Reading with Michel Serres Maria L. Assad, 1999-01-01 Explores the concept of time in the work of Michel Serres demonstrating close analogies in his work to the discourses of science literature and philosophy Mapping Michel Serres Niran Abbas, 2009-12-14 Provides an extremely valuable introduction to the work of Michel Serres for an English speaking audience as well as offering useful critical approaches for those already familiar with its outlines Robert Harrison Stanford University blurb from review pending permission The work of Michel Serres including the books Hermes The Parasite The Natural Contract Genesis The Troubadour of Knowledge and Conversations on Science Culture and Time has stimulated readers for years as it challenges the boundaries of science literature culture language and epistemology The essays in Mapping Michel Serres written by the leading interpreters of his work offer perspectives from a range of disciplinary positions including literature language studies and cultural theory Contributors include Maria Assad Hanjo Berressem Stephen Clucas Steven Connor Andrew Gibson Ren Girard Paul Harris Marcel Haff William Johnsen William Paulson Marjorie Perloff Philipp Schweighauser Isabella Winkler and Julian Yates Porous Becomings Andreas Bandak, Daniel M. Knight, 2024-02-23 The contributors to Porous Becomings draw on the work of French philosopher of science Michel Serres 1930-2019 to show how it opens new pathways for anthropological knowledge French Forum, 2000 Forthcoming Books Rose Army, 1999 Bibliografisch Repertorium Van de Wijsbegeerte, 1999 The Noise of Culture William Paulson, 2019-06-30 William Paulson believes that as contemporary science extends its influence over areas of thought that have long been the province of the humanities scholars in literary disciplines may suffer for their lack of contact with work in the sciences of mind and information In The Noise of Culture he speculates on the role of literature in the post literary culture of the information age and proposes a vital reorientation of the study of literature both affirming its specificity and exploring its developing relationship with modern science Paulson discusses literature in the context of information theory particularly the theory of self organizing and autonomous systems Reviewing and building upon the work of such thinkers as Michel Serres Henri Atlan Francisco Varela and Judith Schlangier Paulson offers a new kind of conceptual vocabulary for literary theory He concludes that literature functions as the noise of culture a source of variety in the circulation and production of ideas and a rich and indeterminate margin through which messages are sent and transformed Sound Pressure Toby Heys, 2019-07-01 Sound Pressure reveals how speaker systems mounted in public employment military and entertainment environments have played a pivotal role in the way that humans have been physiologically and psychologically organised and disciplined throughout the past century The networked Wired Radio speakers of the 1920s industrialised factory acoustically anchor a narrative based on the functional utilisation of sound systems for insidious purposes from the surround sound techniques of the Waco siege to the application of sonic torture in Guantanamo and Abu Ghraib Crucially Sound Pressure identifies the logic behind the miniaturisation and disappearance of visible sound system technologies as they transmute into the ultrasonic dynamics of the Hypersonic Sound System and covert bone conduction techniques of Whispering Windows The book charts an evolution of speaker technology that has been and will be used to influence manipulate and torture the collective and isolated body It amplifies the connections between LRADs iPods Mosquitos Intonarumori loudhailers and Sequential Arc Discharge Acoustic Generators the meta network of speaker systems through which rhythms and cadences of power are transmitted connected and modulated

Discorrelated Images Shane Denson, 2020-09-18 In Discorrelated Images Shane Denson examines how computer generated digital images displace and transform the traditional spatial and temporal relationships that viewers had with conventional analog forms of cinema Denson analyzes works ranging from the Transformers series and Blade Runner 2049 to videogames and multimedia installations to show how what he calls discorrelated images images that do not correlate with the abilities and limits of human perception produce new subjectivities affects and potentials for perception and action Denson's theorization suggests that new media theory and its focus on technological development must now be inseparable from film and cinema theory There's more at stake in understanding discorrelated images Denson contends than just a reshaping of cinema the development of new technical imaging processes and the evolution of film and media studies discorrelated images herald a transformation of subjectivity itself and are essential to our ability to comprehend nonhuman agency

Contemporary Postcolonial Theory Padmini Mongia, 2021-01-07 There is a crisis in contemporary postcolonial theory while an enormous body of challenging research has been produced under its auspices severely critical questions about the validity and usefulness of this theory have also been raised This Reader is positioned at the juncture where it can address these contestations It makes available some of the classics of the field engages with the issues raised by contemporary practitioners but also offers several of the arguments that strongly critique postcolonial theory Although postcolonial theory purports to be inter disciplinary and frequently anti foundationalist traces of disciplinary formations and linearity have continued to haunt its articulations This Reader on the other hand offers a uniquely inter disciplinary mapping It is concerned with three main areas definitional problems and contests including the current challenges to postcolonial theory the disciplining of knowledge where the multiple resonances of the word disciplining are all engaged and the location of practice where the relations between intellectual practice and historical conditions are explored Finally since the guiding principle of this Reader is simultaneous attention to the enabling and constraining mechanisms of historical realities and institutional practices the commentary problematizes the writing of histories the formations of canons and indeed the production of Readers

Clary-Lemon,2019-03-15 Planting the Anthropocene is a rhetorical look into the world of industrial tree planting in Canada that engages the themes of nature culture and environmental change Bringing together the work of material ecocriticism and critical affect studies in service of a new materialist environmental rhetoric Planting the Anthropocene forwards a frame that can be used to work through complex scenes of anthropogenic labor Using the results of interviews with seasonal Canadian tree planters Jennifer Clary Lemon interrogates the complex and messy imbrication of nature culture through the inadequate terminology used to describe the actual circumstances of the planters work and lives and offers alternative ways to conceptualize them Although silvicultural workers do engage with the limiting rhetoric of efficiency and humanism they also make rhetorical choices that break down the nature culture divide and orient them on a continuum that blurs the boundaries between the given and the constructed the human and nonhuman Tree planting work is approached as a site of a deep seated materiality a continued re creation of the land s disturbance rather than a simplistic form of doing good that further separates humans from landscapes Jennifer Clary Lemon s view of nature and the Anthropocene through the lens of material rhetorical studies is thoroughly original and will be of great interest to students and scholars of rhetoric and composition especially those focused on the environment Literature Criticism from 1400 to 1800 ,1984 The Excessive Subject

Molly Anne Rothenberg,2013-12-24 In The Excessive Subject A New Theory of Social Change Molly Anne Rothenberg uncovers an innovative theory of social change implicit in the writings of radical social theorists such as Pierre Bourdieu Michel de Certeau Judith Butler Ernesto Laclau and Slavoj i ek Through case studies of these writers work Rothenberg illuminates how this new theory calls into question currently accepted views of social practices subject formation democratic interaction hegemony political solidarity revolutionary acts and the ethics of alterity Finding a common dissatisfaction with the dominant paradigms of social structures in the authors she discusses Rothenberg goes on to show that each of these thinkers makes use of Lacan s investigations of the causality of subjectivity in an effort to find an alternative paradigm Labeling this paradigm extimate causality Rothenberg demonstrates how it produces a nondeterminacy so that every subject bears some excess paradoxically this excess is what structures the social field itself Whilst other theories of social change subject formation and political alliance invariably conceive of the elimination of this excess as necessary to their projects the theory of extimate causality makes clear that it is ineradicable To imagine otherwise is to be held hostage to a politics of fantasy As she examines the importance as well as the limitations of theories that put extimate causality to work Rothenberg reveals how the excess of the subject promises a new theory of social change By bringing these prominent thinkers together for the first time in one volume this landmark text will be sure to ignite debate among scholars in the field as well as being an indispensable tool for students

The Limits of Critique Rita Felski, 2015-10-20 Felski frees critics from relying on critique as the gatekeeper of literary studies and offers a prescient guide to life in a postcritical world Los Angeles Review of Books Why must critics unmask and demystify literary works Why do they believe that language is always withholding some truth that the critic's task is to reveal the unsaid or repressed In this book Rita Felski examines critique the dominant form of interpretation in literary studies and situates it as but one method among many a method with strong allure but also definite limits Felski argues that critique is a sensibility best captured by Paul Ricoeur's phrase the hermeneutics of suspicion She shows how this suspicion toward texts forecloses many potential readings while providing no guarantee of rigorous or radical thought Instead she suggests literary scholars should try what she calls postcritical reading rather than looking behind a text for hidden causes and motives literary scholars should place themselves in front of it and reflect on what it suggests and makes possible By bringing critique down to earth and exploring new modes of interpretation The Limits of Critique offers a fresh approach to the relationship between artistic works and the social world Perhaps the most ambitious reappraisal of the discipline to appear since theory's heyday Times Literary Supplement A book that will get all of us to take another look at what we've been doing The Limits of Critique will shock some and elate others No one will feel neutral and no one can afford not to read this book Wai Chee Dimock author of Weak Planet Literature and Assisted Survival

The Southern State of Mind Jan Nordby Gretlund, 1999 Remarkably removed from the devotional certifying and celebratory view of the South that has dominated books of this genre The Southern State of Mind addresses the question of whether inherited Southern values problems and contradictions have survived the onslaught of modernization BOOK JACKET French Philosophy Today

Christopher Watkin, 2016-05-03 No detailed description available for French Philosophy Today Chaos Bound N. Katherine Hayles, 2018-03-15 Hayles's point is that the almost simultaneous appearance of interest in complex systems across many disciplines physics mathematics biology information theory literature literary theory signals a profound paradigm and epistemological shift She calls the new paradigm orderly disorder This is a timely informative and enormously thought provoking book Nancy Craig Simmons American Literature N Katherine Hayles here investigates parallels between contemporary literature and critical theory and the science of chaos She finds in both scientific and literary discourse new interpretations of chaos which is seen no longer as disorder but as a locus of maximum information and complexity She examines structures and themes of disorder in The Education of Henry Adams Doris Lessing's Golden Notebook and works by Stanislaw Lem Hayles shows how the writings of poststructuralist theorists including Barthes Lyotard Derrida Serres and de Man incorporate central features of chaos theory

Authenticity Patrick Finney, 2020-04-28 The pursuit of authenticity is a contemporary obsession From hipster fixations on artisan coffee and vintage clothing through to the electoral success of supposedly unspun populist politicians like Donald Trump a yearning for the real pervades our culture Yet while highly prized and desired authenticity is also profoundly elusive and contested This volume stages a wide ranging interdisciplinary interrogation of the concept with case studies ranging from collective memory of the Second World War through the historical fiction of Sarah Waters to the confessional art of Tracey Emin With contributors drawn from memory studies cultural history English literature theatre studies and art criticism it explores how authenticity is in play in diverse practices of reading remembering and performing The chapters demonstrate that authenticity has no single stable definition but is rather invoked in very diverse ways both descriptively and prescriptively in many diverse contexts They also make clear that it is not an inherent quality but the product of orchestration performance and inter subjective negotiation This book was originally published as a special issue of Rethinking History

Signs of Dissent Dawn Fulton, 2008 Maryse Condé is a Guadeloupean writer and critic whose work has challenged the categories of race language gender and geography that inform contemporary literary and critical debates In Signs of Dissent the first full length study in English on Condé Dawn Fulton situates this award winning author's work in the context of current theories of cultural identity in order to foreground Condé's unique contributions to these discussions Staging a dialogue between Condé's novels and the field of postcolonial studies Fulton argues that Condé enacts a strategy of critical incorporations in her fiction imitating and transforming many of the prevailing narratives of postcolonial theory so as to explore their theoretical and conceptual limits By rejecting the facile classification of her work as Caribbean African or feminist Condé has gained a reputation as an iconoclast But Fulton proposes that behind this public image of provocation lies an incisive reflection on the burdens of representation imposed on the non Western writer and that Condé's novels expose the ways in which postcolonial criticism can be complicit in constructing such burdens even as it questions them Signs of Dissent offers one of the most comprehensive assessments of Condé's literary production to date illuminating its exceptional role in shaping a dialogue between francophone studies and the English dominated field of postcolonialism
