This is the story of the transformation of the ways in which the increasingly Christianized elites of the late antique Mediterranean experienced and conceptualized linguistic differences The metaphor of Babel stands for the magnificent edifice of classical culture that was about to reach the sky but remained self sufficient and self contained in its virtual monolingualism the paradigm within which even Latin was occasionally considered just a dialect of Greek The gradual erosion of this vision is the slow fall of Babel that took place in the hearts and minds of a good number of early Christian writers and intellectuals who represented various languages and literary traditions This step by step process included the discovery and internalization of the existence of multiple other languages in the world as well as subsequent attempts to incorporate their speakers meaningfully into the holistic and distinctly Christian picture of the universe Dinner Talk Shoshana Blum-Kulka,2012-12-06 Dinner Talk draws upon the recorded dinner conversations of and extensive interviews with native Israeli American Israeli and Jewish American middle class families to explore the cultural styles of sociability and socialization in family discourse The thesis developed is that family dinners in Western middle class homes fulfill important functions of sociability for all participants and at the same time serve as crucial sites of socialization for children through language and for language use The book demonstrates the way talk at dinner constructs reflects and invokes familial social and cultural identities and provides social support for easing the passage of children into adult discourse worlds Family discourse at dinner emerges as a particularly rich site for discursive socialization and a highly meaningful enactment of sociable behavior in culturally patterned ways Although all the families studied have a common Eastern European background Israeli and Jewish American families are shown to differ extensively in their interactional styles in ways that enact historically different community related interpretations of the dialectics of continuity and change Native Israeli American Israeli and Jewish American families differ culturally in the ways they negotiate issues of power independence and involvement through various speech activities such as the choice and initiation of topics conversational story telling naming practices metapragmatic discourse politeness strategies and in immigrant bilingual families language choice and code switching Dinner Talk demonstrates the unique interactional style of each of the groups linking the observed communication patterns to the ideological sociocultural and historical contexts of their respective communities This innovative study of family discourse from a cross cultural perspective will appeal to students and specialists in sociolinguistics communication
