Rome In The Age Of Enlightenment The Post Tridentine Syndrome And The Ancient Regime:

Rome in the Age of Enlightenment Hanns Gross, 2004-04-22 This is the only scholarly work in the English language on the city of Rome in the Age of the Enlightenment and the only book in any language to treat this fascinating city in all its multifarious aspects Professor Gross combines extensive archival research with the latest findings of other scholars to produce a uniquely rounded portrait of the papal capital elegantly illustrated with contemporary engravings by Piranesi and others The book is divided into two sections in the first of which Professor Gross discusses the material and institutional structures of the city including its demography economy food supply and judicial systems The second section considers aspects of intellectual cultural and artistic life Professor Gross contends not only that ancien regime Rome witnessed a decline in Counter Reformation fervour but that this decay resulted in a marked dissonance in the political social and cultural life of the city

Rome in the Age of Enlightenment Hanns Gross, 2002 The Jews in Late Ancient Rome L.V. Rutgers, 2021-11-08 It was long believed that Roman Jews lived in complete isolation This book offers a refutation of this thesis It focuses on the Jewish community in third and fourth century Rome and in particular on how this community related to the larger non Jewish world that surrounded it Jewish archaeological remains and Jewish funerary inscriptions from Rome are examined from various angles and compared to pagan and early Christian material and epigraphical remains The author has shown great comprehensiveness thoroughness and accuracy in examining this epigraphic evidence He also discusses the enigmatic legal treatise called the Collatio This volume proposes a new way in which the relationship between Jews and non Jews in late antiquity can be studied As such it is an important and useful addition to the literature on Roman Jewry in the middle Empire

Electing the Pope in Early Modern Italy, 1450-1700 Miles Pattenden, 2017-07-21 Electing the Pope in Early Modern Italy 1450 1700 offers a radical reassessment of the history of early modern papacy constructed through the first major analytical treatment of papal elections in English Papal elections with their ceremonial pomp and high drama are compelling theatre but until now no one has analysed them on the basis of the problems they created for cardinals how were they to agree rules and enforce them How should they manage the interregnum How did they decide for whom to vote How was the new pope to assert himself over a group of men who until just moments before had been his equals and peers This study traces how the cardinals responses to these problems evolved over the period from Martin V s return to Rome in 1420 to Pius VI s departure from it in 1798 placing them in the context of the papacy s wider institutional developments Miles Pattenden argues not only that the elective nature of the papal office was crucial to how papal history unfolded but also that the cardinals of the fifteenth to eighteenth centuries present us with a unique case study for observing the approaches to decision making and problem solving within an elite political group

Baroque Visual Rhetoric Vernon Hyde Minor, 2016-01-28 Intricate expressive given to grandeur and even excess Baroque art as a style is inseparable from the meanings it seeks to convey Vernon Hyde Minor's Baroque Visual Rhetoric probes this combination of style and message and equally importantly the methodological basis on which the critical art historian comes to establish that meaning Drawing on a breathtaking range of critical literature from the German founders of art history as an academic discipline to Heidegger Derrida and de Man Minor considers the issue through a series of Baroque masterpieces Bernini's Baldacchino in St Peter's Basilica the statues in the church of San Giovanni in Laterano Borromini's church of Sant'Ivo alla Sapienza Baciccio's frescoes in the church of Il Gesu the paintings of Philippe de Champaigne and the Corsini Chapel in San Giovanni in Laterano and Commoners Jeremy Black, 2004-09-24 Jeremy Black's revisionist history shows that both thrusting bourgeois Protestant states like the Netherlands and Britain prospered and in Britain's case became a global power. The reactionary Catholic states like Austria and France at various times remained stable until the deluge of the French Revolution. Absolutism was no myth but absolutist states still had to rule with consent. Black weaves these themes into a rich and coherent tapestry to give a clear and authoritative picture of the complexities of the early modern period.

Calomiris, Larry Neal, Nicolas Véron, 2012-11-27 This title begins its description of how we created a financially integrated world by first examining the history of financial globalization from Roman practices and Ottoman finance to Chinese standards, the beginnings of corporate practices and the advent of efforts to safeguard financial stability.

Making a Prince's Museum Carole Paul, Alberta Campitelli, Getty Research Institute, 2000 In 1775 Prince Marcantonio Borghese IV and the architect Antonio Asprucci embarked upon a decorative renovation of the Villa Borghese. Initially their attention focused on the Casino, the principal building at the villa which had always been a semi-public museum. By 1625 it housed much of the Borghese's outstanding collection of sculpture. Integrating this statuary with vast baroque ceiling paintings and richly ornamented surfaces, Asprucci created a dazzling and unified homage to the Borghese family, portraying its legendary ancestors as well as its newly born heir. In this book Carole Paul reads the inventive decorative program as a set of exemplary scenes for the education of the ideal Borghese prince. Her wide-ranging essay also situates the Villa Borghese among the sumptuous palaces and suburban villas of Rome's collectors of antiquities and outlines the renovated Casino's pivotal role in the historic transition from the princely collection to the public museum. Rounding out this volume is a catalog of the Getty Research Institute's fifty-nine drawings for the refurbishing of the Villa Borghese and Alberta Campitelli's discussion of sketches for the short-lived Museo di Gabii, the Villa's other antiquities museum.

Art Markets, Agents and Collectors Adriana Turpin, Susan Bracken, 2021-05-06 Art Markets, Agents and Collectors brings together a wide variety of case studies based on letters and detailed archival research which nuance the history of the art market and the role of the collector within it. Using diaries, account books and other archival sources, the contributions to this volume show how agents set up networks and acquired works of art, often developing the taste and knowledge of the collectors for whom they were working. They are therefore seen as important actors in the market, having a specific role that separates them from auctioneers, dealers, museum curators or amateurs, while at the same time acknowledging and analyzing the dual positions that many held. Each chronological period is introduced by a contextual essay written by a leading expert in the field, which sets out the art market in the period concerned and the ways in which agents functioned. This book is an invaluable tool for those needing a broader introduction to the intricate workings of the art market.

Architecture Post Mortem Donald Kunze, David Bertolini, Simone Brott, 2016-04-15 Architecture Post Mortem surveys architecture's encounter with death, decline and ruin, following late capitalism As the world moves closer to an economic abyss that many perceive to be the death of capital contraction and crisis are no longer mere phases of normal market fluctuations but rather the irruption of the unconscious of ideology itself Post mortem is that historical moment wherein architecture's symbolic contract with capital is put on stage naked to all Architecture is not irrelevant to fiscal and political contagion as is commonly believed it is the victim and penetrating analytical agent of the current crisis As the very apparatus for modernity's guilt and unfulfilled drives modernity's debt architecture is that ideological element that functions as a master signifier of its own destruction ordering all other signifiers and modes of signification beneath it It is under these conditions that architecture theory has retreated to an Alamo of history a final desert outpost where history has been asked to transcend itself For architecture's hoped for utopia always involves an apocalypse This timely collection of essays reformulates architecture's relation to modernity via the operational death drive architecture is but a passage between life and death This collection includes essays by Kazi K Ashraf David Bertolini Simone Brott Peggy Deamer Didem Ekici Paul Emmons Donald Kunze Todd McGowan Gevork Hartoonian Nadir Lahiji Erika Naginski and Dennis Maher

State and Nobility in Early Modern Germany Hillay Zmora, 2003-11-13 One of the most striking features of late medieval and early modern German was the countless feuds carried out by nobles A constant threat to law and order these feuds have commonly been regarded as a manifestation of the decline economic and otherwise of the nobility This study shows that the nobility was not in crisis at this time Nor were feuds merely banditry by another name Rather they were the result of an interplay between two fundamental processes princely state building and social stratification among the nobility Offering a new paradigm for understanding the German nobility this book argues that the development of the state made proximity to princes the single most decisive factor in determining the fortune of a family The result was a violent competition among the nobility over resources which were crucial to the princes Feuds played a central role in this struggle that eventually led to the formation of an elite of noble families on whose power and wealth the princely state depended

Patrons and Adversaries Caroline Castiglione, 2005 Four generations of the aristocratic Barberini family and its vassals clashed over how the early modern Roman countryside should be governed Villagers sometimes cultivated noble interference but they frequently resisted it through the strategies of adversarial literacy political ways of reading and writing that challenged noble hegemony in the village
