Robert Frank's The Americans, 2009      Robert Frank, 1985      Photography and Jewish History Amos Morris-Reich, 2022-11-15 It is a sign of the accepted evidentiary status of photographs that historians regularly append them to their accounts Amos Morris Reich observes Very often however these photographs are treated as mere illustrations simple documentations of the events that transpired Scholars of photography on the other hand tend to prioritize the photographs themselves relegating the historical contexts to the background For Morris Reich however photography exists within reality it partakes in and is very much a component of the history it records Morris Reich examines how photography affects categories of history and experience how it is influenced by them and the ways in which our understanding of the relationship between history and photography can be theorized and reoriented Morris Reich here turns to five twentieth century cases in which photography and Jewish history intersect Albert Kahn's utopian attempt to establish a photographic archive in Paris in order to advance world peace the spectacular failed project of Helmar Lerski the most prominent photographer in British Mandate Jewish Palestine photography in the long career of Eugen Fischer a Nazi professor of genetics the street photography of Robert Frank and the first attempt to introduce photography into the study of Russian Jewry prior to World War I as seen from the post Holocaust perspective of the early twenty first century Illustrated with nearly 100 images Photography and Jewish History moves beyond a focus on Jewish photographers or the photographic representation of Jews or Jewish visibility to plumb the deeper and more significant registers of twentieth century Jewish political history      Robert Frank Anne Tucker, Philip Brookman, 2005 Reprint of the catalogue of an exhibition organized by the Museum of Fine Arts Houston and held at various U S locations in 1986 1987      What Do Pictures Want? W. J. T. Mitchell, 2013-12-23 Why do we have such extraordinarily powerful responses toward the images and pictures we see in everyday life Why do we behave as if pictures were alive possessing the power to influence us to demand things from us to persuade us seduce us or even lead us astray According to W J T Mitchell we need to reckon with images not just as inert objects that convey meaning but as animated beings with desires needs appetites demands and drives of their own What Do Pictures Want explores this idea and highlights Mitchell s innovative and profoundly influential thinking on picture theory and the lives and loves of images Ranging across the visual arts literature and mass media Mitchell applies characteristically brilliant and wry analyses to Byzantine icons and cyberpunk films racial stereotypes and public monuments ancient idols and modern clones offensive images and found objects American photography and aboriginal painting Opening new vistas in iconology and the emergent field of visual culture he also considers the importance of Dolly the Sheep who as a clone fulfills the ancient dream of creating a living image and the destruction of the World Trade Center on 9 11 which among other things signifies a new and virulent form of iconoclasm What Do Pictures Want offers an immensely rich and suggestive account of the interplay between the visible and the readable A work by one of our leading theorists of visual representation it will be a touchstone for art historians literary critics anthropologists and philosophers alike A treasury of episodes generally overlooked by art history and visual studies that turn on images that walk by themselves and exert their own power over the living Norman Bryson Artforum
