Kirwen, 1987 In a series of conversations a Christian missionary and an African diviner challenge and compare one another s views on fundamental theological questions What is the meaning of God of family and community Of sickness and healing death and the afterlife good and evil These discussions tellingly reveal both the vitality of traditional African religions and Christianity s ethnocentrism when faced with basic issues of African life The Missionary and the Diviner demonstrates how and why a culturally informed approach to evangelization is essential to the indigenization of Christianity      Revelation and Divination in Ndembu Ritual Victor Turner, 2018-05-31 Drawing on two and a half years of field work Victor Turner offers two thorough ethnographic studies of Ndembu revelatory ritual and divinatory techniques with running commentaries on symbolism by a variety of Ndembu informants Although previously published these essays have not been readily available since their appearance more than a dozen years ago Striking a personal note in a new introductory chapter Professor Turner acknowledges his indebtedness to Ndembu ritualists for alerting him to the theoretical relevance of symbolic action in understanding human societies He believes that ritual symbols like botanical stains enable us to detect and trace the movement of social processes and relationships that often lie below the level of direct observation

Sacred Ritual Bryan C. Babcock, 2014-05-12 Israelite festival calendar texts Exod 23 34 Lev 23 Num 28 29 Deut 16 and Ezek 45 share many features however there are also differences Some of the most often cited differences are the following festival dates festival locations date of the New Year festival timing and festival names Scholars have explored these distinctions and many have concluded that different sources authors redactors wrote the various calendars at different times in Israelite history Scholars use these dissimilarities to argue that Lev 23 was written in the exilic or postexilic era Babcock offers a new translation and analysis of a second millennium B C multimonth ritual calendar text from Emar Emar 446 to challenge the late dating of Lev 23 Babcock argues that Lev 23 preserves an early 2nd millennium West Semitic ritual tradition Building on the recent work of Klingbeil and Sparks this book presents a new comparative methodology for exploring potential textual relationships Babcock investigates the attributes of sacred ritual through the lens of sacred time sacred space and movement sacred objects ritual participants and ritual sound The author begins with a study of ancient Near Eastern festival texts from the 3rd millennium through the 1st millennium This analysis focuses on festival cycles common festival attributes and the role of time and space in ritual Babcock then moves on to an intertextual study of biblical festival texts before completing a thorough investigation of both Lev 23 and Emar 446 The result is a compelling argument that Lev 23 preserves an early West Semitic festival tradition and does not date to the exilic era refuting the scholarly consensus This illuminating reading stands as a model for future research in the field of ritual and comparative textual studies
