Mary Austin and the American West Susan Goodman, Carl Dawson, 2009-01-07 Mary Austin 1868 1934 eccentric independent and unstoppable was twenty years old when her mother moved the family west Austin's first look at her new home glimpsed from California's Tejon Pass reset the course of her life changed her horizons and marked the beginning of her understanding not only about who she was but where she needed to be At a time when Frederick Jackson Turner had announced the closing of the frontier Mary Austin became the voice of the American West In 1903 she published her first book The Land of Little Rain a wholly original look at the West's desert and its ethnically diverse peoples Defined in a sense by the places she lived Austin also defined the places themselves whether Bishop in the Sierra Nevada Carmel with its itinerant community of western writers or Santa Fe where she lived the last ten years of her life By the time of her death in 1934 Austin had published over thirty books and counted as friends the leading literary and artistic lights of her day In this rich new biography Susan Goodman and Carl Dawson explore Austin's life and achievement with unprecedented resonance depth and understanding By focusing on one extraordinary woman's life Mary Austin and the American West tells the larger story of the emerging importance of California and the Southwest to the American consciousness

Women and Nature Glenda Riley, 1999-01-01 Long before Rachel Carson's fight against pesticides placed female environmental activists in the national spotlight women were involved in American environmentalism In Women and Nature Saving the Wild West Glenda Riley calls for a reappraisal of the roots of the American conservation movement This thoroughly researched study of women conservationists provides a needed corrective to the male dominated historiography of environmental studies The early conservation movement gained much from women's widespread involvement Florence Merriam Bailey classified the birds of New Mexico and encouraged appreciation of nature and concern for environmental problems Ornithologist Margaret Morse Nice published widely on Oklahoma birds In 1902 Mary Knight Britton established the Wild Flower Preservation Society of America Women also stimulated economic endeavors related to environmental concerns including nature writing and photography health spas and resorts and outdoor clothing and equipment From botanists birders and nature writers to club women and travelers untold numbers of women have contributed to the groundswell of support for environmentalism
