Building a Knowledge Base in Reading Jane Braunger, Jan Patricia Lewis, 1998 This paper is intended to provide a research baseline for teachers policymakers decision makers and other interested persons to consider in helping all children meet today's higher literacy standards At the national state and local level school reform efforts have raised expectations for what readers know and are able to do At the same time public awareness of the critical need for proficient reading has been heightened In this context it is important for concerned parties to develop shared understandings about the reading process relationships among skills strategies and meaning and instructional experiences and settings that foster solid reading achievement Research findings in all of these areas offer an excellent basis for dialogue and planning to bring all students to high levels of literacy The close connections among reading writing speaking and listening are well documented and current standards incorporate all aspects of literate behaviour

Making Liberalism New Ian Afflerbach, 2021-11-02 A revisionist history of American liberalism from the Great Depression to the Cold War Finalist of the MSA First Book Prize by The Modernist Studies Association In Making Liberalism New Ian Afflerbach traces the rise revision and fall of a modern liberalism in the United States establishing this intellectual culture as distinct from classical predecessors as well as the neoliberalism that came to power by century's end Drawing on a diverse archive that includes political philosophy legal texts studies of moral psychology government propaganda and presidential campaign materials Afflerbach also delves into works by Tess Slesinger Richard Wright James Agee John Dewey Lionel Trilling and Vladimir Nabokov Throughout the book he shows how a reciprocal pattern of influence between modernist literature and liberal intellectuals helped drive the remarkable writing and rewriting of this keyword in American political life From the 1930s into the 1960s Afflerbach writes modern American fiction exposed and interrogated central concerns in liberal culture such as corporate ownership reproductive rights color blind law the tragic limits of social documentary and the dangerous allure of a heroic style in political leaders In response liberal intellectuals borrowed key values from modernist culture irony tragedy style to reimagine the meaning and ambitions of American liberalism Drawing together political theory and literary history Making Liberalism New argues that the rise of American liberal culture helped direct the priorities of modern literature At the same time it explains how the ironies of narrative form offer an ideal medium for readers to examine conceptual problems in liberal thought These problems from the abortion debate to the scope of executive power remain an indelible feature of American politics

Teaching Language and Literacy James F. Christie, Carol Vukelich, Billie Enz, 2007 This text does an exemplary job of presenting current early literacy research and methods in a manner that can be understood and respected Also its emphasis upon workshop based instruction is very appealing to me as a long time advocate for this approach to literacy Scott A L Beck Georgia Southern University The third edition of Teaching Language and Literacy Preschool Through the Elementary Grades integrates a constructivist emergent literacy perspective with science based instructional practices This unique focus on theories and techniques that have proven to be successful helps pre service and in service teachers translate principles into classroom practice Perfect for any course with a focus on language the book covers the development and teaching of both oral and written language in preschool through elementary grades Its emphasis on diversity includes special features that describe how teachers can adjust instruction to meet the needs of second language and bilingual learners In addition the third edition focuses on scientifically based reading research SBRR throughout blending these findings with other perspectives in a value added approach to language and literacy teaching and learning New features include Emphasis on a blended approach to language and literacy instruction including both authentic learning linked to activities and developmentally appropriate teaching Activities such as Linking Knowledge to Practice help students connect theory to practices they observe in preschool and kindergarten classrooms In depth coverage of new federal and state literacy initiatives standardized literacy assessments and latest practices in ongoing literacy assessment

Literacy Development in the Early Years Lesley Mandel Morrow, 1997 A discussion of literacy development from birth to the primary school The book embraces an integrated language arts perspective and an interdisciplinary approach to literacy development as it addresses developing writing reading and oral language in the home and at school

The Hidden Victims Cormac Ó Gráda, 2024-09-03 The two world wars were undoubtedly two of the most catastrophic events in human history not just for those who actually fought in them but for untold millions of civilians And even though the wars superlativeness is unquestioned our understanding of exactly how bad the civilian costs were is limited Although the numbers are better for the two wars than for most earlier wars gaps and uncertainties remain States went to great lengths to record military casualties but civilian fatalities often went uncounted and figures were often deliberately obscured In this book renowned economic historian Cormac O Grada aims to set the record straight establishing a figure for civilian fatalities that reveals much about the nature of modern war The book builds on earlier estimates of casualties from a range of causes some reliable some approximate at best and warns against spurious precision when approximations are impossible For example while the human toll of the Jewish Holocaust is generally agreed to have been about 6 million the tolls of two other war genocides those of the Armenian community in Turkey during World War I and of the European Roma community during World War II cannot be determined with any precision Scholarly estimates of these range from 0.6 to 1.2 million and from at least 130 000 to between 250 000 and 500 000 During World War II Chinese civilians faced both a civil war and Japanese occupation and no estimate of the resulting civilian deaths which range from an implausibly low 2.5 million to 20 million is reliable The book shows that the single biggest cause of civilian deaths during the two wars were famines some of which are familiar and well documented while others have attracted research only recently and a few await systematic analysis The book covers these as well as genocides particularly the Jewish Holocaust and deaths from aerial bombing and shows how in each of these categories the numbers have been controversial and contested Most of the book deals with death but it contains accounts too of the tens of millions of displaced persons and refugees and forced labourers of civilian trauma and of sexual violence and other atrocities In the end O Grada argues that the two world wars cost at least 45 to 50 million civilian lives almost double the cost in military lives Addressing the uncertainties and inaccuracies in civilian casualties the book shows the failings of international law and gives a vital and harrowing understanding of the true cost of war
