Fatima over how his illicit past played a role in his cousin's death. All three struggle to envision a future for themselves that they can actively shape. A testament to the stories we tell ourselves and each other. Far Away From Here is a coming of age novel threaded with themes of community, tradition, faith, and the courage to own one's narrative. An Oklahoma Soldier

Barbara Nielsen, 2005-04 An Oklahoma Soldier is a family memoir brought to life by a bit of fiction and the use of a father's voice to recount his tales. From the Oklahoma land runs through the Battle of the Bulge to an everyday life in Kansas City, Mrs. Nielsen's father's remembrances capture classic 1890 to 1960 moments. Mrs. Nielsen's father, Bert Brooks Jr., wrote a letter to her stating, "To me, genealogy should be more than a record of births, marriages, and deaths. I've always believed that if I am not in your heart, I never existed. If I am in your heart, you will find me there now and forever." Shortly after his death, March 29, 2001, his daughter decided to edit and retouch his stories, most of which he had not shared before. Mrs. Nielsen hopes she has done justice to her father's renditions and to his hope of making past generations seem more than dates. Family pictures of many of the people in the stories visually enhance the father's memories. Genealogical charts gathered from old papers and notes are at the end of An Oklahoma Soldier, tracing family roots to hand them on to those who care. The Black Dahlia

James Ellroy, 2025-08-12 The first novel in The L.A. Quartet, The Black Dahlia is the haunting and harrowing book that put James Ellroy on the map as one of the most electrifying writers on the scene. On January 15, 1947, the brutally mutilated body of Elizabeth Short is found in a vacant lot. The victim makes headlines as the Black Dahlia, becoming the center of a media frenzy and cultural fixation. Caught up in the investigation are two young cops, Dwight Bucky Bleichert and Lee Blanchard, partners in uniform and both former boxers. But the deeper they get in the case, the greater their obsession with the Dahlia becomes. As the two men go rogue and hunt for the killer, they are drawn into the hellish underbelly of 1940s Hollywood, into the victim's twisted past and into the extremes of their own desires, a land of demons and madness. Inspired by America's most infamous unsolved murder, James Ellroy's The Black Dahlia is a classic work of crime fiction that will haunt its readers long after the last page. Building Blocks for Father Involvement, Building

Block 5: Bringing a Fatherhood Plan to Life, June 2004, 2009 At A Time Like This In Scuppernon Valley Gloria Prather, 2018-05-22 The story is appalling. It gives an account of a destitute teenager born in a meager place where only the strong survive. She made one bad decision that insulted the villainous overseer. To escape his often abusive retaliation, she ran away and became a shadow street child in a big city. This is an incredible story about struggle, survival, and the darker sides of life that many teenagers will never see in a lifetime. The ups and downs experienced while wandering an unfamiliar city taught her many life lessons as she tried to find a safe place on park benches, in tunnels, abandoned buildings, and alleyways. She was sustained by her belief that her God-fearing grandmother's teaching would see her through. Being empowered by such belief, she aligned herself with determination and became a great success story, a force of stability and healing for other teenagers. Dead with the Wind Miranda James, 2015-09-29 Angel and Dickce Ducote tend to stay put in Athena.
