pires, 2021-08-01.

History of Construction Cultures Volume 1 contains papers presented at the 7ICCH Seventh International Congress on Construction History held at the Lisbon School of Architecture, Portugal, from 12 to 16 July 2021. The conference has been organized by the Lisbon School of Architecture, FAUL NOVA School of Social Sciences and Humanities, the Portuguese Society for Construction History Studies, and the University of the Azores. The contributions cover the wide interdisciplinary spectrum of Construction History and consist of the most recent advances in theory and practical case studies, analysis following themes such as epistemological issues, building actors, building materials, building machines, tools and equipment, construction processes, building services and techniques, structural theory and analysis, political, social and economic aspects, knowledge transfer and cultural translation of construction cultures. Furthermore, papers presented at thematic sessions aim at covering important problematics, historical periods and different regions of the globe, opening new directions for Construction History research. We are what we build and how we build; thus, the study of Construction History is now more than ever at the centre of current debates as to the shape of a sustainable future for humankind Therefore History of Construction Cultures is a critical and indispensable work to expand our understanding of the ways in which everyday building activities have been perceived and experienced in different cultures from ancient times to our century and all over the world Women Medievalists and the Academy, Volume 1 Jane Chance, 2018-05-22 Long overlooked in standard reference works pioneering women medievalists finally receive their due in Women Medievalists and the Academy This comprehensive edited volume brings to life a diverse collection of inspiring figures through memoirs biographical essays and interviews Covering many different nationalities and academic disciplines including literature philology history archaeology art history theology or religious studies and philosophy each essay delves into one woman's life intellectual contributions and efforts to succeed in a male dominated field Together these extraordinary personal histories constitute a new standard reference that speaks to a growing interest in women's roles in the development of scholarship and the academy The collection begins in the eighteenth century with Elizabeth Elstob and continues to the present and includes among more than seventy profiles such important figures as Anna Jameson Lina Eckenstein Georgiana Goddard King Eileen Power Dorothy L Sayers Dorothy Whitelock Susan Mosher Stuard Marcia Colish and Caroline Walker Bynum among others Image and Incarnation Walter Melion, Lee Palmer Wandel, 2015-09-01 The doctrine of the Incarnation was wellspring and catalyst for theories of images verbal material and spiritual Section I Representing the Mystery of the Incarnation takes up questions about the representability of the mystery Section II Imago Dei and the Incarnate Word investigates how Christ's status as the image of God was seen to license images material and spiritual Section III Literary Figurations of the Incarnation considers the verbal production of images contemplating the divine and human nature of Christ Section IV Transformative Analogies of Matter and Spirit delves into ways that material properties and processes in their effects on the beholder were analogized to Christ's hypostasis Section V Visualizing the Flesh of Christ considers the relation between the Incarnation and the Passion Crusading and Archaeology Vardit R. Feltman, Sarah Thompson, 2019-03-08 Traditional histories of medieval art and architecture often privilege the moment of a work s creation yet surviving works designated as medieval have long and expansive lives

Many have extended prehistories emerging from their sites and contexts of creation and most have undergone a variety of interventions including adaptations and restorations since coming into being. The lives of these works have been further extended through historiography, museum exhibitions and digital media. Inspired by the literary category of biography and the methods of longue durée, historians, the introduction and seventeen chapters of this volume provide an extended meditation on the longevity of medieval works of art and the aspect of time as a factor in shaping our interpretations of them. While the metaphor of lives invokes associations with the origin of the discipline, the focus is shifted away from temporal constraints of a single human lifespan or generation to consider the continued lives of medieval works even into our present moment. Chapters on works from the modern countries of Italy, France, England, Spain and Germany are drawn together here by the thematic threads of essence and continuity, transformation, memory and oblivion, and restoration. Together they tell an object-oriented history of art and architecture that is necessarily entangled with numerous individuals and institutions.

Medieval Art Veronica Sekules, 2001-04-26. This refreshing new look at Medieval art conveys a very real sense of the impact of art on everyday life in Europe from 1000 to 1500. It examines the importance of art in the expression and spread of knowledge and ideas, including notions of the heroism and justice of war and the dominant view of Christianity. Taking its starting point from issues of contemporary relevance such as the environment, the identity of the artist and the position of women, the book also highlights the attitudes and events specific to the sophisticated visual culture of the Middle Ages and goes on to link this period to the Renaissance. The fascinating question of whether commercial and social activities between countries encouraged similar artistic taste and patronage or contributed to the defining of cultural difference in Europe is fully explored.

Cistercian Architecture and Medieval Society Maximilian Sternberg, 2013-08-15. In Cistercian Architecture and Medieval Society, Maximilian Sternberg offers an account of the social functions of the built environment in medieval monasticism. Few medieval monuments hold so privileged a place in the modern imagination as Cistercian abbeys, yet Sternberg suggests it is precisely our own peculiarly modern fascination with the idea of Cistercian aesthetics that has hindered a full view of the complex social meanings of their architecture. This book draws attention instead to the practical and symbolic means by which architecture helped the Cistercians to negotiate the dense web of relations that in actuality bound them to other spheres of medieval society. It explores the permeability of monastic boundaries and considers their effectiveness in reconciling a simultaneous need for interaction and distance between monastic communities and these other social spheres.

Art in England Sara N. James, 2016-10-31. Art in England fills a void in the scholarship of both English and medieval art by offering the first single volume overview of artistic movements in Medieval and Early Renaissance England. Grounded in history and using the chronology of the reign of monarchs as a structure, it is contextual and comprehensive, revealing unobserved threads of continuity, patterns of intention and unique qualities that run through English art of the medieval millennium By placing the English movement in a European context this book brings to light many ingenious innovations that focused studies tend not to recognize and offers a fresh look at the movement as a whole The media studied include architecture and related sculpture both ecclesiastical and secular tomb monuments murals panel paintings altarpieces and portraits manuscript illuminations textiles and art by English artists and by foreign artists commissioned by English patrons
