Romanticism and Religion from William Cowper to Wallace Stevens Gavin Hopps, 2016-04-08. The relationship between literature and religion is one of the most groundbreaking and challenging areas of Romantic studies. Covering the entire field of Romanticism from its eighteenth-century origins in the writing of William Cowper and its prophetic stirrings in Paradise Lost to late twentieth-century manifestations in the work of Wallace Stevens, the essays in this timely volume explore subjects such as Romantic attitudes towards creativity and its relation to suffering and religious apprehension, the allure of the veiled and the figure of the monk in Gothic and Romantic writing, Miltonic light and inspiration in the work of Blake, Wordsworth, Shelley, and Keats, the relationship between Southey's and Coleridge's anti-Catholicism and definitions of religious faith in the Romantic period, the stammering of Romantic attempts to figure the ineffable, the emergence of a feminised Christianity and a gendered sublime, the development of Calvinism and its role in contemporary religious controversies. Its primary focus is the canonical Romantic poets with a particular emphasis on Byron whose work is most in need of critical re-evaluation given its engagement with the Christian and Islamic worlds and its critique of totalising religious and secular readings. The collection is an original and much-needed intervention in Romantic studies bringing together the contextual awareness of recent historicist scholarship with the newly awakened interest in matters of form and an appreciation of the challenges of postmodern theory.

Romanticism, Memory, and Mourning Mark Sandy, 2016-04-08. The subject of Romanticism, Memory and Mourning could not be timelier with Žižek's recent proclamation that we are living in the end times and in an era which is preoccupied with the process and consequences of ageing. We mourn both for our pasts and futures as we now recognise that history is a continuation and record of loss. Mark Sandy explores the treatment of grief, loss, and death across a variety of Romantic poetic forms including the ballad, sonnet, epic, elegy, fragment, romance, and ode in the works of poets as diverse as Smith, Hemans, Blake, Wordsworth, Coleridge, Byron, Shelley, Keats, and Clare. Romantic meditations on grief, however varied in form and content, are self-consciously aware of the complexity and strength of feelings surrounding the consolation or disconsolation that their structures of poetic memory afford those who survive the imaginary and actual dead. Romantic mourning, Sandy shows, finds expression in disparate poetic forms and how it manifests itself both as the spirit of its age, rooted in precise historical conditions, and as a prophetic power of lasting transhistorical significance. Romantic meditations on grief and loss speak to our contemporary anxieties about the inevitable but unthinkable event of death itself.
