beyond the American South Conroy's fellowship drew from all walks of life. His relationships were complicated and people and places he thought he'd left behind often circled back to him at crucial moments. The pantheon of contributors includes Rick Bragg, Kathleen Parker, Barbra Streisand, Janis Ian, Anthony Grooms, Mary Hood, Nikky Finney, Nathalie Dupree, and Cynthia Graubart. Ron Rash, Sandra Brown, and Mary Alice Monroe. Conroy, biographers Katherine Clark and Catherine Seltzer, his longtime friends Pat's students Sallie Ann Robinson and Valerie Sayers, members of the Conroy family, and many more. Each author in this collection shares a slightly different view of Conroy. Through their voices, a multifaceted portrait of him comes to life and sheds new light on who he was. Loosely following Conroy's own chronology, the essays herewith wind through his river of a story, stopping at important ports of call. Cities he called home and longed to visit, along with each book he birthed, become characters that are as equally important as the people he touched along the way.

Rapture River Robert Edward Smith, 2024-11-08

Rapture River Robert Edward Smith's first novel tracks the relationship of two lovers who are as unpredictable as Michigan's weather. Josh, a Catholic priest, and Joyce, a Native American, meet at St. Peter the Fisherman Catholic Church on the banks of the Black River, a premier brook trout stream for fly fishing. Each embraces their own spiritual heritage but struggles with an inner sensual demon. They must prove strong enough to bridge that spiritual gap and assuage his guilt and her anguish over their coupling. Their relationship is facilitated by Josh's 89-year-old fly fishing mentor Ted and his Labrador Retriever Molly. The Black River is the mainstream in their story, but the novel is not mainstream. The River and wilderness are presented as seen through the eyes of Joyce and Josh, whose emotional attachment to their environs pulls the reader into their quest. The author describes the wrenching action they encounter with captivating prose, as this example when they are in the middle of the river in their waders. For a long time, they were alone until startled by a swish and loud flapping. A hawk angled down directly above and dove with its wings held tight, piercing the water like an arrow and disappearing under the surface, then bursting up in a gush of spray with a large trout hooked in its talons. The trout thrashed about, fiercely slapping the river with its tail, splashing a shower of water. The hawk, twisting to shake off the droplets, let out a shrill scream and hovered momentarily just above water, pounding its drenched wings and rising, the trout clamped in its black claws. The novel slips into fantasy, fable, and the enchantment of nature. A murder, a gambling casino, a mission church of serpent handlers, and accidental oil spills steal into the story seamlessly. The author deftly manipulates these genres. He inserts the thoughts of his characters through italicized stream-of-consciousness paragraphs and introduces each by a black silhouette image of an animal which represents that character as a butterfly or a hawk, rendering the novel more reader-friendly. The novel fits into the little-publicized genre of slipstream, probably exemplified best by the writings of Jorge Luis Borges. But there is no slipstream section at our current bookstores. Even the main character, the River, is unpredictable, sometimes harsh yet comforting, even obedient. Through a Kangaroo Court, a medium of last resort, the author deftly convinces his readers that this is the only fair trial available for the guilty party. His readers will be intrigued and drawn into the story.
