Our Caribbean Kin Alai Reyes-Santos, 2015-06-15 Beset by the forces of European colonialism US imperialism and neoliberalism the people of the Antilles have had good reasons to band together politically and economically yet not all Dominicans Haitians and Puerto Ricans have heeded the calls for collective action So what has determined whether Antillean solidarity movements fail or succeed In this comprehensive new study Alai Reyes Santos argues that the crucial factor has been the extent to which Dominicans Haitians and Puerto Ricans imagine each other as kin Our Caribbean Kin considers three key moments in the region's history the nineteenth century when the antillanismo movement sought to throw off the yoke of colonial occupation the 1930s at the height of the region's struggles with US imperialism and the past thirty years as neoliberal economic and social policies have encroached upon the islands At each moment the book demonstrates specific tropes of brotherhood marriage and lineage have been mobilized to construct political kinship among Antilleans while racist and xenophobic discourses have made it difficult for them to imagine themselves as part of one big family Recognizing the wide array of contexts in which Antilleans learn to affirm or deny kinship Reyes Santos draws from a vast archive of media including everything from canonical novels to political tracts historical newspapers to online forums sociological texts to local jokes Along the way she uncovers the conflicts secrets and internal hierarchies that characterize kin relations among Antilleans but she also discovers how they have used notions of kinship to create cohesion across differences The

The Aesthetics of Island Space Johannes Riquet, 2019-12-17 Oxford Textual Perspectives is a series of informative and provocative studies focused upon literary texts conceived of in the broadest sense of that term and the technologies cultures and communities that produce inform and receive them It provides fresh interpretations of fundamental works and of the vital and challenging issues emerging in English literary studies By engaging with the materiality of the literary text its production and reception history and frequently testing and exploring the boundaries of the notion of text itself the volumes in the series question familiar frameworks and provide innovative interpretations of both canonical and less well known works The Aesthetics of Island Space discusses islands as central figures in the modern experience of space It examines the spatial poetics of islands in literary texts from Shakespeare's The Tempest to Ghosh's The Hungry Tide in the journals of explorers and scientists such as James Cook and Charles Darwin and in Hollywood cinema It traces the ways in which literary and cinematic islands have functioned as malleable spatial figures that offer vivid perceptual experiences as well as a geopoetic oscillation between the material energies of words and images and the energies of the physical world The chapters focus on America's island gateways Roanoke and Ellis Island visions of tropical islands Tahiti and imagined South Sea islands the islands of the US Canadian border region in the Pacific Northwest and the imaginative appeal of mutable islands It argues that modern voyages of discovery posed considerable perceptual and cognitive challenges to the experience of space and that these challenges were negotiated in complex and contradictory ways via poetic engagement with islands Discussions of island narratives in postcolonial theory have broadened understanding of how islands have been imagined as geometrical abstractions bounded spaces easily subjected to the colonial gaze There is however a second story of islands in the Western imagination which runs parallel to this colonial story In this alternative account the modern experience of islands in the age of discovery went hand in hand with a disintegration of received models of understanding global space Drawing on and rethinking post phenomenological geocritical and geopoetic theories The Aesthetics of Island Space argues that the modern experience of islands as mobile and shifting territories implied a dispersal fragmentation and diversification of spatial experience and it explores how this disruption is registered and negotiated by both non fictional and fictional responses
