Building the Homestead P. McAllister, 2020-09-29 This title was first published in 2001 This is also a study of rural Xhosa identity and community and its survival in the face of the overwhelming odds stacked against it by colonialism and apartheid The maintenance of homestead production can be properly understood only if this wider context is taken into consideration The analysis is thus directly relevant to current debates about agrarian change land reform and economic development in South Africa s communal areas since it shows how some rural Xhosa are able to maintain a sense of community and identity and of how they are able to harness the socio cultural resources at their disposal to engage in productive activity with some success BOOK JACKET An Apartheid Oasis? Edward Lahiff, 2000 The study concludes that there is scope for further development of the agricultural economy at Tshiombo but this will require comprehensive reform of existing state services such as tractor ploughing and agricultural extension More flexible partnerships between the state and non state organisations including private entrepreneurs individual farmers and the struggling Tshiombo Co operative in the provision of credit marketing and transport services are also identified as areas suitable for development Constraints of land capital and household labour suggest that in most cases agriculture is likely to remain supplementary to income obtained from the non farm economy but can be a valuable source of food and an important safety net in times of crisis BOOK JACKET
