Little Green Men, Meowing Nuns and Head-Hunting Panics Robert E. Bartholomew, 2001-06-06 For a two week period in 1956 residents in the vicinity of Taipei Taiwan lived in fear that they would be the next victims of a crazed villain who was prowling the streets and slashing people at random with a razor or similar weapon At least 21 victims were reported during this period mostly women and children of low income and education A thorough investigation revealed however that five slashings were innocent false reports seven were self inflicted cuts eight were due to cuts rather than razors and one was complete fantasy This is one example of many cases of what has traditionally been called mass hysteria that are examined in this comprehensive study of human beings fear of the unknown Beginning with a concise history of mass hysteria and social delusions the author differentiates between the two and investigates mass hysteria in closed settings such as work and school and mass hysteria in communities with incidents such as gassings Pokemon illnesses in Japan and medieval dance crazes Also examined are collective delusions with information on five major types immediate threat symbolic scare mass wish fulfillment urban legends and mass panics The book ends with a discussion of major issues in the area of mass hysteria and a look toward the future of this intriguing subject

Mass Media and Modern Warfare Greg Simons, 2016-05-06 Mass media are essential to democratic society in contrast the War on Terror has been interpreted as an assault on democracy and freedom by Islamic fundamentalists The building and maintenance of public support is essential in modern warfare due to the increasing politicization of warfare where losses and gains are measured in political rather than military terms And if progress cannot be demonstrated during a war then by default one is assumed to be losing Greg Simons tackles the complicated yet essential role of mass media in society Taking the Global War on Terror as a prime example the author adopts a multidisciplinary approach to analyze the various facets of war and the role of the media within it Assessing in particular the Russian fight against terrorism this book provides a broader perspective and understanding of contemporary struggles Mass Media and Society Mr. Rohit
