bringing about change The final section presents profiles of year round education in action at selected elementary middle and high schools A 15 item bibliography is included TE The Problem of College Readiness William G. Tierney,Julia C.
Duncheon,2015-03-30 Though more students are entering college many drop out especially those who are low income and or of color To address this problem educational stakeholders have focused on the concept of college readiness or the preparation a student needs to succeed in college However what it means to be college ready and how to help more students become ready are questions without clear answers By way of historical and contemporary analyses this book uses California as a case study to demonstrate how the state has endeavored to make postsecondary opportunity accessible for all students The contributors also explore the challenges that remain and address what states and schools can do to improve college readiness and completion A Model for Effective School Discipline Mildred Carter,1987 According to an annual Gallup Poll lack of discipline was the number one problem facing public schools between 1969 and 1985 Chief underlying causes are inadequate parenting ineffective teacher training poor school organization and inadequate administrative leadership This monograph dicusses the Prospect School Oberlin Ohio model for effective discipline based on Wayson s self discipline good citizen concept and common characteristics of 500 well disciplined schools in the United States and Canada The project began with a staff generated philosophy statement stressing school community responsibilities for providing superior education for all students The program uses the student council concept to teach responsibility and self discipline and to promote communitywide awareness of discipline problems The council operates under a constitution loosely patterned after the United States Constitution A student court rules on minor infractions such as fighting The student council is regarded as part of Prospect School's overall education plan. The model features well-disciplined school characteristics such as 1 a shared sense of purpose for discipline training 2 focus on individual students' needs 3 purposeful organized activities for learning self-discipline and 4 personal responsibility for the program's success. Included are 14 references: MLH Pacific Poultryman, 1921 Motivating Teaching in Higher Education Edwin George Ralph, 1998 The Nation's Schools Michael Vincent O'Shea, 1955 Teaching Writing with the Microcomputer E. Marilyn Schaeffer, 1987. Intended as a guide for elementary school teachers who want to use the computer as a writing tool in their classrooms, this booklet offers an outline of practical information and techniques for introducing young children to computers in kindergarten through grade 6. The first chapter explains the process approach to writing and advocates computer use to generate student enthusiasm for writing while the second chapter discusses solving writing problems with the word processor. The third chapter offers activities for the word processor as a writing tool and is subdivided as follows: 1 kindergarten the process begins 2 first grade introducing a simple word processing package 3 second grade simple revision commands 4 third grade beginning to control the system 5 fourth grade a year of transition 6 fifth grade extended application and 7 sixth grade full use of the system. The remaining two chapters discuss possible problems and practical solutions and how to select word processing software. A brief conclusion recapitulates the ideas about the promise of microcomputers that underlie the manual and a list of references is appended. Educational Reform, the Forgotten Half William Burt Lauderdale, 1987. By examining the trends in equity and academic excellence, this monograph interprets America's history of educational reform. The first section, "The Legacy of Reform," analyzes themes after colonial times. William Penn and Benjamin Franklin advocated humanitarian middle-class education following the American Revolution. By the late 18th and early 19th centuries, the nation sensed an urgency about schooling. Thomas Jefferson advanced opportunities by state-financed schools. The competing social forces of frontier and industrial expansion developed the common school movement. Horace Mann increased support for public education. The dialectic between classical European excellence and equity, however, did not produce equality of opportunity. Progressive education, the 20th century's major ideology, broadened schooling's role through individual student focus and open democratic classrooms promoted by John Dewey. Contemporary Reform Issues section 2 concludes that equity and academic excellence often coexist as traditional dichotomies but can attain resolution. Desegregation demonstrates commitment to comprehensive equity. Expanded opportunities require time; reforms should not ignore schools' increased responsibilities. If A Nation at Risk became the national agenda, disadvantaged students would be left in the wake. Rather than through national mandate, the alternative is a pluralistic approach wherein local experiments encourage excellence. The quality of educational change is ultimately measured by the principle of just treatment for all.
