Social Space in Rome Frederick Jones, 2016-10-06 This volume focuses on four cultural phenomena in the Roman world of the late Republic the garden a garden painting tapestry and the domestic caged bird They accept or reject a categorisation as art in varying degrees but they show considerable overlaps in the ways in which they impinge on social space The study looks therefore at the borderlines between things that variously might or might not seem to be art forms It looks at boundaries in another sense too Boundaries between different social modes and contexts are embodied and represented in the garden and paintings of gardens reinforced by the domestic use of decorative textile work and replicated in the bird cage The boundaries thus thematised map on to broader boundaries in the Roman house city and wider world becoming part of the framework of the citizen s cognitive development and individual and civic identities Frederick Jones presents a novel analysis that uses the perspective of cognitive development in relation to how elements of domestic and urban visual culture and the broader world map on to each other His study for the first time understands the domestic caged bird as a cultural object and uniquely brings together four disparate cases under the umbrella of art

Rural Transformation through Servitization

Dalia Vidickienė, Rita Lankauskienė, Rasa Melnikienė, Živilė Gedminaitė-Raudonė, Vitalija Simonaitytė, 2023-12-15 Rural development paradigms after the Second World War depended on a set of assumptions relevant to the mass scale industrialization of the agricultural sector However most of these assumptions are now invalid and we need strategies for redesigning the industrial economic system to co create value according to the rules of post industrial society To grasp better what drives today s rural development this book conducts an analysis of qualitative changes in economic and social life caused by a major innovation model inherent to post industrial society servitization The book aims to contribute to the scarce literature on the role of servitization in farming and rural development It offers a conceptual and empirical understanding of the ways of servitization in agriculture and rural development examined through the prism of an evolutionary approach based on the theory of qualitative structure The method of qualitative structure explains why and how a switch from product oriented business logic to service oriented business logic happens and helps to find many new insights useful for improving farm management and socio economic development of rural regions It combines a systematic and evolutionary analysis of literature on servitization and agricultural production strategies with case studies of farming and territorial servitization projects implemented in Lithuania It will be of great interest to researchers and students in the field of rural development studies servitization and business model innovation
