Volkman, 2008 The growing interest in working with media particularly the new digital media in the EFL classroom is reflected in the ten articles of this volume Their focus is specifically on traditional visual media such as films and video clips but also on blogs podcasts digital storytelling hyperfictions Internet projects creating learner software etc As the articles either explicitly or implicitly indicate these new media formats are suitable for integration into current action or task based teaching forms All articles aim to foster nuanced judgments on literature culture and popular media in the US The media discussed here mirror the multiplicity of voices within the US indicating the tremendous variety of cultural and political positions They undermine lopsided and biased attitudes toward American mass media forcing the learner to discuss critical positions within the US and to modify stereotypical media judgements Ebenezer Soola Conference on

Mass Media in a Changing World Rodman, Who Owns the Media? Benjamin M. Compaine, Douglas Gomery, 2000-07-13 This thorough update to Benjamin Compaine's original 1979 benchmark and 1982 revisit of media ownership tackles the question of media ownership providing a detailed examination of the current state of the media industry Retaining the wealth of data of the earlier volumes Compaine and his co author Douglas Gomery chronicle the myriad changes in the media industry and the factors contributing to these changes They also examine how the media industry is being reshaped by technological forces in all segments as well as by social and cultural reactions to these forces This third edition of Who Owns the Media has been reorganized and expanded reflecting the evolution of the media industry structure Looking beyond conventional wisdom and expectations Compaine and Gomery examine the characteristics of competition in the media marketplace present alternative positions on the meanings of concentration and ultimately urge readers to draw their own conclusions on an issue that is neither black nor white Appropriate for media practitioners and sociologists historians and economists studying mass media this volume can also be used for advanced courses in broadcasting journalism mass communication telecommunications and media education As a new benchmark for the current state of media ownership it is invaluable to anyone needing to understand who controls the media and thus the information and entertainment messages received by media consumers

The Media Were American Jeremy Tunstall, 2008 In 1977 Jeremy Tunstall published the landmark The Media Are American In it he argued that while much of the mass media originated in Europe and elsewhere the United States dominated global media because nearly every mass medium became industrialized within the United States With this provocative follow up Tunstall chronicles the massive changes that have taken place in the media over the past forty years changes that have significantly altered the balance of power within the global media landscape The Media Were American demonstrates that both the United States and its mass media have lost their previous moral leadership Instead of sole American control of the world news flow we now see a world media structure comprised of interlocking national regional and cultural systems From a relentlessly global point of view Tunstall looks closely at China and India and at their rapidly burgeoning populations and also at the rise of the mass media in the Muslim world He considers the role of the media in the collapse of the Soviet Union the ascendance of the Brazilian and Mexican soap opera the increasing strength of Bollywood The national cinema output of India and the relative decline in influence of U S media

Reconsidering the very notion of global media the book posits a reemergence of stronger national cultures and national media systems http://www.loc.gov/catdir/enhancements/fy0723/2006053274\_d.html
