Readings on Interaction in the Classroom Sara Delamont,1984-01-01 Interaction in the Classroom Sara Delamont,1983 Interaction in the Classroom Sara Delamont,2017-11-01 Published in 1983 this second edition builds on the success of the first edition which provided the first sociological account of classroom life In the seven years between editions great activity and interest in classroom studies ensued the author therefore revised and expanded her text to accommodate further material In this book the reader is taken into a variety of classrooms shown the methods and techniques of classroom observation and encouraged to get behind the deceptively familiar facade Attention is paid to the context of the classroom to teacher and pupil careers and to the curriculum At the heart of the book is an emphasis on understanding how the participants make sense of classroom life Studying Second Language Acquisition from a Qualitative Perspective Danuta Gabrys-Barker,Adam Wojtaszek,2014-09-18 This book presents a selection of empirical papers dealing with second and multiple language acquisition in which qualitative research methodology is employed Each of the studies reported in individual chapters is based on a solid theoretical background and an overview of studies in a given area Although the main focus is on qualitative methods some of the papers demonstrate the complementarity of quantitative and qualitative approaches in studying language acquisition Towards an Understanding of Language Learner Self-Concept Sarah Mercer,2011-01-04 This book contributes to our growing understanding of the nature and development of language learner self concept It assesses the relevant literature in the disciplines of psychology and applied linguistics and describes in depth qualitative research examining the self concepts of tertiary level EFL learners Although researchers in applied linguistics and SLA have recognized the importance of self constructs there remains little empirical work in the context of foreign language learning that focuses exclusively and at length on this central psychological construct The content of this monograph draws on interdisciplinary sources with input from psychology and applied linguistics It will appeal to students and researchers interested in language learner psychology as well as self related constructs in general The text provides insights into how learners view themselves and how these self beliefs can develop and affect the progress of an individual s language learning Handbook of Research on Teaching Literacy Through the Communicative and Visual Arts James Flood,Diane Lapp,Shirley Brice Heath,2004-09-22 In an era characterized by the rapid evolution of the concept of literacy the Handbook of Research on Teaching Literacy Through the Communicative and Visual Arts focuses on multiple ways in which learners gain access to knowledge and skills The handbook explores the possibilities of broadening current conceptualizations of literacy to include the full array of the communicative arts reading writing speaking listening viewing and to focus on the visual arts of drama dance film art video and computer technology The communicative and visual arts encompass everything from novels and theatrical performances to movies and video games In today s world new methods for transmitting information have been developed that include music graphics sound effects smells and animations While these methods have been used by television shows and multimedia products they often represent an unexplored resource in the field of education By broadening our uses of these media formats and genres a greater number of students will be motivated to see themselves as learners In 64 chapters organized in seven sections teachers and other leading authorities in the field of literacy provide direction for the future I Theoretical Bases for Communicative and Visual Arts Teaching Paul Messaris Section Editor II Methods of Inquiry in Communicative and Visual Arts Teaching Donna Alvermann Section Editor III Research on Language Learners in Families Communities and Classrooms Vicki Chou Section Editor IV Research on Language Teachers Conditions and Contexts Dorothy Strickland Section Editor V Expanding Instructional Environments Teaching Learning and Assessing the Communicative and Visual Arts Nancy Roser Section Editor VI Research Perspectives on the Curricular Extracurricular and Policy Perspectives James Squire Section Editor VII Voices from the Field Bernice Cullinan and Lee Galda Section Editors The International Reading Association has compiled in the Handbook of Research on Teaching Literacy Through the Communicative and Visual Arts an indispensable set of papers for educators that will enable them to conceptualize literacy in much broader contexts than ever before The information contained in this volume will be extremely useful in planning literacy programs for our students for today and tomorrow

British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells,1968 Schools Making A Difference Thrupp, Martin,1999-05-01

Does an effective school really come about through the actions of teachers and school leaders or does it also require an advantaged student intake This question reflects a longstanding research debate about whether or not the social class mix of a school's student intake has much effect on individual achievement. Schools Making a Difference: Let's Be Realistic presents new evidence which suggests that school mix is likely to be important because of the way many school processes are deeply influenced by student intake characteristics. Low socioeconomic schools face numerous intake-related constraints which make them highly resistant to improvement efforts. By suggesting that failing schools are often overwhelmed rather than ineffective, this book provides a sympathetic reappraisal of the performance of teachers and school leaders in such schools. It also offers a critical response to the often unrealistic claims of the school effectiveness and school improvement movement and a fresh critique of market reforms in education. Books in Print Supplement, 1984

Sociology of Education James Ainsworth, 2013-04-11 The sociology of education is a rich interdisciplinary field that studies schools as their own social world as well as their place within the larger society. The field draws contributions from education, sociology, human development, family studies, economics, politics, and public policy. Sociology of Education: An A to Z Guide introduces students to the social constructions of our educational systems and their many players, including students and their peers, teachers, parents, the broader community, politicians, and policy makers. The roles of schools, the social processes governing schooling, and impacts on society are all critically explored. Despite an abundance of textbooks and specialized monographs, there are few up-to-date reference works in this area. Features: Benefits: 335 signed entries fill 2 volumes in print and electronic formats, providing the most comprehensive reference resource available on this topic. Cross References and Suggestions for Further Reading guide readers to additional resources. A thematic Reader's Guide groups related articles by broad topic areas as one handy search feature on the e-Reference platform, which also includes a comprehensive index of search terms facilitating ease of use by both on-campus students and distance learners. A Chronology provides students with historical perspective on the sociology of education. British Book News, 1984
