Urakova,Tracey A. Sowerby,Tudor Sala,2022-09-09 This is the first volume that examines dangerous gift giving across centuries and disciplines Bringing to the fore the subject that features as an aside in gift studies it offers new insights into the ambivalent and troubled history of gift giving Dangerous violent and self destructive gift giving remains an alluring challenge for scholars almost a hundred years after Marcel Mauss s landmark work on the gift Globally the notion of toxic and fateful gifts has haunted mythologies folklores and literatures for millennia This book problematizes what stands behind the notion of the dangerous gift and demonstrates how this operational term may help us to better understand the role and place of gift giving from antiquity to the present through a series of case studies ranging from ancient Zoroastrianism to modern digital dating The book develops a complex historical cross cultural and multi disciplinary approach to gift giving that invites comparisons between various facets of this phenomenon through time and across societies The book will interest a wide range of scholars working in anthropology history literary criticism religious studies and contemporary digital culture It will primarily appeal to university educators and researchers of political culture pre modern religion social relations and the relationship between commerce and gifts The Arabian Frontier of the British Raj James Onley,2007-11-22 The

The Arabian Frontier of the British Raj is a study of one of the most forbidding frontier zones of Britain s Indian Empire The Gulf

Residency responsible for Britain's relationship with Eastern Arabia and Southern Persia was part of an extensive network of political residencies that surrounded and protected British India. Based on extensive archival research in both the Gulf and Britain, this book examines how Britain's Political Resident in the Gulf and his very small cadre of British officers maintained the Pax Britannica on the waters of the Gulf, protected British interests throughout the region, and managed political relations with the dozens of Arab rulers and governors on both shores of the Gulf. James Onley looks at the secret to the Gulf Residency's effectiveness, the extent to which the British worked within the indigenous political systems of the Gulf. He examines the way in which Arab rulers in need of protection collaborated with the Resident to maintain the Pax Britannica, while influential men from affluent Arab, Persian, and Indian merchant families served as the Resident's native agents, compradors in over half of the political posts within the Gulf Residency.

Rembrandt, Vermeer, and the Gift in Seventeenth-Century Dutch Art Michael Zell, 2025-10-01. Rembrandt, Vermeer, and the Gift in Seventeenth-Century Dutch Art offers a new perspective on the art of the Dutch Golden Age by exploring the interaction between the gift's symbolic economy of reciprocity and obligation and the artistic culture of early modern Holland. Gifts of art were pervasive in seventeenth-century Europe, and many Dutch artists like their counterparts elsewhere embraced gift giving to cultivate relations with patrons, art lovers, and other members of their social networks. Rembrandt also created distinctive works to function within a context of gift exchange, and both Rembrandt and Vermeer engaged the ethics of the gift to identify their creative labor as motivated by what contemporaries called a love of art, not materialistic gain. In the merchant republic's vibrant market for art, networks of gift relations and the anti-economic rhetoric of the gift mingled with the growing dimension of commerce, revealing a unique chapter in the interconnected history of gift giving and art making.

The Courts of the Deccan Sultanates Emma J. Flatt, 2019-07-18. Illuminates the centrality of courtliness in the political and cultural life of the Deccan in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries. Bankrolling Empire Sudev Sheth, 2023-11-30. By the 1660s, the mighty Mughal Empire controlled the Indian subcontinent and impressed the world with its strength and opulence. Yet hardly two decades would pass before fortunes would turn, Mughal kings and governors losing influence to rival warlords and foreign powers. How could leaders of one of the most dominant early modern polities lose their grip over empire? Sudev Sheth proposes a new point of departure, focusing on diverse local and hitherto unexplored evidence about a prominent financier family entrenched in bankrolling Mughal elites and their successors. Analyzing how four generations of the Jhaveri family of Gujarat financed politics, he offers a fresh take on the dissolution of the Mughal empire, the birth of princely successor states, and the nature of economic life in the days leading up to the colonial domination of India.
