with nineteenth century engravings depicting phenomena from geology to astronomy to mechanics Yet the poems relate to the images in an oblique rather than a direct way Poteat uses this framework to construct a mysterious and engaging book that inhabits many worlds at once bridging the real and the imagined the traditional and the experimental the surreal and the ordinary As each diagram and scene gives rise to a poem that intertwines the life of German artist and printer J G Heck imagined as little is recorded with Poteat s own the book reveals a preoccupation with landscape that encompasses both the precision of Heck s carefully labeled sine waves and brass devices as well as the eeriness of his depictions of skeletal hands or dogs tearing apart a wounded boar Poteat s intense interest in the natural world is set against a sense of a world behind the world where each living thing is properly named and the Spirit glows purposefully above the forest ready to heal if asked in the correct manner From Illustrating how to catch and manufacture ghosts Tonight there is no wind Even the heat is on its knees and the moths laying eggs on the side door are not being honest with themselves Though their enterprise is beauty the eggs will not last through the rains and so it goes A slug fresh as cinnamon steps through the snuffed coals of my stove
