Smith,Kristine Moruzi,Clare Bradford,2018-04-13 Through a comparison of Canadian Australian and New Zealand texts published between 1840 and 1940 From Colonial to Modern develops a new history of colonial girlhoods revealing how girlhood in each of these emerging nations reflects a unique political social and cultural context Print culture was central to the definition and redefinition of colonial girlhood during this period of rapid change Models of girlhood are shared between settler colonies and contain many similar attitudes towards family the natural world education employment modernity and race yet as the authors argue these texts also reveal different attitudes that emerged out of distinct colonial experiences Unlike the imperial model representing the British ideal the transnational girl is an adaptation of British imperial femininity and holds for example a unique perception of Indigenous culture and imperialism Drawing on fiction girls magazines and school magazine the authors shine a light on neglected corners of the literary histories of these three nations and strengthen our knowledge of femininity in white settler colonies Finding a Way to the Heart Robin Brownlie, Valerie J. Korinek, 2012 When Sylvia Van Kirk published her groundbreaking book Many Tender Ties in 1980 she revolutionized the historical understanding of the North American fur trade and introduced entirely new areas of inquiry in women's social and Aboriginal history Using Van Kirk's themes and methodologies as a jumping off point Finding a Way to the Heart examines race gender identity and colonization from the early nineteenth to the late twentieth century and illustrates Van Kirk's extensive influence on a generation of feminist scholarship Publisher's website History of the Book in Canada: Beginnings to 1840 History of the Book in Canada Project, 2004-01-01 Impressive in its scope and depth of scholarship this first volume of the History of the Book in Canada is a landmark in the chronicle of writing publishing bookselling and reading in Canada Canadian Books in Print. Author and Title Index, 1975 Home Words Mavis Reimer, 2009-08-01 The essays in Home Words explore the complexity of the idea of home through various theoretical lenses and groupings of texts One focus of this collection is the relation between the discourses of nation which often represent the nation as home and the discourses of home in children's literature which variously picture home as a dwelling family town or region psychological comfort and a place to start from and return to These essays consider the myriad ways in which discourses of home underwrite both children's and national literatures Home Words reconfigures the field of Canadian children's literature as it is usually represented by setting the study of English and French language texts side by side and by paying sustained attention to the diversity of work by Canadian writers for children including both Aboriginal peoples and racialized Canadians It builds on the literary histories bibliographical essays and biographical criticism that have dominated the scholarship to date and sets out to determine and establish new directions for the study of Canadian children's literature Home and Native Land May Chazan, Lisa Helps, Anna Stanley, Sonali Thakkar, 2011-07 Home and Native Land takes its vastly important topic and places it under a new penetrating light shifting focus from the present grounds of debate onto a more critical terrain The book's articles by some of the foremost critical thinkers and activists on issues of difference diversity and Canadian policy challenge sedimented thinking on the subject of multiculturalism Not merely another book on race relations national identity or the post 9/11 security environment this collection forges new and innovative connections by examining how multiculturalism relates to issues of migration security labour environment nature and land These novel pairings illustrate the continued power limitations and at times destructiveness of multiculturalism both as policy and as discourse Publisher's note Home Ground and Foreign Territory Janice Fiamengo, 2014-04-03 Home Ground and Foreign Territory is an original collection of essays on early Canadian literature in English Aiming to be both provocative and scholarly it encompasses a variety of sometimes opposing perspectives subjects and methods with the aim of reassessing the field unearthing neglected texts and proposing new approaches to canonical authors Renowned experts in early Canadian literary studies including D M R Bentley

Its multi disciplinary approach innovates literary studies and appeals to literature specialists and general readership alike. An Environmental History of Canada Laurel Sefton MacDowell, 2012-07-31 Throughout history most people have associated northern North America with wilderness with abundant fish and game snow capped mountains and endless forest and prairie. Canada's contemporary picture gallery however contains more disturbing images deforested mountains empty fisheries and melting ice caps. Adopting both a chronological and thematic approach Laurel MacDowell examines human interactions with the land and the origins of our current environmental crisis from first peoples to the Kyoto Protocol. This richly illustrated exploration of the past from an environmental perspective will change the way Canadians and others around the world think about and look at Canada. The Pilgrim Fathers ...
