

JOHN ALCOCK

THE MASKED BOBWHITE RIDES AGAIN

Masked Bobwhite Rides Again

Lauren Gardner

Masked Bobwhite Rides Again:

The Masked Bobwhite Rides Again John Alcock, 1993 Alcock elegantly chronicles not only the changes wrought on the desert by people but also the ability of the desert to recover and rejuvenate if given the chance He offers us hope through stories of small tentative successes such as the reintroduction of the masked bobwhite quail in southeastern Arizona all the while gently but persistently prodding us to maintain the biological heritage that has the capacity to enrich the lives of us all if we would just respect it a little more The Condor's Shadow David S. Wilcove, 2000-05-09 With gripping narrative power The Condor's Shadow traces the ways in which human greed and ignorance have wreaked havoc on our ecological landscape The heir apparent to Peter Matthiessen's 1959 classic Wildlife in America The Condor's Shadow is a brilliant and compulsively readable study of the state of North American wildlife and what is being done to reverse the damage humans have caused With equal respect for the smallest feather mite and the fiercest grizzly the frailest flower and the stateliest redwood David S Wilcove illustrates in jargon free often witty prose nature's delicate system of checks and balances examining the factors that determine a species vulnerability and the consequences of losing even the tiniest part of any ecosystem An examination of both the heart wrenching failures and stunning successes of our conservation efforts The Condor's Shadow chronicles the destruction and resilience of our American wilderness and offers an insightful eloquent overview that will appeal to avid conservationists and recreational nature lovers alike Twilight of the Mammoths Paul S. Martin, 2007-05-08 Paul S Martin's innovative ideas on late quaternary extinctions and wildlife restoration have fueled one of science's most stimulating recent debates He expounds them vividly here and defends them eloquently A must read David Rains Wallace author of Beasts of Eden This is a marvelous read by a giant in American prehistory about one of the greatest mysteries in the earth sciences Tim Flannery author of The Eternal Frontier Whether or not you agree with Paul Martin he has shaped how we think about our Pleistocene ancestors and their role in transforming this planet Ross D E MacPhee Curator of Mammalogy American Museum of Natural History Invasive Exotic Species in the Sonoran Region Barbara Tellman, 2023-12-05 All over the planet organisms of many species are appearing outside of their natural habitats often carried by that particularly peripatetic species Homo sapiens This book marks the first comprehensive attempt to address problems posed by expanding populations of exotic plant and animal species in the Sonoran Desert and adjacent grasslands and riparian areas It describes the arrival and spread of non native species as diverse as rats and saltcedar covering both their impacts and the management of those impacts It is estimated that as much as 60 percent of the vegetative cover of the Sonoita Creek Patagonia Reserve the first Nature Conservancy area designated in Arizona is dominated by exotic plants and that introduced fish pose a recurrent threat to the native fish of that area Meanwhile at the Grand Canyon invasives such as tamarisk red brome carp and catfish are pervasive either in the Colorado River or in the patches of desert scrub along its shores Throughout the Sonoran Desert and adjacent areas from islands in the Sea of Cortés to desert grasslands some six hundred species of non native plants and animals have become established with bullfrogs and Mediterranean grasses now common where they once never existed The book brings together contributors from academia government and nonprofit organizations including such experts as Gary Paul Nabhan Richard Mack and Alberto B rquez Montijo They review historic and even prehistoric origins of non native species not only exotic plants amphibians and mammals but also insects fish and birds They then examine significant problems in each major subregion and ecosystem and discuss control efforts The volume contains the first compiled list of more than 500 naturalized exotic species in the Sonoran region Invasive species issues are rapidly emerging as major environmental concerns both locally and worldwide This book assists professionals ecologists conservation biologists and policy makers involved in invasive species control in the Southwest and will be a rich resource for all concerned with protecting native species and their habitats

Renewing America's Food Traditions

Gary Paul Nabhan,2008 This work represents a dramatic call to recognize celebrate and conserve the great diversity of foods that give North America the distinctive culinary identity that reflects its multi cultural heritage Included are recipes and folk traditions associated with 100 of the continent s rarest food plants and animals

Sonoran Desert Spring John Alcock,2015-11-01

Spring on the Sonoran Desert can be a four month long spectacle of life and color Within these well written pages Alcock exposes us to the plant and animal life of a land many regard as desolate To Alcock the desert has a constant evolutionary beauty he never seems to tire of Alcock s approach to his subject is an elegant combination of science and literature Only the desert itself arrayed in its April apparel can rival the beauty of this book Arizona Highways Deserts are not as bereft of life as they seem their barren landscapes can support a remarkable variety of plant and animal life though it may require a patient and skilled naturalist to reveal its mysteries John Alcock is just such a naturalist Alcock provides delightful insights into how insects provision their developing young how parasites find their victims and how flowers attract pollinators A book of this kind allows its author more accustomed to the rigours and constraints of writing academic papers and books to relate revealing anecdotes and simply to express their fascination for natural history Books such as this serve a vital function in bringing the mysteries of the desert to the attention of a wider public Times Literary Supplement

When Indians

Became Cowboys Peter Iverson,1994 Focusing on the northern plains and the Southwest Iverson traces the rise and fall of individual and tribal cattle industries against the backdrop of changing federal Indian policies He describes the Indian Bureau s inability to recognize that most nineteenth century reservations were better suited to ranching than farming Even though allotment and leasing stifled ranching livestock became symbols and ranching a new means of resisting adapting and living for remaining Native

In a Desert Garden

John Alcock,2015-11-01 When John Alcock replaced the Bermuda grass in his suburban Arizona lawn with gravel cacti and fairy dusters he was doing more than creating desert landscaping He seeded his property with flowers to entice certain insects and even added a few cowpies to attract termites creating a personal laboratory for ecological studies His observations of life in his own front yard provided him with the fieldnotes for this unusual book In a Desert Garden draws readers into the strange and fascinating world of plants and animals native to Arizona's Sonoran Desert. As Alcock studies the plants in his yard, he shares thoughts on planting, weeding, and pruning that any gardener will appreciate. And when commenting on the mating rituals of spiders and beetles or marveling at the camouflage of grasshoppers and caterpillars, he uses humor and insight to detail the lives of the insects that live in his patch of desert. Celebrating the virtues of even aphids and mosquitoes, Alcock draws the reader into the intricacies of desert life to reveal the complex interactions found in this unique ecosystem. In a Desert Garden combines meticulous science with contemplations of nature and reminds us that a world of wonder lies just outside our own doors. Getting Over the Color

Green Scott Slovic, 2001. Desert vistas are often deemed vacant, inhospitable wastelands. Don't suggest that to Joy Harjo, Pat Mora, or other contemporary southwestern writers. In these arid stretches, often devoid of green, today's southwestern writers see pyrotechnic colors and Gothic shapes that excite and often overwhelm the imagination. And they capture this excitement in words that fix these desert images in the minds of readers who may too often look at the world through green-colored glasses. This anthology of contemporary nature writing from the Greater Southwest brings together a host of writers, including peers of Edward Abbey such as Charles Bowden and Ann Zwinger, and representatives of a new generation of writers such as Rick Bass and Terry Tempest Williams. The book is an eclectic blend of nonfiction and fiction, field notes and poetry through which artists of diverse backgrounds both celebrate and illuminate the unique vitality and complexity of southwestern literature, proving that green is only one of many colors on their palette. The selections included here range all across the southwestern landscape and explore adventures in the wild, topics in natural history, living close to the land, and efforts at conservation and restoration. They clearly demonstrate that there is grace and beauty in this often maligned part of the world, both in the human traditions that have developed in the region and in the natural features of the desert itself.
