A Cultural History of the Emotions in the Late Medieval, Reformation, and Renaissance Age Susan Broomhall, Andrew Lynch, 2020-08-20 The period 1300 1600 CE was one of intense and far reaching emotional realignments in European culture New desires and developments in politics religion philosophy the arts and literature fundamentally changed emotional attitudes to history creating the sense of a rupture from the immediate past In this volatile context cultural products of all kinds offered competing objects of love hate hope and fear Art music dance and song provided new models of family affection interpersonal intimacy relationship with God and gender and national identities The public and private spaces of courts cities and houses shaped the practices and rituals in which emotional lives were expressed and understood Scientific and medical discoveries changed emotional relations to the cosmos the natural world and the body Both continuing traditions and new sources of cultural authority made emotions central to the concept of human nature and involved them in every aspect of existence

Passions and Subjectivity in Early Modern Culture Freya Sierhuis, 2016-05-13 Bringing together scholars from literature and the history of ideas Passions and Subjectivity in Early Modern Culture explores new ways of negotiating the boundaries between cognitive and bodily models of emotion and between different versions of the will as active or passive In the process it juxtaposes the historical formation of such ideas with contemporary philosophical debates It frames a dialogue between rhetoric and medicine politics and religion in order to examine the relationship between mind and body and between experience and the senses Some chapters discuss literature in studies of Shakespeare Donne and Milton other essays concentrate on philosophical arguments both Aristotelian and Galenic models from antiquity and new mechanistic formations in Descartes Hobbes and Spinoza A powerful sense of paradox emerges in treatments of the passions in the early modern period also reflected in new literary and philosophical forms in which inwardness was displayed analysed and studied the autobiography the essay the soliloquy genres which rewrite the formation of subjectivity At the same time the frame of reference moves outwards from the world of interior states to encounter the passions on a public stage thus reconnecting literary study with the history of political thought In between the abstract theory of political ideas and the inward selves of literary history lies a field of intersections waiting to be explored The passions like human nature itself are infinitely variable and provoke both literary experimentation and philosophical imagination Passions and Subjectivity in Early Modern Culture thus makes new connections between embodiment selfhood and the emotions in order to suggest both new models of the self and new models for interdisciplinary history

A Cultural History of the Emotions in the Baroque and Enlightenment Age, 2020-08-20 During the period of the Baroque and Enlightenment the word emotion denoting passions and feelings came into usage albeit in an irregular fashion Emotion ultimately emerged as a term in its own right and evolved in English from meaning physical agitation to describe mental feeling However the older terminology of passions and affections continued as the dominant discourse structuring thinking about feeling and its wider religious political social economic and moral imperatives The emotional cultures described in these essays enable some comparative discussion about the history of emotions and particularly the causes and consequences of emotional change in the larger cultural contexts of the Baroque and Enlightenment Emotions research has enabled a rethinking of dominant narratives of the period of histories of revolution state building the rise of the public sphere religious and scientific transformation and more As a new and dynamic field the essays here are just the beginning of a much bigger history of emotions

(Un)Doing History Vanita

Seth, 2025-03-31 Against the grain of much contemporary scholarship within medieval studies this work emphasizes the radical alterity and historical rupture that the Middle Ages represents in European history Through an engagement with three contentious debates in medieval studies historiography race and individuated subjectivity Vanita Seth's work employs postcolonial and postmodern theorizing to explore questions of ontology epistemology facial privileging and emotion and identity in the European Middle Ages and early modern period While the subject matter of this book is historical the stakes are contemporary and political Seth's contention is that it is the very alterity that the medieval represents that enables contemporary scholars and activists to recognize as historical that which is so often posited as natural Writing a history of absence while also engaging radically different ways of being in the world this book argues helps to disrupt the self-evident naturalization of the face to contest knee-jerk celebrations of individuality tethered to the human visage and to recognize racism not as an age-old nemesis but as a distinctly modern form of organizing power This work is interdisciplinary engaging scholarship in science studies philosophy feminist theory anthropology race studies and literature and postmodern and postcolonial theory It presumes no prior specialized knowledge in medieval studies and/or history This book is an essential reading for scholars and students in the fields of medieval and early modern history race historiography identity and emotion studies
