The People And the Word

Robert Allen Warrior, Much literary scholarship has been devoted to the flowering of Native American fiction and poetry in the mid twentieth century Yet Robert Warrior argues nonfiction has been the primary form used by American Indians in developing a relationship with the written word one that reaches back much further in Native history and culture Focusing on autobiographical writings and critical essays as well as communally authored and political documents The People and the Word explores how the Native tradition of nonfiction has both encompassed and dissected Native experiences Warrior begins by tracing a history of American Indian writing from the eighteenth century to the late twentieth century then considers four particular moments Pequot intellectual William Apess's autobiographical writings from the 1820s and 1830s the Osage Constitution of 1881 narratives from American Indian student experiences including accounts of boarding school in the late 1880s and modern Kiowa writer N Scott Momaday's essay The Man Made of Words penned during the politically charged 1970s Warrior's discussion of Apess's work looks unflinchingly at his unconventional life and death he recognizes resistance to assimilation in the products of the student print shop at the Santee Normal Training School and in the Osage Constitution as well as in Momaday's writing Warrior sees reflections of their turbulent times as well as guidance for our own Taking a cue from Momaday's essay which gives voice to an imaginary female ancestor Ko Sahn Warrior applies both critical skills and literary imagination to the texts In doing so The People and the Word provides a rich foundation for Native intellectuals critical work deeply entwined with their unique experiences Robert Warrior is professor of English and Native American studies at the University of Oklahoma He is author of Tribal Secrets Recovering American Indian Intellectual Traditions Minnesota 1994 and coauthor with Paul Chaat Smith of Like a Hurricane The Indian Movement from Alcatraz to Wounded Knee Hartford's Ann Plato and the Native Borders of Identity Ron Welburn, 2015-04-21 Who was Ann Plato Apart from circumstantial evidence there's little information about the author of Essays Including Biographies and Miscellaneous Pieces in Prose and Poetry published in 1841 Plato lived in a milieu of colored Hartford Connecticut in the early nineteenth century Although long believed to have been African American herself she may also Ron Welburn argues have been American Indian like the father in her poem The Natives of America Combining literary criticism ethnohistory and social history Welburn uses Plato as an example of how Indians in the Long Island Sound region adapted and prevailed despite the contemporary rhetoric of Indian disappearance This study seeks to raise Plato's profile as an author as well as to highlight the dynamics of Indian resistance and isolation that have contributed to her enigmatic status as a literary figure Native America Daniel S. Murphree, 2012-03-09 Employing innovative research and unique interpretations these essays provide a fresh perspective on Native American history by focusing on how Indians lived and helped shape each of the United States Native America A State by State Historical Encyclopedia comprises 50 chapters offering interpretations of Native American history through the lens of the states in which Indians lived or helped shape This organizing structure and thematic focus allows readers access to information on specific Indians and the regions they lived in while also providing a collective overview of Native American relationships with the United States as a whole These three volumes synthesize scholarship on the Native American past to provide both an academic and indigenous perspective on the subject covering all states and the native peoples who lived in them or were instrumental to their development Each state is featured in its own chapter authored by a specialist on the region and its indigenous peoples Each essay has these main sections Chronology Historical Overview Notable Indians Cultural Contributions and Bibliography The chapters are interspersed with photographs and illustrations that add visual clarity to the written content put a human face on the individuals described and depict the peoples and environment with which they interacted

Mapping Region in Early American Writing Edward Watts, Keri Holt, John Funchion, 2015-11-15

Mapping Region in Early American Writing is a collection of essays that study how early American writers thought about the spaces around them The contributors reconsider the various roles regions imagined politically economically racially and figuratively played in the formation of American communities both real and imagined These texts vary widely some are canonical others archival some literary others scientific some polemical others simply documentary As a whole they recreate important mental mappings and cartographies and they reveal how diverse populations imagined themselves their communities and their nation as occupying the American landscape Focusing on place specific local writing published before 1860 Mapping Region in Early American Writing examines a period often overlooked in studies of regional literature in America More than simply offering a prehistory of regionalist writing these essays offer new ways of theorizing and studying regional spaces in the United States as it grew from a union of disparate colonies along the eastern seaboard into an industrialized nation on the verge of overseas empire building They also seek to amplify lost voices of diverse narratives from minority frontier and outsider groups alongside their more well known counterparts in a time when America's landscapes and communities were constant

Wielding Words like Weapons Ward Churchill, 2017-04-15

Wielding Words like Weapons is a collection of acclaimed American Indian Movement activist intellectual Ward Churchill's essays in indigenism selected from material written during the decade 1995-2005 It includes a range of formats from sharply framed book reviews and equally pointed polemics and op eds to more formal essays designed to reach both scholarly and popular audiences The selection also represents the broad range of topics addressed in Churchill's scholarship including the fallacies of archeological and anthropological orthodoxy such as the insistence of cannibologists that American Indians were traditionally man eaters Hollywood's cinematic degradations of native people questions of American Indian identity the historical and ongoing genocide of North America's native peoples and the systematic distortion of the political and legal history of U.S. Indian relations Less typical of Churchill's oeuvre are the essays commemorating Cherokee anthropologist Robert K. Thomas and Yankton Sioux legal scholar and theologian Vine Deloria Jr More unusual still is his profoundly personal effort to come to grips with the life and death of his late wife Leah Renae Kelly thereby illuminating in very human terms the grim and lasting effects of Canada's residential schools upon the country's indigenous peoples A foreword by Seneca historian Barbara Alice Mann describes the sustained efforts by police and intelligence agencies as well as university administrators and other academic adversaries to discredit or otherwise neutralize both the man and his work Also included are both the initial stream of consciousness version of Churchill's famous or notorious little Eichmann's opinion piece analyzing the causes of the attacks on 9 11 as well as the counterpart essay in which his argument was fully developed
