Make No Small Plans A Cooperative Revival For Rural America By

Michael Seilmaier

Make No Small Plans A Cooperative Revival For Rural America By:

Make No Small Plans Lee Egerstrom, 1994 Make No Small Plans is intended as a fresh call for cooperative action in rural America at the start of the new century. Failure to act will have catastrophic consequences for residents of rural towns and farmsteads. The world economy has changed dramatically. Governments have lost both the legal authority to intervene in farm markets and arbitrarily raise farm incomes by raising prices and the budgetary means to do so. International trade agreements ban the former political support and government budget priorities limit the latter. Modern agriculture with its new sciences and new technologies no longer needs many people to produce food and fiber crops. A declining farm population in turn reduces the need for rural retail services and for rural communities to serve as senior citizens centers. By accepting these premises one must search for alternative actions. Rural communities townspeople workers farmers foresters and tourism and hospitality people together must explore starting a new generation of cooperatives and new cooperative ventures.

Preface Evaluating New-generation Cooperatives as an Organizational Structure for Methyl Ester-biodiesel Production Donald L. Van Dyne, Melvin G. Blase, 1999-04. Includes background and philosophy of New Generation Coops. NGCs vs conventional coops. Initiation and implementation of NGCs producing methyl ester biodiesel from soybean oil under conventional and new generation coop ownership and operation. Conventional soybean marketing and processing traditional system and NGC system. An illustrative case of a new generation coop owning and operating a community based soybean processing transesterification plant. Biodiesel production potential in Central Missouri on a per acre basis and the economics of an illustrative application of retained ownership on a per bushel basis.

Rural America Caroline S. Kelsohn, 2002. Thomas Jefferson once envisioned the United States as a nation of yeomen farmers. Looking around today however illustrates that nothing could be further from the truth. In a globalised world and techno centred society urban sprawl is overtaking rural America. For over a century farming was the backbone of the American economy and though it is still critical to American productivity many rural areas are plagued by poverty and job reduction. Agricultural issues have a hold over national politics as in the debates over farm subsidies but they cannot change several significant trends in America today: the movement toward fewer and larger farms, environmental pressures from urban and suburban interests and changing food consumption patterns. In order to assist the remaining yeomen farmers a comprehensive and integrated agricultural policy must be initiated to sustain the nation's farming communities. This book analyses the status of the farm industry in rural America providing a historical context for agriculture and assessing its future for the nation and the information provided in this book is necessary to understanding the nature of what has historically been a key component of American industry and life.

Farmer Cooperatives, 1995 The Surprising Design of Market Economies Alex Marshall, 2012-09-01. The free market has been a hot topic of debate for decades. Proponents tout it as a cure all for just about everything that ails modern society while opponents blame it for the very same ills. But the heated rhetoric obscures one very important indeed fundamental fact markets don't just run themselves we create them Starting from this surprisingly simple yet often ignored or misunderstood fact Alex Marshall takes us on a fascinating tour of the fundamentals that shape markets and through them our daily economic lives He debunks the myth of the free market showing how markets could not exist without governments to create the structures through which we assert ownership of property real and intellectual and conduct business of all kinds Marshall also takes a wide ranging look at many other structures that make markets possible including physical infrastructure ranging from roads and railroads to water systems and power lines mental and cultural structures such as common languages and bodies of knowledge and the international structures that allow goods services cash bytes and bits to flow freely around the globe Sure to stimulate a lively public conversation about the design of markets this broadly accessible overview of how a market economy is constructed will help us create markets that are fairer more prosperous more creative and more beautiful

Cooperatives and Local Development Christopher D. Merrett, Norman Walzer, 2016-09-16 First Published in 2004 The market economy has changed profoundly over the past two centuries In the nineteenth century business enterprises were largely single product ventures managed directly by the owners and rooted within national economies In the twentieth century firms employed managers who were not owners Firms also evolved into multiproduct multiunit entities that could employ thousands of workers In the twenty first century many firms operate on a global scale taking advantage of free trade policies and rapidly evolving computer and telecommunications technologies Given this potential it is crucial that producers consumers economic developers and researchers realize how co ops can promote local economic and community development Hence this book includes the perceptions of experts on a variety of cooperative issues including the challenges involved in starting a co op and in understanding its impact on surrounding communities This book can be especially useful because it provides the theoretical foundations and practical applications of cooperative behavior

Inside Charter Schools

Bruce Fuller, 2009-06-30 Deepening disaffection with conventional public schools has inspired flight to private schools home schooling and new alternatives such as charter schools Barely a decade old the charter school movement has attracted a colorful band of supporters from presidential candidates to ethnic activists to the religious Right At present there are about 1 700 charter schools with total enrollment estimated to reach one million early in the century Yet until now little has been known about the inner workings of these small inventive schools that rely on public money but are largely independent of local school boards Inside Charter Schools takes readers into six strikingly different schools from an evangelical home schooling charter in California to a back to basics charter in a black neighborhood in Lansing Michigan With a keen eye for human aspirations and dilemmas the authors provide incisive analysis of the challenges and problems facing this young movement Do charter schools really spur innovation or do they simply exacerbate tribal forms of American pluralism Inside Charter Schools provides shrewd and illuminating studies of the struggles and achievements of these new schools and offers practical lessons for educators scholars policymakers and parents

A Cooperative Approach to Local Economic Development Christophe Merrett, Norman Walzer, 2001 Historically the relationship between towns and surrounding farm families has ranged from suspicion to benign neglect This book shows that rural America can be revived by uniting the interests of both farm and non farm populations through value added enterprises especially those based on the principles of New Generation Cooperatives NGCs Instead of sending agricultural commodities out of the region to be processed farmers and communities can collaborate to process the commodities locally thereby adding value to the local rural economy In this edited volume nationally recognized scholars discuss the on going challenges to the agricultural sector such as declining farm subsidies and commodity prices and the strategies used by rural communities to respond to economic decline Specific attention is paid to the role of NGCs as a specific form of value added agriculture which has helped some rural communities to prosper The NGCs however extend well beyond traditional agriculture to include grocery stores day care centers and other businesses that have not always been profitable in small towns The broader objective of the book is to show how increased collaboration among farm producers small businesses and community leaders can promote economic development in rural regions
