Romania World War I:

Great War and the Romanians Nicolae ne, Nicolae Petrescu-Comnène, 2022-09-01 Written during the First World War this book describes Romania's role in World War I during the critical years of 1916 and 1917. The book analyzes the situation of the Romanians living within the borders of the Austro-Hungarian Empire at the time and the causes for Romania's entry into the war. The author then discusses Romania's contribution to the war effort during 1916 and the first half of 1917. An important record of events for historians interested in the First World War on the Eastern Front, it includes several essential historical documents that illustrate the author's account of the events of the time. The book also has a preface by Albert Thomas, French minister of Armaments and War Production at that time, and Maurice Muret. It is a valuable first-hand account of Romania's involvement in World War I. The author, Nicolae Petrescu-Comnène, was an important Romanian diplomat of the interwar period. He served as ambassador to Switzerland, Germany, and the Vatican, as well as a delegate at the League of Nations, before becoming foreign minister from 1938 to 1939. He authored numerous studies on history, law, and politics.

Topics include: Romania and the Belligerents 1914-1916; Romania's Decision to Intervene; Brătianu and the Entente; June-July 1916; Romania's Entry into the First World War; The Problem of Strategy; The Entente and the Romanian Campaign of 1916; The Romanian Campaign of 1916: Its Impact on the Belligerents; Romania in the First World War: The Years of Engagement 1916-1918; Indifference and Mistrust; Russian-Romanian Collaboration in the Campaign of 1916; Russia, Romania, and France; The Reorganization of the Romanian Front 1916-1917; The Redemption of an Army; The Romanian Campaign of 1917; Romania Leaves the War; The Decision to Sign an Armistice; December 1917; Romania, France, and Bessarabia 1917-1918; Alexandru Marghiloman of Romania; A War Leader; General Henri Berthelot and the Army of the Danube 1918-1919; and The Romanian Intervention in Hungary 1919. Glenn Torrey is professor emeritus of history at Emporia State University in Kansas, USA. Herwig,2003-02-24 This work poses a straightforward yet at the same time perplexing question about World War I Why did it happen Several of the oft cited causes are reviewed and discussed The argument of the alliance systems is inadequate lacking relevance or compelling force The arguments of mass demands those focusing on nationalism militarism and social Darwinism it is argued are insufficient lacking indications of frequency intensity and process how they influenced the various decisions The work focuses on decision making on the choices made by small coteries in Austria Hungary Germany Russia France Britain and elsewhere The decisions made later by leaders in Japan the Ottoman Empire Italy the Balkans and the United States are also explored The final chapters review the basic causes once again An alternative position is advanced one focused on elites and coteries their backgrounds and training and on their unique agendas

History of Romania Kelly Mass, The earliest evidence of human habitation in what is now Romania dates back to prehistoric times but one of the first recorded mentions comes from the writings of the ancient Greek historian Herodotus In his work Histories Book IV written around 440 BC Herodotus described the Getae a Thracian tribe residing in the region that would later become Romania According to Herodotus the Getae were defeated by Persian Emperor Darius the Great during his military campaign against the Scythians This reference marks an important historical mention of the people inhabiting the area The Dacians a branch of the Thracian people are believed to have been closely related to the Getae mentioned by the Greeks The Dacians inhabited a region known

Foreign Aid and State Building in Interwar Romania Doina Anca Cretu,2024-12-10 The decades following World War I were a period of political social and economic transformation for Central and Eastern Europe This book considers the role of foreign aid in Romania between 1918 and 1940 offering a new history of the interrelation between state building and nongovernmental humanitarianism and philanthropy in the interwar period Doina Anca Cretu argues that Romania was a laboratory for transnational intervention as various state builders actively pursued accessed and often instrumentalized American assistance in order to accelerate reconstructive and modernizing projects after World War I At its core this is a study of how local views ambitions and practical agendas framed trajectories of humanitarian and philanthropic endeavors in postimperial Central and Eastern Europe Conversely it is a reflection on the ways that architects and practitioners of foreign aid sought to transfer notions of democracy civilization and modernity within shifting local and national contexts in the aftermath of the war and after the collapse of European empires At the intersection of the history of interwar Europe and international philanthropy and humanitarianism this book s innovative and explicitly transnational approach provides a new framework for understanding the contours of European nationalism in the twentieth century
