Mridula Sarabhai Rebel With A Cause:

Mridula Sarabhai Aparna Basu,1996 Heavily influenced by Gandhi Mridula Sarabhai was a key figure not only in the struggle for Indian independence but also in the fight for women's equality for the individual's right to dissent and for the rights of minorities This biography sets her story against the modern history of India

The Art of Freedom Nico Slate,2024-07-15 Kamaladevi Chattopadhyay 1903 1988 was a prominent socialist anticolonial and antiracist activist champion of women's rights and advocate for the arts and crafts Defying the borders of gender nation and race her efforts spanned social movements and played a leading role in the creation of modern India and the development of the Global South In The Art of Freedom Nico Slate showcases new archival materials to document Kamaladevi's campaign to become the first woman elected to provincial office her confrontation with Gandhi that helped open the salt protests of 1930 to women her leadership of the All India Women's Conference and the Congress Socialist Party her pioneering work with refugees during the Partition of India in 1947 the major impact she had on the arts in postcolonial India and her own career on the stage and screen Slate also draws upon underexplored details from her personal life providing new context for her experiences as a child widow her remarriage to the mercurial actor poet Harin Chattopadhyay and her divorce among the first civil divorces in modern India Taken as a whole Kamaladevi's life offers a uniquely revealing vantage point on the making of modern India a vantage point that centers the interconnections between struggles often seen as distinct and that reminds us of the full promise of Indian democracy

Gandhi in His Time and Ours David Hardiman,2003 Gandhi was the creator of a radical style of politics that has proved effective in fighting insidious social divisions within India and elsewhere in the world How did this new form of politics come about David Hardiman shows that it was based on a larger vision of an alternative society one that emphasized mutual respect resistance to exploitation nonviolence and ecological harmony Politics was just one of the many directions in which Gandhi sought to activate this peculiarly personal vision and its practice involved experiments in relation to his opponents From representatives of the British Raj to Indian advocates of violent resistance from right wing religious leaders to upholders of caste privilege Gandhi confronted entrenched groups and their even more entrenched ideologies with a deceptively simple ethic of resistance Hardiman examines Gandhi's ways of conducting his conflicts with all these groups as well as with his critics on the left and representatives of the Dalits He also explores another key issue in Gandhi's life and legacy his ideas about and attitudes toward women Despite inconsistencies and limitations and failures in his personal life Gandhi has become a beacon for posterity The uncompromising honesty of his politics and moral activism has inspired such figures as Jayaprakash Narayan Medha Patkar Martin Luther King Jr Nelson Mandela and Petra Kelly and influenced a series of new social movements by environmentalists antiwar campaigners feminists and human rights activists among others dedicated to the principle of a more just world

Glittering Decades Nayantara Pothen,2012-01-30 New Delhi was purpose built to trumpet the supremacy of the British Raj and inaugurated in 1931 Instead it came to represent a fading imperial dream in the two decades that followed In the heyday of the British Raj strict social and racial hierarchies governed the social life of the city s ruling elites And the frivolity of New Delhi s high society was kept in check by a faithful adherence to etiquette and protocol in everyday life For example the sixteen button glove at a formal viceregal dinner party was of great importance as a means of maintaining the authority of the Raj But the 1930s and 1940s were a period of transition The political shifts associated with India s journey to self government echoed in the social codes of conduct adopted by the Indian elites of New Delhi and undermining the Raj s pomp became a legitimate means of challenging its authority Closely examining the role of social ritual interaction and behaviour in the shaping of the city and its elite groups Glittering Decades tells the story of New Delhi and its privileged inhabitants between 1931 and 1952 Animosity at Bay

Violent Belongings Kavita Daiya, 2011-02-04 Violent Belongings examines transnational South Asian culture from 1947 onwards in order to offer a new historical account of how gender and ethnicity came to determine who belonged and how in the postcolonial Indian nation Of Captivity and Resistance Sharmila Purkayastha, 2023-09-21 Of Captivity and Resistance offers a historical and political study of women's experiences of dissent and detention in postcolonial India. Primarily focusing on the Naxalite movement 1967-75 and on the pan-Indian period of Emergency 1975-77, the study traces women's political participation in revolutionary movements and in dissident politics and attends to their experiences of torture and incarceration. Simultaneously, by drawing on the varied histories of women's incarceration before and after the long seventies, the book provides an expanded terrain for evaluating the gendered dimensions of radical politics and of testimonial literature on carceral state violence and impunity. The analysis focuses on women's transformation from marginal political participants to resistant detainees. By studying the linkages between radical politics, captivity and resistance, the book offers a widened account of women's political participation, contributes to contemporary debates on political incarceration and strengthens the resistant history of rights and of dissenting literature in India and in the Global South.

In So Many Words Aparna Basu, Malavika Karlekar, 2020-12-17. This volume will mark a new trend in dealing with women's varied experiences of life. Individual introductions situate the narrator in a context and then her voice takes over with no intervention from the editors except to provide footnotes wherever necessary. The personal narrative, be it an autobiography, a letter or a diary, has come to be recognised as an acceptable data source in history and social science. Literary critics and students of literature too find considerable use in reading the personal writings of poets, fiction and crime writers. In this book, readings of personal narratives help in painting various images of lives that we can only know at second hand. The volume includes memoirs, published articles, portraits from memory, a collection of essays and an oral interview. In all, the self was the focus. The writings of Sailabala Li, Gotami and Shakuntala go beyond a recounting of their lives and deal with spiritual and travel experiences. Three of the essays are excerpts from published autobiographies: Sarala Devi Chaudhurani's Jeevaner Jharapata, Life's Fallen Leaves; Kalpana Dutt's Reminiscences; and Sailabala Das's A Look Before and After. Vidyagauri Nilkanth's writings are essays and a selection of amazingly candid letters exchanged with her husband. Anasuya Sarabahi's is an interview in Gujarati with niece Gira and Monica's a selection from an unpublished memoir. Li Gotami, whose original name was Ruty Petit, travelled to Manasarovar and a few of the magazine articles on this amazing journey have been reproduced here. Whichever form a woman chooses, writing about her self is emancipatory; she may be a person who has so far received little attention from the family or the world. Or she may be one who is a well-known public figure, yet little is known about her childhood. So she writes about many selves. Life is not about one coherent self but rather one of many lives and experiences. In other words...

Militant Publics in India A. Valiani, 2011-11-11. Offers readers a telling glimpse of the social world in which militants are made, explaining how group, physical training and technico-ethical experiments with it have created a powerful religious nationalist movement in Gujarat that has been held responsible for carrying out spectacular episodes of ethnic cleansing against Indian minorities.

Debating Women's Citizenship in India,

1930–1960 Annie Devenish, 2021-12-30 Debating Women's Citizenship 1930 1960 is about the agency of Indian feminists and nationalists whose careers straddle the transition of colonial India to an independent India. It addresses some of the critical aspects of the encounter, engagement and dialogue between the Indian state and its women citizens in particular how this generation conceptualised the relationship between citizenship, equality and gender justice and the various spheres in which the meaning and application of this citizenship was both broadened and narrowed, renegotiated and pursued. The book focuses on a cohort of nationalists and feminists who were leading members of the All India Women's Conference (AIWC) and the National Federation of Indian Women (NFIW). Drawing on the richness and depth of life histories through autobiography and oral interviews together with archival research, this book excavates the mental products of these women's lives: their ideas, their writings and their discourse to develop a deeper and more nuanced understanding of the feminist political personas of this generation and how these personas negotiated the political and social terrains of their time. The book attempts to produce a new picture of this era, one in which there was far more activity and engagement with the state and with civil society on the part of this generation than previously acknowledged.
