Road To Creativity Arthur Morgan Engineer Educator Administrator:

A Road to Creativity Clarence James Leuba, 1971 Arthur Morgan Aaron D. Purcell, 2014-11-28 On May 19 1933 President Franklin D Roosevelt announced the appointment of Arthur Morgan 1879 1975 a water control engineer and college president from Ohio as the chairman of the newly created Tennessee Valley Authority TVA With the eyes of the nation focused on the reform and recovery promised by the New Deal Morgan remained in the national spotlight for much of the 1930s in this thoughtful biography Aaron D Purcell re assesses Morgan s long life and career and provides the first detailed account of his post TVA activities As Purcell demonstrates Morgan embraced an alternative types of Progressive Era reform that was rooted in nineteenth century socialism an overlooked strain in American political thought Purcell Pinpoints Morgan s reading of Edward Bellamy s Looking Backward while a teenager as a watershed moment in the development of his vision for building modern American society He recounts Morgan s early successes as an engineer budding Progressive leader and educational reformer his presidency of Antioch College and his revolutionary but contentious tenure at the TVA After his dismissal from the TVA Morgan eventually published over a dozen books including a biography of Bellamy while supporting community building efforts across the globe Morgan retained many of his late nineteenth century beliefs including eugenics as part of his societal vision His authoritarian administrative style and moral rigidity limited his ability of attract large numbers to his community based vision By presenting Morgan s life and career within the context of the larger social and cultural events of his day this revealing biographical study offers new insight into the achievements and motivations of an important but historically neglected American reformer Book jacket Engineering Your Future Stuart G. Walesh, 2012-02-15 Round out your technical engineering abilities with the business know how you need to succeed Technical competency the hard side of engineering and other technical professions is necessary but not sufficient for success in business Young engineers must also develop nontechnical or soft side competencies like communication marketing ethics business accounting and law and management in order to fully realize their potential in the workplace This updated edition of Engineering Your Future is the go to resource on the nontechnical aspects of professional practice for engineering students and young technical professionals alike The content is explicitly linked to current efforts in the reform of engineering education including ABET s Engineering Criteria 2000 ASCE s Body of Knowledge and those being undertaken by AAEE AICHE and ASME The book treats essential nontechnical topics you ll encounter in your career like self management interpersonal relationships teamwork project and total quality management design construction manufacturing engineering economics organizational structures business accounting and much more Features new to this revised edition include A stronger emphasis on management and leadership A focus on personal growth and developing relationships Expanded treatment of project management Coverage of how to develop a quality culture and ways to encourage creative and innovative thinking A discussion of how the results of design the root of engineering come to fruition in constructing and manufacturing the fruit of engineering New information on accounting principles that can be used in your career long financial planning An in depth treatment of how engineering students and young practitioners can and should anticipate participate in and ultimately effect change If you re a student or young practitioner starting your engineering career Engineering Your Future is essential reading

Grand Plans Judith Sealander, 2021-12-14 Scholars may have widely differing views of the Progressive Era but all see business as holding the key to the reforms of that period In this new book Judith Sealander amplifies our understanding of the relationship between business leaders and reform through a detailed examination of Dayton and the Miami Valley of Ohio She focuses specifically on four progressive projects that made this nine county region nationally known as a center for reform activism The four projects include an extensive program of employee benefits instituted at the National Cash Register Company the creation in the Miami Conservancy District of a massive flood prevention system the institution of a new businesslike city manager government in Dayton and a new experimental approach to education in the region s public and private schools Well grounded in the scholarly literature on progressivism and drawing from a rich trove of local manuscript sources Judith Sealander has provided an integrated analysis of the role of business leadership in these four reform areas that corrects the exaggerated treatment business has often received She shows how this one group of businessmen functioned as reformers the grand plans they had for changing society their merger of scientific engineering business management and moral fervor and the benefits and costs of their kind of progressivism Grand Plans contributes new insights into the Progressive Era and will interest scholars of that period as well as historians of American business urban affairs and reform
